Musical Instruments.

THE SYDNEY MORNING HERALD of December 12th, 1888, says:—
"Mr. C. E. Crampton, of York-street, has a special feature in the Holstein Piano, to which is attached the 'Sordino' stop. For these instruments Mr. Crampton is the sole agent in Sydney. The stop completely regulates the instrument, and will enable the player to enjoy the full harmonies of whatever piece may be under execution, while the tone is so subdued as to be inaudible to those who may be occupying an adjoining room. This invention, it will at once be seen, is a guarantee against the torture of the eternal 'exercises,' of which complaint is so often made by the nervous and the musically unsympathetic. The instrument can, in fact, be made completely noiseless, while full action of the keyboard remains for practice. Mr. Crampton has on view a number of very fine instruments."

NEW SOUTH WALES,
to wit.

Proclamation by his Excellency The Right Honourable CHARLES ROBERT, BARON CARRINGTON, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

(L.S.) CARRINGTON, Governor.

Whereas by an Act of Parliament of New South Wales, passed in the thirty-fifth year of Her present Majesty's reign, intituled the "Navigation Act of 1871," it was among other things enacted that the master of any steamship or harbour and river steamer, whilst navigating such steamship or steamer in any harbour, port, or channel within the jurisdiction which, by proclamation of the Governor, published in the Gazette, shall be deemed to be a harbour, port, or channel, where such steamships and steamers shall proceed at a reduced speed to be defined in such proclamation, shall proceed at such reduced speed under a penalty not exceeding Fifty Pounds: Now, therefore, I, CHARLES ROBERT, BARON CARRINGTON, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council, and in pursuance of the power and authority invested in me by the Act aforesaid, do declare that Port Jackson shall, on and after the first day of July next, be a port in which any steamship or steamer shall proceed at a reduced speed; and that such reduced speed shall be at a rate not exceeding six knots an hour, and be observed in Sydney Cove, that is, southward of a straight line passing between the Black and Red Buoys moored at the entrance to the said Cove, and also in that portion of Darling Harbour southward of a straight line passing between the north-eastern extreme of Pyrmont and the southern extremity of the Grafton Wharf, Sydney.

Given under my Hand and Seal, at Government House, Sydney, this twenty-first day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine and in the fifty-third year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,
W. M'MILLAN.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

The Treasury, New South Wales.
20th June, 1889.

THE following Regulation, made by the Marine Board of New South Wales, is published for general information.
W. M'MILLAN.

NEW SOUTH WALES, SYDNEY,
to wit.

Under and by virtue of the powers conferred upon us by the "Navigation Acts, 1871-1881," we, the Marine Board of New South Wales, hereby make the following Regulation, that is to say:—

We hereby order and direct that, on and after the 1st day of September next, every harbour and river steamer, whether constructed of wood or other material, before being entitled to a renewal or issue of her passenger certificate from the Marine Board, shall be divided by transverse water-tight bulk-heads, so that the fore part of such harbour and river steamer shall be separated from the engine-room by a bulk-head, and so that the after part of such harbour and river steamer shall be separated from the engine-room by another bulk-head; and the said harbour and river steamer shall be otherwise of such sufficiency and good condition in her hull and fittings as, in the opinion of the shipwright surveyor, or other inspector to the Marine Board, would prevent the vessel from suddenly sinking after ordinary collision or other casualty; the said fittings and benches and other portable articles used in the equipment of the said harbour and river steamer to be constructed, so far as is practicable, of such material as will float.

A plentiful supply of life-buoys or belts is also to be distributed about the decks of the said harbour and river steamer.

Any person convicted of removing any of the abovementioned life buoys or other equipment out of a harbour and river steamer, which has entitled the said steamer to obtain a passenger certificate from the Marine Board, will be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds.

The Common Seal of the Marine Board of New South Wales was hereto affixed, this sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, and FRIDAY,

ANOTHER DECIDED SUCCESS.
RECEIVED AGAIN LAST NIGHT
with the
UTMOST INTEREST and ENTHUSIASM.
The Sydney Morning Herald says:—
"Mr. Rignold, in My Partner, is full of picturesqueness and power, and conveys a deep impression on the audience by his singularly vivid playing. The actor made the success, not the scenery. Mr. Rignold enchained the interest of those in front from first to last."
The Daily Telegraph says:—
"As Joe Saunders, the brave tenderhearted self-sacrificing hero of the story, Mr. Rignold was at his best, and acted with great power and pathos. The part suited him exactly, and throughout he was telling and effective, never seeking to create a sensation or over-stepping the bounds of nature."
The Evening News says:—
"Of course Mr. Rignold stuck to his old inimitable role, Joe Saunders, which was admirably delineated by him all through. It is one of his best impersonations, and is exactly suited to his easy mellow, yet manly, style of acting, and the audience rose to it like a man."
The Australian Star says:—
"To those who have not seen the play an honest recommendation can be given that they cannot do better than visit Her Majesty's, in the comfortable assurance that the acting all round will fully reward them for the venture."
The Weekly News says:—
"Mr. Rignold commanded breathless silence at times, and was heartily cheered when called before the curtain. 'My Partner' is a fine play."
The Sunday Times says:—
"It is a powerful representation by an accomplished actor of the highest and best emotions of the human heart, and no man or woman will witness the play without being the better for it."

WARM ALL-WOOL FLANNELS for WINTER WEAR.

Our assortment is wholesale in character inclusive in variety, most economical in price. Every line has been bought direct from the rooms; every parcel specially chosen for some special excellence. Our stock is large enough to supply the whole of Australia, and it would be a mark of wisdom were all Australia to buy from us. Three-fourths of the population we can boast of as being, at one time or another, customers of our house, the residue we patiently wait for, and what one waits for one is sure to get. But to return to which we most confidently recommend to the notice of all whom it may concern. Family people will do well to study the following short list, which, if it does not include all we have, will give some idea of leading lines in every-day use. The very beautiful

FRENCH TWILL FLANNELS

are deserving of more than usual notice, as exhibiting a peculiar beauty of manufacture, and as being a charming material suitable for all kinds of purpose. In

PARISIAN GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, MAY 17.

Curiously enough, petroleum is not the only substance which—supposed until recently to be findable only in small portions of the crust of the globe—is now cropping up in so many places as to suggest the probability of its being present in most places. Gold, which is attracting so much attention to the Australian section of the Exhibition, and which is now being found in Wales, has also begun to show itself in France. The owner of an estate in the Commune of Gravieres, when walking through his fields a short time ago, happened to strike his foot against a stone, which gave out, as it seemed to him, a strange metallic sound. Stooping down to examine it, he was struck by its singular colour, and, having taken it up, perceived it to be very heavy. Having cleared it of the earth adhering to it he saw what appeared to be specks of gold and carried it to a jeweller, who assured him that it was a piece of gold-quartz, and bought it of him, paying him £60 for it. The news of the find, as will be readily believed, went through the country on the instant, creating the wild excitement usually attendant on such a discovery. What the result will be, and whether the explorations now being made by the owner of the land will lead to the finding of any extent of "goldfields" in France remains to be seen.

The lively satisfaction caused by the presence of "two Lord Mayors of London" at the centenary celebration has been enhanced by the message of "sympathetic congratulations" addressed to the Exhibition Commissioners by the National Liberal Club of London, assuring them of their warm interest in "the centenary of the sovereignty and liberty of the French people." This message, in English, wound up with the words, "Vive la Republique Francaise!" written in French.

Among others of the many tokens of sympathetic approval of the important event thus being celebrated that have reached the French people in various ways, may be mentioned the action of the Jewish Confraternity in this country, expressed through their Grand Rabbi, Zadock Kahn, who has held a special service in commemoration of the event. In his very eloquent address to his co-believers, the Grand Rabbi—highly respected for his learning and nobility of character and life—remarked: "For 100 years we have had the joy of being French citizens . . . . We owe our rights to the Revolution . . . . From the first day when that great event guaranteed to us our character of Frenchmen we have made it a point of honour to do our duty to our country—to love it and to serve it . . . . We may safely affirm that the evil passions unchained under the name of anti-Semitism would not have appeared had not the prestige of France been temporarily obscured by the defeat of her arms. . . . Some French writers have, it is true, been seduced from their fidelity to the great principles of freedom and of equal rights which triumphed through the great event we are all celebrating; but these principles are unchangeable, and France will not follow those who would gainsay them, but will remain true to her noble conquests of a hundred years ago."

The worthy chief of the Hebrew community of France will doubtless be proved, by the course of things, to have been a true prophet; but, at this present time, there is a general unreasoning sympathy with the declaimers of the anti-Semitic school, and a vague idea that the latter are not far out in demanding that the wealth in the hands of the Jews shall be seized by the "Christians" (!) and the Jews themselves, thus eased of the load of millions, be driven back to Palestine (!).

The arrival, three days ago, of Colonel Cody, more widely known as "Buffalo Bill," with his wonderful show of "The Wild West," in the persons of his "cowboys," North American Indians, horses, mustangs, buffaloes, &c., has created a very lively sensation here. The Colonel had himself presented to the President on arriving, and invited him to inspect the scene prepared for his performances; and the President not only did so, and expressed himself as so much interested by all he saw, so full of admiration, but accepted the Colonel's invitation to honour with his presence the grand opening spectacle which is to enchain Paris to the triumphant exhibition of "The Wild West" next Sunday. "Buffalo Bill's" Parisian establishment being more than double the extent of his place in London, the show is expected to surpass its achievements on the banks of the Thames.

The fact, now fully established, that the man Perrin, who discharged his revolver against the carriage of M. Carnot, had charged his weapon with powder only, reduces his offence from a political crime to the lower category of misdeeds within the jurisdiction of the police court. Having applied to the leading Boulangist lawyer, M. Laguerre, to take his case in hand, that lawyer replied that the shooting of an uncharged gun against a closed carriage was a ridiculous act not susceptible of being defended from a legal point of view, and that he consequently refused to plead for him; a reply which the public quickly interpreted as meaning that, had his gun been loaded and had he shot the President, M. Laguerre would have been ready to take up his cause.

The cross-questioning to which this gentleman has just been subjected by the committee of inquiry, at the Luxembourg, has established the fact that, when questioned by the editor of a leading journal of Rouen, as to "What he thought would happen if, supposing the coming elections to give a majority of Boulangists in the new Chamber, the President and the Senate resisted its action?" M. Laguerre at once replied, "I should not be opposed to an act of violence on the part of the elected representatives of universal suffrage, against the representatives of restricted suffrage." It is, despite short-sighted enthusiasm and the whimsical favouritism of aristocratic entertainers across the Channel, unfortunately too sure that the success of Boulanger would imply so certain a danger of civil war in France that the new Cæsar could only maintain his elevation by plunging the country in a foreign war that would unite all Frenchmen against a common enemy; but as such a war would speedily invade all Europe and other parts of the globe, it is impossible to approve a mode of action that may lead to such terrible results.

The streets of Paris are already so densely crowded with all kinds of vehicles, going at all possible paces, and crossing or interlocking one another in every direction, that bones are broken and lives lost every day. To cross a street on foot is proved, every hour, to be a taking of one's life in one's hand; and the hospitals are incessantly summoned to receive the victims too seriously injured to be taken to their homes, and who often die just as they are received. Carriage accidents, also, are frightfully numerous; and this source of danger is on the increase, as new lines of omnibuses and tramways, of vehicles of various kinds, are constantly being set up. The certainty that crushings, with their terrible results to limbs and to life, would be inevitable during the proposed Centenary Exhibition unless the underground railway were made before this event came on, was, in fact, one of the main motives which at last decided the giving of the affirmative vote which should have been immediately followed by the practical execution of the line. But, as is too often the case, the vote remained a dead letter, and the plan which, if executed in time, would have rendered it possible to visit Paris without risking one's life, as at present.

While these melancholy accidents are occurring daily, the election of a mayor and two councillors by the suburban commune of St. Ouen has shown the odd way in which Parisian communities sometimes dispose of their votes. This obscure point of the "Department of the Seine" (i.e. of Paris and its outlying suburbs) having addressed to the Prefect of the Seine a request concerning the management of its butchers, which that functionary had the imprudence to ignore, the Commune avenged this neglect by voting en masse for Boulanger as mayor and for two leading Boulangists as councillors. Boulanger and his two friends have had to decline these nominations, as all three are on awkward terms with the Government; but the "Brave General" has sent a stirring letter of thanks, compliments, and exhortations to "active patriotism when the moment arrives" that has doubtless won for him the hearts (if not the heads) of the voters of St. Ouen.

Paris, on the other hand, having to elect a senator in the place of one recently deceased, has elected by a large majority a M. Poirrier, so little known to the vast majority of the population that the election created a general movement of astonishment and curiosity. To the question, "Who is Poirrier?" sent up, as by common consent by the rest of the town to the arrondissement which had brought about his election to the exalted post of senator, the biography of the new member of the Upper Chamber affords a fully satisfactory reply. M. Poirrier is one of the most learned and successful practical chemists of France. It is he who, through a long course of investigations and experiments, has obtained the gamut of aniline-colours from coal tar, which, though at first only applicable to the dyeing of silk, has since, through Poirrier's labours, been made applicable to wool and cotton. Having made a large fortune through this successful result of his scientific labours, he has founded an immense factory for the production of these splendid dyes, which are now employed, in Paris alone, on a scale implying an outlay of nearly half-a-million sterling per annum. The new senator is greatly respected by all who know him and his work, as an honest, intelligent, and active friend of progress in all its forms.

The syndicates of the bakers, butchers, and wine-sellers of this capital have just offered to M. Yves Guyot, the new Minister of Public Works, a handsome banquet, ostensibly in token of their appreciation of his efforts to procure the abandonment of the octroi-system, but really it may safely be surmised as an encouragement to the new Minister to persevere in his anti-octroi campaign from the coin of vintage afforded him by his entrance into the Cabinet.

The Prime Minister and his wife have given a splendid entertainment to the Diplomatic Corps and a number of French officials, including the leading administrators of the Exhibition. The reception that followed the dinner was so crowded that the guests could hardly pass through the long, magnificently arranged and ornamented suite of reception-rooms, filled with exotics, that lead to the balconies and garden of the Ministerial dwelling. The effect of the surroundings was remarked by those who had been present at the similar entertainment given in the same building, by Princess Metternich, at the Exhibition of 1867, to be very similar to that of the epoch which seems, now, to belong to some world anterior to the one we are living in.

The first of the suite of grand official entertainments to be given at the Elysée in honour of the Centenary, the Exhibition, and its promoters and visitors, took place last evening. It is hardly necessary to add that it was a superb affair, declared by acclamation "the most splendid reception ever given by a republic." The ball was very animated, and only ended when the sun was high. Eight thousand guests were present, and thanks to the recent enlargement of the State reception-rooms the crowd was at its ease, amidst tapestries, exotics, flowers, &c. Mme. Carnot's toilette was, as usual, worthy of the place of honour she esteems so highly—a robe of pearl-grey satin, embroidered with silver, trimmed with feathers of the same colour, and epaulettes of diamonds; her hair, braided and hanging down behind, with a fanciful but charming arrangement of rosebuds and silver grass.

THE AMENDING LAND BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—This measure is professedly one of relief, but except so far as it may be a relief to men sick with anxiety to know the worst, it absolutely fails so far as the Eastern lessees are concerned. The leases are not to be renewed, and the unemployed difficulty is to be further intensified; for if the lessees could not employ labour on insecure tenure, it is not likely they can find money to do so to improve the public land—on no tenure at all. The valuable portions of the land—as you put it in the thoughtfully-considered leader in the Herald this morning—are to be scrambled for, and it may be taken for granted that speculators, and not settlers, will get the lion's share of the spoil. As true settlement advances the bona-fide men will not be able to get upon the soil, and the unjust sacrifice of a class of the community will recoil upon the memory of the men who caused it. Mr. Brunker has spoken most bitterly against a few unfortunates who, owing to bad seasons and high appraisements, have been compelled to throw up their occupation licenses, or, at least, have not paid rent for them; but this only leaves still more land open in addition to the already huge area at his disposal, and is no reason why he should crucify those who are paying rent. As well might a schoolmaster flog the whole school because one boy was prevented from learning his lessons. As well might the Minister be blamed because one of his colleagues formerly advocated justice to all and now supports the opposite view. "Save us from our friends" well may the lessees and the people cry. It may be true that our representatives think they are benefiting the State by their action, but that does not help the matter. So did the elephant who, having trodden on their mother, with tears of commiseration in her eyes, sat on the young brood of partridges herself. She meant well, but did not quite estimate the result. An ex-Minister recently, in justification of his action in giving wholesale notices to quit to the Eastern tenants, asserted—and in so doing apparently had the support of the present Minister for Lands—that even had he not done so, application was necessary under the law for a renewal of lease. That this statement is incorrect appears from sub-section 4 of section 78 of the Act, which is given below. It was also stated in a general way that the present tenants had been in possession for 60 years—the notorious fact being that the majority are new men who have within comparatively recent years bought out the previous tenants. Surely a cause must be bad which needs pleading thus. The main argument of the Minister in charge of the bill seems to be, that though out of twenty-two millions of acres of land already alienated in the Eastern division only about one million of acres is under cultivation, and although there are according to his figures, 675,000 acres of agricultural land and about eleven millions and some other odd millions of acres of other land (areas as large as some European States) available for settlement without interfering with these leases, still it is absolutely requisite to throw open more millions of acres. In this country we talk of millions of acres in the most airy fashion. Surely if it has taken all these years to get about a million acres under cultivation, the odd 675,000 acres will take a few years to deal with, and the other 11,000,000 or so should suffice for the wants of all from our small community who are likely to become bona-fide settlers for the next five years. It has been also urged that no extension should be granted to the present tenants because some of the land held under lease is worth from £3 to £15 an acre. Throw it open for settlement, some members say, and the Minister agrees with them; but we know there will not be time—unless the leases are renewed or the land is reserved from sale—to get it surveyed and classified for sale in special areas, and unless this be done, these valuable spots will pass from the State to the land-jobber at 20s. per acre, payable in about 21 years, and the rest of the land will be deteriorated in value.

Is this the way the trustees of the State should act to the people? Even if bona-fide settlers should by any miracle come out here (for they cannot in the nature of things be in the colony now) in the large numbers necessary to absorb this land, and the land grabbers could be prevented from interfering, it would not be fair to allow a small section to gain such advantage at the State expense. The time for coddling settlement has gone by, and everything is to be gained by surveying the land, so that the bona-fide men may settle in special areas in communities where the expense of government, police protection, schools, post and telegraph offices, rail and road communications, and all other matters, down to common dividing fences, would be reduced to a minimum. Then the land must rise in value. Now, the system of scattering the settlers thinly over an enormous area of country simply renders useless ten times the area occupied, and creates trouble and expense without gain to the men themselves. Is there any way out of the muddle in which we are being smothered short of the sale outright and subsequent taxation of the land? I am, &c.,

WILLIAM COPE.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE ANNUAL COMMEMORATION.

ADDRESS BY CARDINAL MORAN.

The annual commemoration of St. John's College took place yesterday afternoon. Cardinal Moran, the visitor of the college, presided, having on his right the Very Rev. Dr. O'Brien, rector. The members of the council of St. John's present were:—Mr. Henry Austin, Mr W. Edmunds, LL.B., M.L.A., Mr. George Loughnan, B.L., Mr. F. B. Freehill, M.A., Mr J. L. Mullins, M.A., Mr. G. T. Walton, M.A., the Very Rev Dean M'Carthy, the Very Rev. P. Le Rennetel, S.M. Among the assemblage were the Hon. D. O'Connor (Postmaster-General), the Rev. Principal Kinross (St. Andrew's College), Professor Anderson-Stuart (Sydney University), Very Rev. Dr. O'Haran, Very Rev. D. Clancy, S. J. (St. Aloysius College), Very Rev. Monsignor Verdon (President St. Patrick's Seminary, Manly), Very Rev. Dr. Carroll (Vicar-General), Very Rev. P. Slattery, O.S.F., Very Rev. T. Keating, S.J. (President St. Ignatius' College, Riverview), Dean Mahoney, Revs. W. Kelly, S.J., Collins, Fitzpatrick, Riordon, Barry, Conway, Merg. Prendergast, Tierney, Regan, J. J. Byrne, P. Byrne, Dr. Collins, Messrs. E. F. Flanagan, P. Sheridan, T. Butler, F. J. M'Carthy, John Hughes, John Williamson, P. R. Larkin, J. G. O. Ryan, T. Curran, J. J. Spruson, and W. F. Macdermott. A number of the students occupied seats in front of the Cardinal.

The Very Rev. Dr. O'Brien (rector) made the customary statement, in the course of which he said it was a little over 12 months since he had the honour of addressing them on the occasion of their annual commemoration. He was not then in a position to speak in detail of the working of the College during the year which had just elapsed, but he then stated that he entered upon his duties with great hope, being firmly convinced that within a short time the number of students would be greatly increased, and that new scholarships or bursaries wou'd be founded. He was now happy to say that he was in a position to state that in both respects his most sanguine expectations had been fulfilled. He then proceeded to show that an increase had taken place in the number of resident students and in the number of scholarships which they were able to offer for competition. In conclusion (on behalf of the Council of St. John's) he offered hearty thanks to the Cardinal and the ladies and gentlemen who had honoured them by being present at the commemoration. (Applause.)

Mr. J. L. Mullins read the treasurer's statement.

Mr. Henry Austin offered a few remarks upon the financial statement, stating that St. John's College was now presided over by a priest, scholar, and gentleman, of whom any community might be proud. (Applause.) Under him all young Catholics might hope to attain with success all the higher aims of life. He would like to urge upon the Cardinal, if it were possible, the propriety of establishing a "St. John's College sustentation fund," amounting to £10,000. His cheque for £100 would be forthcoming when the other 99 were paid in. (Hear, hear.) He considered the present position of affairs was a disgrace to the Catholic laity of New South Wales.

The Cardinal then delivered an address. He said: It is with sincerest pleasure that I take part in the collegiate commencements this afternoon, for I rejoice to have this opportunity to congratulate the rector and fellows, as well as the students, of St. John's on the success which has attended the college during the past months. When the venerated rector entered upon his duties here little more than a year ago we gave him a hearty welcome. In this short interval a great deal has been achieved. This grand collegiate institution has by his energy been quickened into new life, and its students entering with ardour on their respective studies have in a spirit of earnestness and discipline corresponded to his unwearying devotedness in their behalf, and have already given proof of their resolve to emulate in everything that is noblest and best those who, studying within these college walls, have already won name and fame for their Alma Mater. Ladies and Gentlemen,—In the old and decaying centres of civilisation there are to be found scientific men who, in the delirium of their passions or their pride, would bring back paganism with its corruptions and its gloom into our universities and higher schools. Even some of those who are flattered with the title of leaders of modern thought proclaim to the world that the Catholic Church is at enmity with science and hostile to intellectual pursuits, and they misuse their talents and knowledge to fan the flame of prejudice, and to widen the breach between what is called rational progress and religion. I do not purpose now to discuss these vain theories, or to point out the manifold inconsistencies which they involve. True science and revelation cannot fail to co-exist in perfect harmony. Two rays of light which proceed from the same source cannot intercept each other's splendour. When scientists speak of revelation as being in contradiction with astronomy or geology, they forget that it is the same Creator who dictated revealed truth, and who has written his own glory in the firmament, and that this earth of ours, with its teeming wealth, its varied fruitfulness, the brightness of its landscape, its rich fruits, its fragrant flowers, is but the mirror of His power and wisdom. But it is not on this line of argument that I would wish to dwell. I will invite you rather to interrogate history, to consider the action of the Church in the past, and to ask has religion hitherto barred the paths of scientific progress, has the Church proved herself the enemy of science and hostile to intellectual pursuits? Let us for a moment accompany the Apostle St. Paul whilst, bearing his divine commissions to the nations, he enters the Areopagus in Athens. This is the great centre of Grecian enlightenment, the home of the traditional wisdom and science and polite literature of the Greeks, the University, if I may so call it, in which were grouped the most learned of the philosophers and scientists of the schools of those days. Does the Apostle raise his voice against the sciences which were cultivated there? Does he summon the philosophers to renounce their reason, to quit the paths of knowledge, to forego their higher studies and learned pursuits? Nothing of all this. But he sets heaven's seal upon their studies. He announces to them sublime truths, for which they had hitherto searched in vain. He brings to them a divine light to guide and ennoble their freedom of thought, to elevate each faculty of the mind, and to crown with purest radiance every intellectual pursuit in which they were engaged. During the three centuries that the paganism of imperial Rome raged in fiercest warfare against the Church, were the rights of reason trampled on in the Christian communion, or were the privileges and elevated pursuits of science flung aside? No; but too often during those ages the philosopher's pallium was besprinkled with the martyr's blood The Christian apologists—St. Justin, Tatian, Athenagoras—and a host of others, men whose minds were enriched with all the culture of the age, did not hesitate to cite the traducers of the Faith before the tribunal of reason. There they combated them with their own weapons, unmasked their fallacies, and transfixed their columnies with arguments from their own philosophy and the traditions of their schools. The Christian school of Alexandria presents the names of Pantaenas, Clement, and Origen. Did these men wage war against rational truth? On the contrary, whilst they set forth divine truth in all its splendour as the highest and most perfect that can enlighten the soul, they devoted their energies to cultivate their reason and develop its every faculty that thus, as Origen so well expressed it, earth as well as heaven might show forth the glory of the Most High. Pantaenas, the founder of the Alexandrian school, was styled by his contemporaries the "Sicilian Bee," for he was never weary in searching amid the pursuits of science for the honey of truth. Clement of Alexandria, born in paganism, travelled throughout Greece, Egypt, and the East, exploring the various schools, in his thirst for knowledge. In the Christian teaching of Pantaenas he at length found the wisdom that satiated his soul. The treasures of knowledge which he had gathered and his rare intellectual gifts were thenceforward offered at the shrine of truth, and the world was soon filled with the fame of this great Christian philosopher. Origen succeeded him, and handed on the torch of science. Throughout his writings the school is presented to us as the vestibule of the Church. Philosophy is not rebuked, but is purified and strengthened by revelation, and in return it enters the lists in defence of the Church, justifies her tenets, overwhelms the persecutors with confusion, and unmasks the emptiness of heresy, which it repels from every approach to the domain of truth. What shall I say of Augustine and Chrysostom, of Ambrose and Basil, and the whole host of doctors and fathers of the Church who in the fourth and following centuries were the pillars of truth and adorned alike religion and science no less by their learning and eloquence than by their sanctity? When the Western Empire was overthrown and the spectre of barbarism spread its dark shadow over Europe, nothing stood erect except the Church, which was at the same time the sanctuary of literature and science and the guardian of divine truth. In the missionary age, countless apostolic men went forth bearing the torch of the Faith to the untutored sons of the German forests; but science was not forgotten. St. Virgilius in Salzburg, Alcuin in the very Court of Charlemagne, Clement at Paxia, Columbanus at Bobbio, Boniface at Fulda, laid deep and solid the foundations of schools and other institutions, which were destined to be for centuries the great centres of European enlightenment. It was when the Saracens in Spain, under the lead of Averroës, would mislead the minds of men by falsifying the writings of Aristotle, that the scholastic philosophy stood forth in all its strength, and setting the teaching of Aristotle in its true light, and arming itself with that trophy which had come down from ancient Greece, renewed the marvels of Samson's victories, and discomfited the myriad assailants of the Church. In those ages were the fine arts rejected or neglected beneath the shadow of the Church. It may be said that Christian art had its beginnings in the Catacombs. Even there Christian piety and poetry began to find expression in painting and sculpture, and the symbolic representations of the teaching and the miracles of the Redeemer began to cluster around the altar of God. When religion emerged from her hidden sanctuaries into the light of day, her handmaid, Art, accompanied her, and proclaimed her triumph in many a glorious monument. Thenceforth the Church was to be the nursery of artists, the patron of art. Architecture, painting, sculpture, flourished under her patronage. The workers in metals and stained glass, the wood-carver, the enameller, the mosaicist, were encouraged, music was cultivated, embroidery and tapestry attained their perfection. Gothic architecture, with its glorious arches, its spires, pinnacles, and massive towers, gave expression to the exalted religious feeling of the middle ages. It has been well said that "the Cathedral was a translation into stone of the spirit of the age." The most poetic testimonial that the hand of man ever raised to the glory of the Creator is the mediæval Cathedral. Even Comte has confessed that "the ideas and feelings of man's moral nature have never found so perfect expression in form as they found in the noble Cathedrals of Catholicism." The art of illuminating was cultivated with particular care and with unrivalled grace in the mediæval cloisters. It was not new, for specimens of it are preserved even among the papyri of ancient Egypt. But under the shelter of religion, and in the peace and silence of the cloister, it attained a perfection far beyond anything that Greece or Egypt had aspired to, and we can recognise in it the first rays of that celestial beauty which was reflected on the canvas of Fra Angelico. This leads my thoughts to Italy, that favoured land, which, in the words of a German writer of our day, "has always been in politics, civilisation, and wisdom the centre of attraction for Europe." If it be true that religion is opposed to progress and human enlightenment, and that the Church is at deadly enmity with science, it is here that in a special manner we would expect to find the mind enslaved, and a bar rudely set against the development of scientific pursuits. Italy for more than a thousand years has been the home of piety, the seat of religious empire, the centre of spiritual authority, and throughout her principalities from the Alps to the Mediterranean religion has held undisputed sway. Amid those triumphs of religion was science proscribed, were art and literature exiled from that privileged land? Quite the reverse, for among all the European nations Italy is perhaps the one where during the Middle Ages the greatest progress was made, and where every path of enlightenment was most perseveringly and most successfully pursued, and nowhere shall we find such munificent patrons of art and science, of philosophy and literature, as were the Sovereign Pontiffs. During the first centuries of persecution the palace of the Pope was the Catacombs, and the love of the Christian flock his throne. To be the successor of St. Peter was to be heir to the martyr's crown. But when those ages had passed away, and the tide of barbarism came to render desolate the fair plains of Italy, the Popes were found to be the fathers and protectors of the Italian people. Then that temporal sovereignty had its origin, which, springing as it did, from the gratitude and affection of devoted subjects, and confirmed as it was by the sanction and acclaim of all Christendom, was at the same time the most just and legitimate, as it was the most enlightened and beneficent, of European sovereignties. For more than 500 years Rome may be said to have been a school of science, an Academy of Art. In painting and architecture need I name Giotto, Fra Angelico, Palladio, Mantegna, Bramante, Michelangelo, Sassoferrato, Leonardo da Vinci, Domenichino, and Raffaelle, the marvellous works of whose genius are to the present day the admiration of the world. And yet almost without exception, those great masters as well when perfecting themselves in their respective studies as when achieving their immortal masterpieces, were indebted to the munificence of the Pontiffs. I do not know that a nobler tribute of affection and admiration was ever paid to artistic genius than was witnessed in Rome at the death of Raffaelle. That prince of painters was cut off in the zenith of his fame, and when, amid the triumphs of his unrivalled genius, he was laid out in death, the Sovereign Pontiff proceeded in state to offer a prayer at his bedside and reverently kissed the hand that had just achieved the painting of the Transfiguration. The architectural works of that age also remain and speak for themselves—the cathedrals of Florence, Siena, Pisa, Venice, and Milan. St. Peter's in Rome should suffice for all; for

> "Power, glory, strength and beauty, all are aisled
> In this eternal ark of worship undefiled."

In literature the name of Dante, the Christian poet of the 13th century, stands alone. He fashioned the Italian language in all its sweetness and led the way in what is called modern enlightenment, and so many were the orators and novelists and poets who followed in his train that in the language of those days Italy appeared to have become the Parnassus of a new age, which the Muses driven from Greece had chosen for their home and cherished abode. It was by the aid of benefices conferred by the Sovereign Pontiffs that Petrarca was enabled to devote himself to his favourite pursuits of polite literature. When all Europe resounded with his praise he received about the same time two invitations, one from Paris, the other from Rome, to proceed to their respective Courts that he might receive the laurel crown, the much-coveted prize of literature in those days. He does not hesitate as to which invitation he shall accept. He chooses Rome, and hastening to the banks of the Tiber, he, on the Capitol, at the hands of the Sovereign Pontiff, received the laureate wreath. We find at times the literary patronage and protection of the Pontiffs extended to men of literary merit, but whose writings were hostile to religion. Machiavelli was not partial to the Church or to the authority of the Pontiffs. Nevertheless, when for his pernicious principles he was condemned by some of the secular States of Italy, he was rescued by the Pope from imprisonment and exile, and the better to ensure his leisure for literary pursuits an honorary place was assigned to him among the household of Leo the Tenth. Pomponazio was regarded as a freethinker, and his writings were publicly consigned to the flames by order of the Venetian Republic. The Pope, however, asserted his liberty, and preserved to him his chair of literature at Bologna and his pension. It was so, also, Pico della Mirandola, Boccaccio, and many others who, though gifted with brilliant genius, had strayed into devious paths. The writers of our day often descant on the demerits of those men. It is seldom they tell us that, thanks to the protection extended to them by the Sovereign Pontiffs, there was scarcely one of them but withdrew from the devious courses into which they had been betrayed, and that, under the benign influence of religion, they ended their days in honour and peace. In the revival of philosophical studies St. Anselm, born in the lovely valley of Aosta, leads the way. Then we have Peter Lombard, St. Thomas of Aquin, St. Bonaventure, Albertus Magnus, and a whole galaxy of glorious names. Cousin has written that the grandest literary monuments of the triumph of the human mind that have come down to us from the middle ages are the "Summa Theologica" and the "Contra Gentiles" of St. Thomas of Aquin. In the matter of scientific discoveries Italy took the lead. Mariners are indebted for the compass to Flavio Gioia. The names of Torricelli, Galvani, and Volta are indelibly inscribed on other triumphs of modern science. Marco Polo and his Venetian associates were the explorers of the East. It was the Genoese Columbus that led the way in the discovery of the great continents beyond the Atlantic, and second only to him in the ranks of geographical explorers were Americo Vespucci and Magellan. During those ages no people showed themselves such ardent lovers of liberty as the Italians. There were Republics at Venice, Pisa, Genoa, and Florence, and it was under the banner of religion that they asserted their freedom. When the giant power of the Germanic Empire put forth its strength to crush these Republics, who was it that banded them together, and, marshalling their united strength, led them on to victory? It was the Sovereign Pontiff, Pope Alexander the Third. The victory of Legnano under the Pontifical standard was the Marathon of the Lombard League, and in gratitude the victors founded a city and fortress, to which they decreed the name of Alessandria to hand down to posterity the record of the triumph which they owed to the Father of the Italian people. Nicolò Tomasèo, whom none will accuse of partiality to religious influence, commends the efforts of the great Pontiff Gregory the Seventh to sustain these Republics: "They who condemn Pope Hildebrand (he thus writes) as extravagant in arrogance, forget the character of the men with whom he had to deal. They forget that were it not for him, Italy would, eight centuries ago, have become a German province. They forget that it is to his indomitable firmness Italy owes the existence of those Republics that did so much to promote civilisation throughout Europe." I have not spoken of the study of history, and yet, viewing things in a purely philosophical light, we may adopt what Schelling writes, that "among holy things there is nothing holier than history, for it is an everlasting poem of the Divine Wisdom." The present illustrious Pontiff Leo XIII. proclaimed not long ago in one of his beautiful encyclicals that "History is the guide of life, and the light of truth," and he laid down the golden rule which should never be lost sight of in historical pursuits: "The first law of history, he says, is, to dread uttering falsehood; and the second is, not to fear stating the truth." In Italy the study of history has been at all times eagerly pursued under the guidance of religion." Now, what conclusion will I ask you to draw from these remarks? It is this, that religion is not the enemy of intellectual progress, but only of that false progress which would betray our steps into ruin and lead us back to godless barbarism. So far is the Church from being opposed to science, that she has in every age rejoiced in the enlightment of her children, and she has hailed each scientific discovery as a new record of God's glory, a new trophy to adorn the altars of the Most High. She has fostered and encouraged research in the various departments of knowledge; but, precisely because she is the friend of true enlightenment she has never failed to tear the mask from the pretentious pride that would deceitfully assume the name of science. The fate of all the boasted schools of false science has been sketched in a few words by Jules Simon when he said of the anti-christian philosophers of France, "We were believers; we have become sceptics; to-morrow we shall be Nihilists." The errors and false theories which the Church has from time to time condemned have melted away in the bright rays of reason and revelation, but in regard to the truths which she has sanctioned the divine words have been fulfilled, "Veritas Domini manet in aeternum." And now, dear students of St. John's, one word of exhortation to you and I have done. It shall be at all times, I trust, your ambition and your resolve to reflect lustre on your alma mater; you will cherish a spirit of discipline, and love your rules. Faithful to the divine religion which you profess, you will be found among the foremost in every honourable pursuit of science, intellectual progress, and enlightenment. Be guided in your paths of life by the dictates of honour, justice, and truth. Prove yourselves devoted sons of Australia. Yield to no one in your love for your fair motherland, and let your lot be always cast among the fearless champions of her rights and freedom. (Prolonged applause.)

A number of students who were successful at the matriculation examination—Messrs. Connellan, P. M'Carthy, E. Swanson, M'Nevin, and Healy—were then presented to the Cardinal. The proceedings terminated shortly afterwards.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

KILLED BY A CART.

The City Coroner, Mr. J. C. Woore, J.P., held an inquest at the Balmain Cottage Hospital yesterday morning upon the body of a woman named Ellen Lincoln, who died at that institution on the previous day from the effects of injuries received by being run over by a van on Saturday night. The deceased was 46 years old, residing at No. 56, Balmain-road. On Saturday evening a man named Charles Garde was driving a horse and spring-cart along the Balmain-road, Leichhardt, Frederick King, the owner of the vehicle, being with him. About 8 o'clock he saw a woman standing on the road and called out to her. The horse shied and passed close to the woman. They went back and found her lying in the gutter. She was taken charge of by the police, and conveyed in the cart to the Cottage Hospital, where she died on the following morning. Dr. Bott deposed that death was due to concussion of the brain. A verdict of accidental death was returned. Charles Garde, the driver of the cart, was reprimanded for the manner in which he gave his evidence.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—Monday, June 24.

No. 1 Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice Foster.)

WANT V. MOSS AND WIFE.

Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. O'Connor, instructed by Mr. J. M'Laughlin, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Field, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Hamilton, for the defendants. This was an action brought by John Henry Want against S. A. Moss and Victoria Moss, his wife, to recover compensation for obstruction by the female defendant to plaintiff's use of the Theatre Royal "O. P. Box," which plaintiff had secured under lease from the late Samuel Lazar. On a former occasion an action of a precisely similar nature was tried, the alleged obstruction being by the defendants after Miss Lazar's marriage with the male defendant, and that action was settled by a nominal verdict being given by consent for the plaintiff, subject to the opinion of the Full Court as to the right of the plaintiff to the use of the box in question. The Full Court decided that the plaintiff under the lease from the late Samuel Lazar had an absolute right to the exclusive use of the box, and plaintiff now proceeded with his action against the defendants for obstruction by Mrs. Moss before her marriage. Damages were laid at £500.

The facts of the case have already been reported at considerable length during the trial of the first action, and the appeal to the Full Court which followed, but they may be briefly recapitulated as follows:—At the end of 1881, the late Samuel Lazar had the lease of the Theatre Royal for a number of years, and the plaintiff had on several occasions assisted him when he was in monetary difficulties. In settlement of the claim which the plaintiff had against him Lazar gave him a lease of the "O.P." box at the theatre during the remainder of his (Lazar's) lease, and an agreement was drawn up in writing between the parties, which was afterwards lost or mislaid. Lazar's sub-tenants subsequently recognised plaintiff's right to the box, and had seen the lease in plaintiff's office. Some time afterwards Lazar died, and Miss Victoria Lazar, his sister (now Mrs Moss), took his interest in the lease, and the difficulty with regard to plaintiff's occupation of the box then commenced. In 1885, after plaintiff's return from a visit to England, Miss Lazar took possession of the box and prevented plaintiff from using it, and wishing to avoid any unpleasantness over the matter plaintiff came to an arrangement with Miss Lazar under which she was to have the right to use the box for three nights, and plaintiff was to have it for the rest of the week. Subsequently, however, according to the plaintiff's case, Miss Lazar repudiated the arrangement, and the plaintiff being deprived of his right to use the box at all was compelled to bring his action against the defendants, Miss Lazar having in the meantime married S. A. Moss. When the action had been partly heard the parties came to an agreement by which a verdict was returned for the plaintiff with nominal damages, with leave reserved to the defendants to move the Full Court to have the verdict entered for them, and the present action was postponed pending the appeal. The defendants on the argument contended that plaintiff could not obtain the lease of the box for the remainder of Lazar's lease except by deed, but the Full Court held that the lease was perfectly good and need not be by deed. Counsel for the plaintiff now contended that the decision of the Full Court was binding on both cases, and that it was understood by the parties that it should be so. He therefore asked for leave to add a fresh count to his declaration setting out the judgment of the Full Court upon the point in dispute.

Mr. Field said that the other side had had ample time to add a count in the way proposed between the time of the judgment of the Full Court and the commencement of the action; but it appeared not to have occurred to his learned friend until he opened his case and he (Mr. Field) had stated that there was no plea of estoppel. He submitted that it was far too late to make the addition now.

His Honor said he would consider the matter, and plaintiff was then called, and gave evidence of the circumstances under which he obtained the lease of the box in question. He also said that after he obtained the lease he put a lock upon the door and furnished the box and carpeted it. He also obtained a duplicate key for Mr. Lazar, so that when he (plaintiff) did not use the box Mr. Lazar could get in. About the time that Mrs. Moss commenced to obstruct him in the use of the box he valued the right to use it at £300 a year, and he was offered £150 a year for the box for three nights a week before he went away to England. If he had thought fit he could have let the box for £3 3s. a night while the Gaiety Company were playing at the Theatre Royal, but he declined to let it to anybody.

The evidence for the plaintiff was not concluded when the Court adjourned.

No. 2 Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice Stephen and a jury of four.)

OATLEY ESTATE COMPANY, LIMITED, V. M'RAE (PART HEARD).

Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Jaques, and Stephen, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Rogers, Q.C., and Dr. Sly, instructed by Mr. A. J. Pope, for the defendant. This was an action brought by the Oatley Estate Company, Limited, against Myles M'Rae to recover damages for a breach by the defendant of a building covenant in regard to the purchase of certain land at Oatley, on the Illawarra railway line. Defendant paid into court the sum of £5 as sufficient compensation to plaintiffs.

The evidence, as well as the addresses of counsel and his Honor's summing up, were concluded on Friday last, and since then the jury had visited the locus in quo.

To-day they returned a verdict in favour of the plaintiffs, with damages, £745, in addition to the £5 paid into court.

HARRIS V. BOWMAN (PART HEARD).

Dr. Sly, instructed by Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, sen., appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Ralston, instructed by Mr. W. T. A. Shorter, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Percy B. Harris against Ellen Bowman to recover the sum of £325, with interest, the amount being made up of the two following sums:—March 12, 1887, for cash deposited at plaintiff's request with the Master in Equity in the suit Ellen Bowman v. Elder and others as security for defendants' costs on plaintiff's appeal to the Full Court, £75; 14th March, 1888, the same on plaintiff's appeal to the Privy Council in the same case, £250. Defendant pleaded never indebted. It appeared from plaintiff's case that the £75 remained in court for two years and the £250 for 12 months; and as subsequently to the commencement of the present action a settlement of the equity suit was effected between defendant and Robert Hudson, the present plaintiff was enabled to get back his money on the 16th March last. The real contest in the case, therefore, was whether the plaintiff was entitled to £32 3s. 10d. interest during the time of the advance, and money advanced to pay certain costs, &c., which brought the total up to £58 9s. 5d.

The evidence was closed, and after hearing counsel and his Honor's summing up, the jury returned a verdict in favour of the defendant.

MEYER V. COWPER.

Mr. O'Connor and Mr. J. L. Campbell, instructed by Messrs. Street and Patterson, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. Pring, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Oscar Meyer against Charles Cowper, sheriff, to recover damages for that the defendant by his servant broke into and entered a dwelling-house of the plaintiff's, called Cariville, situated at Balmain, and made a noise and a disturbance for a long time, and removed and consumed certain of the plaintiff's goods therein, and broke and injured certain other goods of the plaintiff's, and forcibly expelled the plaintiff and the family from the use and possession of the dwelling-house, whereby the plaintiff was deprived of the use and enjoyment of the dwelling-house, and had to provide other shelter for his family. Plaintiff also sued for assault. The damages set out in the declaration were £10,000.

Mr. Campbell, in opening the case for the plaintiff, said that at the time of the occurrences, in respect of which the action was brought, the plaintiff was engaged in some official position in connection with the New South Wales Commission to the Melbourne Exhibition, and as his duties compelled him to be absent from Sydney at that time he left the house in charge of a friend. Some time before plaintiff went to Melbourne he had been sued for the price of a quantity of wine supplied to him, and conceiving that he had a good defence to the action on the ground that a great portion of the wine was bad, he defended, but judgment was signed against him, and execution issued. Under defendant's authority a man named Hughes entered into possession of the plaintiff's premises and misconducted himself in a most scandalous and brutal manner. He found a quantity of beer in the plaintiff's house, and got drunk, and whilst in that state behaved in an indecent manner.

Mr. Pilcher, upon the opening of counsel for the plaintiff, moved for a nonsuit. His learned friend said that the bailiff behaved in a "scandalous and brutal manner," and got drunk. Surely the sheriff was not responsible for that? In the first place the sheriff did not know Hughes at all, and even supposing that he was a bailiff, was the sheriff responsible because the man drank plaintiff's beer?—that was, assuming the statement to be true. According to his instructions there was no truth in the statement.

His Honor: Assuming that it is true, is the only remedy against the bailiff? In 99 cases out of 100 the bailiff is a person of no means.

Mr. Pilcher: On the other hand it would throw a great responsibility upon the sheriff, of which it would be impossible to see the extent.

His Honor: Does not the sheriff appoint these bailiffs?

Mr. Pilcher: In England the sheriff appoints his own bailiffs, but out here he has absolutely nothing to do with their appointment.

His Honor: Of course you cannot hold the sheriff responsible if the bailiff uses bad language, or gets drunk; but the point is, broadly, whether, if a bailiff abuses his rights, the sheriff is responsible.

Mr. Pilcher: Not if he abuses them in the way the plaintiff states. There are certain cases in which, I think, the sheriff would be responsible.

His Honor: If you wish me to rule broadly that the sheriff is not responsible for the abuse of his rights by a bailiff, I decline to do so.

Mr. Pilcher asked his Honor to take a note that he moved for a nonsuit on the opening for the plaintiff.

His Honor: I see plaintiff in his declaration says that the bail ff forcibly expelled him and his family, and kept them expelled.

Mr. Campbell: We shall prove that fully.

The evidence for the plaintiff was then proceeded with, and an officer in the sheriff's department named O'Brien proved the due execution of the writ, and stated that a bailiff named Hughes was placed in possession; he also said that he had known Hughes for a long time as a respectable sober man; possession was taken on the 4th January, and when he saw Hughes on that day and the following Monday he was perfectly sober, and showed no signs of having been drinking between the two days mentioned: Napoleon Berardi, who had been left in charge of the house in plaintiff's absence, said that when he went to the house on Saturday, the 5th January, between 1 and 2 o'clock he found both front and back doors locked, and Mrs. Meyer was standing in the yard; witness gained an entrance through the washhouse, and he then found Hughes lying on the balcony floor drunk; witness had some difficulty in rousing him, and Hughes shook his fist in his face, threatened to kick him out, and abused him; Hughes was so drunk that he could hardly stand, and his clothes were disarranged; witness and Mrs. Meyer then left, and in the evening, having seen Mr. Meyer, who had returned to Sydney, he and witness again went to the house but could not gain admittance; on Sunday he and Meyer went to the house, when the bailiff who was there admitted them; on the following Monday, when witness went to the house, the bailiff was not there; he, however, came in about half an hour afterwards, and failed to recognise witness, although he told him who he was; the bailiff then went for the police to give witness in charge but when they came they refused to take him, and went away; subsequently the fi. fa. was satisfied, and O'Brien called and gave him the key, and the bailiff left. Mary Meyer, wife of the plaintiff, gave corroborative evidence as to the condition of Hughes on the Saturday, and said that he was lying down on the balcony; when Berardi roused him and asked him to allow Mrs. Meyer to go to her bedroom he swore at him and threatened to throw him over the balcony; she called Berardi away, fearing a disturbance, and, as she was very frightened, she went to a neighbour's house. Oscar Meyer, the plaintiff, stated that the judgment upon which execution was issued was signed against him during his absence from Sydney, and he had no notice whatever; he returned to Sydney on the 5th January, and paid out the fi. fa. on the 7th; he arrived in Sydney at noon, and when he went to the house about 4 o'clock nobody answered his summons; he got through the window and found bottles of beer and three tumblers on the table; Hughes in a semi-nude state and helplessly drunk was lying upon a sofa; when Hughes was roused up he abused witness, and subsequently while plaintiff and a man named Turner were talking Hughes pushed them out of the house, saying they had no business there, as he was in charge; witness also stated that when he came back to the house later in the day with Messrs. Garrard and Hamilton Hughes was in the same condition, and, after abusing them, pushed them out of the house. Messrs. Jacob Garrard, M.L.A., and Hamilton, and a clerk named Laws also gave evidence as to the condition in which Hughes was when they went to plaintiff's house.

This closed the plaintiff's case, and Mr. Pring moved for a nonsuit, which, after hearing argument, his Honor refused.

Charles Hughes, who described himself as sheriff-officer's keeper, said that he was put in possession of plaintiff's house about 4 or 5 o'clock on Friday, and remained until Monday; there was a foreigner named Berardi there, and on Friday he had a glass of beer with Berardi, which was all that he had that night; it was not true that he was drunk, and he never used bad language or ordered Laws off the premises; he remembered Mrs. Meyer and Berardi coming to the house between 11 and 12 o'clock on Saturday; he was then sitting on a mattress on the balcony; he did not hear them knock; he opened the door and they came in, and Mrs. Meyer went over the premises, witness informing her that she could not take anything away; he was perfectly sober on that occasion; it was not true that he threatened to throw Berardi over the balcony or to throw him out, and he did not shake his fist at him; on the occasion when he first went to plaintiff's house there were empty and half-empty bottles on the table, but the statement that he took any of plaintiff's beer was false; when Meyer came he began arguing that witness was illegally in possession, and he told him he had better clear out and go and see the sheriff. Meyer afterwards came with two gentlemen, but he never used any threats to him or them, and he never at any time prevented Mr. and Mrs. Meyer from entering the house; on Monday he had occasion to call a policeman because Berardi threatened to knock his brains out with a tomahawk. (His Honor here read the evidence of Messrs. Garrard and Hamilton to witness, who said that they had sworn falsely.) F. R. Robinson, J.P., said that he saw Hughes at plaintiff's house about 9 o'clock, and had some conversation with him, extending over about half an hour; he appeared to have had some drink, and Hughes said that some of Meyer's friends had given it to him the night before; when witness saw him again it was with Mr. Meyer; the bailiff was lying asleep on a couch, and witness then called to him and shook him; he seemed confused at waking up suddenly, but witness did not think he was drunk, though he was very excited; Hughes put witness and Mr. Meyer out by conducting them along the passage and shutting the door; but when they returned a few minutes afterwards he apologised; he did not use any bad language; he could not say that he was drunk, or at any rate very drunk, but his manner was rough and uncouth.

At this stage the further hearing was adjourned till the following day.

In Admiralty.—(Before his Honor Sir F. Darley, Judge Commissary.)

OSBORNE V. A. U. S. N. COMPANY.
A. U. S. N. COMPANY V. OSBORNE.

Mr. Want, Q.C., and Mr. G. R. Campbell, instructed by Messrs. Creagh and Williams, appeared for the plaintiff in the first action and defendant in the second; and Mr. Wise, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Hamilton, appeared for the defendants in the first action and plaintiffs in the second; and it was decided that the finding in the case first named should be accepted as settling the cross action. The plaintiff, Frank Osborne, owner of the steamship Kurrara, sued the A. U. S. N. Company, as owners of the steamship Eurimbla, to recover compensation owing to the alleged negligence of the captain and crew of the latter vessel, in consequence of which the Kurrara was damaged. Plaintiff's case was that on the 8th May last the Kurrara, a screw steamship of 430 tons, James MacGeorge, master, was approaching the Heads from the southward, the night being fine and clear, and the sea being smooth, with no wind. The vessel had the usual masthead and side lights, which were burning brightly. When first sighted the Eurimbla, 1057 tons, Jeremiah Selwes, master, was distant about one mile, showing her masthead and starboard side light, which bore broad on the Kurrara's port hand, and the starboard was the only side light of the Eurimbla seen by those on board the Kurrara up to the time of the collision. The Kurrara had always the Eurimbla's starboard side light on her port hand, and therefore kept steadily on her course, in accordance with the regulations, until the vessels had approached to within 50 yards of one another, when the Kurrara's helm was put hard aport, as the only chance of avoiding an otherwise inevitable collision. When the Eurimbla had come to within 200 yards of the Kurrara the engines of the latter were stopped, and almost immediately afterwards reversed at full speed. The stem of the Eurimbla struck the Kurrara on her port bow, about 3ft. abaft her stem. The collision took place about 7 p.m., between North Head and the Hornby light, and about two-thirds of a mile from the light. The plaintiff submitted that the Eurimbla was in fault—1, in not keeping out of the way of the Kurrara, she having the Kurrara on her starboard side; 2, in not stopping and reversing her engines when the two vessels were approaching one another so as to involve risk of collision; 3, in not directing her course to starboard, which she indicated to the Kurrara as being her course, by giving one short blast of her steam-whistle; 4, in not keeping to that side of the mid-channel of the passage through the Heads which lay on her starboard side, and thereby violating 16, 18, 19, and 21 of the regulations for the prevention of collisions at sea.

The defendants, in their pleadings, set out that when the plaintiff steamer Kurrara was first seen, the Eurimbla was steering a course east by north ½ north, and steaming at the rate of about 10 knots an hour. The Kurrara was a mile or so away, about one point and a half forward on the starboard beam of the Eurimbla, and the lights first seen were the masthead and red side lights, no others being visible on board the Kurrara previous to the collision; when the Kurrara was first seen no danger of collision was apprehended, so the Eurimbla kept on her course and left two-thirds of the distance from South Head to North Head for the Kurrara to enter the harbour; after going some little distance it was seen that the Kurrara was not attempting to go into the harbour in the manner anticipated, but kept steering towards the northern shore; when this was noticed the engines of the Eurimbla were immediately stopped, and then seeing that the Kurrara was still keeping on her course, the engines were reversed at half-speed, and then almost immediately at full speed; the engines were stopped between two and three minutes before the collision took place, and until then there was no apparent danger of collision. The Kurrara's stem struck the Eurimbla's stem, and then glided off. The faults attributed to the Kurrara were as follows:—That she did not keep her course, but ported her helm, and thus needlessly caused the collision; that as nearly the whole entrance of the port was open to her she should not have stood over to the northern shore, but should have come into port in the ordinary course that vessels of her description usually take when coming from the south; that when there was a danger of collision she did not stop and reverse as soon as she should have done. The evidence was not concluded when the Court rose.

In Chambers.—(Before Mr. Justice Foster.)

POTTER V. BOWLING.

Mr. Salomons, Q.C., appeared on behalf of the appellant, in support of an appeal from the decision of the magistrates at the Redfern Police Court on the 11th June last. According to the special case stated by the magistrates it appeared that appellant, Bela Usher Bowling, applied for a renewal of the license of the Salutation Hotel, Botany-road, Alexandria. The application was opposed by Sub-inspector Potter, on the ground that the applicant was "a person of bad repute" and it was refused. At the request of the applicant a case was then stated for the opinion of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Healey, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared in support of the decision of the magistrates, and took a preliminary objection to the case stated. By the first section of the Justices' Appeal Act, justices were authorised to hear and determine the merits of any "information or complaint." It must, therefore, either be an "information or complaint" to give them jurisdiction in stating a case; but in this particular case there was neither, the subject matter for inquiry before the justices being for the renewal of a publican's license.

Mr. Salomons said that not having had notice of the objection he had not considered it, but he might state that it was thought that it would be more convenient and cheaper to have a case stated than to go for a mandamus. He applied for an adjournment in order that, if necessary, he could apply for a mandamus.

His Honor said that at the first blush he must say that the statute seemed to be in favour of Mr. Healey's contention. He would, however, grant the adjournment until Wednesday.

IN RE CHARLES WOOD READETT, A GENT ONE, &C.

Mr. Davies appeared for the applicant, Patrick Owens, the elder, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi calling upon Charles Wood Readett, solicitor, to show cause why he should not deliver up all affidavits and documents in connection with the application of Patrick Owens the elder for letters of administration in the estate of Henry Joseph Owens, deceased. The respondent did not appear. Counsel stated that respondent took up the matter some years ago, but had not yet done anything in regard to it.

His Honor made the order in the terms of the summons, with costs, delivery to take place within one week. His Honor also remarked that he could not see in such cases why the attorney's name should not be disclosed. In many cases it was simply a dispute between an attorney and his client as to what should be done, and, therefore, there could be no objection to the name being stated. If there was anything wrong that was a stronger reason why the attorney's name should be mentioned.

PITT AND OTHERS V. MACNAMARA.

Mr. O'Connor mentioned that defendant consented to an order being made for an affidavit of discovery; costs of the application to be costs in the cause.

In Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice Owen.)

PROBATES AND ADMINISTRATIONS.

Probates in the following estates were granted:—Alicia Honora Webb £564; William Quinn, £2075; William M'Namara, £840; John W. Elliott, £2271; Bridget Tuite, £588; Robert M'Phillamy, £1196; George John Drury, £115.

Administrations in the following estates were granted:—David Spence, £300; James Cruise, £217; Robert Caban, £144; Goon Moon, £266; Michael Halpin, £413; D. Scoffin, £128; Joseph Glennon, £3249.

A number of motions to pass accounts and for commissions were also granted.

BROWN AND OTHERS V. M'ENCROE.

Motion to settle issues. Mr. Lingen for the plaintiff, and Mr. C. J. Manning for the defendant. The issues were whether the document in question was the last will, and whether it was signed when the maker of the will was of sound and disposing mind. Mr. Manning applied for a commission to England to examine Dr. Fisher, returnable on the 1st December. Both parties joined in the commission, the Registrar to fill in the names of commissioners agreed on by the parties. The application was granted.

MORRIS V. RILEY AND ANOTHER.

Motion to settle issues. Mr. A. H. Simpson for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. C. Manning for the defendants. The issues, as to a document of the 11th June of the present year, were whether it was the will of A. D. Morris, and whether he was of sound and disposing mind, and, thirdly, undue influence.

His Honor ordered the matter to be put into the Equity list, to come before the Court without a jury.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice Owen, the Chief Judge in Equity.)

AUSTRALIAN TRUST MANAGEMENT, ASSURANCE, AND INVESTMENT COMPANY, LIMITED, V. WORTH AND OTHERS (PART HEARD).

Mr. C. J. Manning, Mr. Lingen, and Mr. Hanbury Davies instructed by Messrs. Lawrence and M'Lachlan, for the plaintiff company; and Mr. Walker instructed by Mr. A. Godfrey, for the defendant Charles Stuart Cansdell. The remaining defendants, although appearing by Mr. Godfrey, and filing a memo. disputing the plaintiff's claim, had filed no statement of defence, and were not represented at the hearing.

This matter which was an application by the plaintiffs for an order declaring that a certain meeting of the shareholders of the company had been irregularly convened and improperly conducted, stood as part heard on Thursday last.

The hearing was continued to-day, and when the Court rose all the witnesses for the plaintiffs had been examined.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice Deffell.)

EXTENSION OF TIME.

POLICE.

Mr. W. Johnson, S.M., presided in the Charge Division at the Central Police Court, yesterday morning. Ernest Childs, 14, a factory boy, was fined 10s., or two days, for using indecent language in a public place, off Bathurst-street. Charles Smith, 18, a labourer, for cruelly ill-treating a horse in Union-street, was ordered to pay 40s., or go to gaol for 14 days. Frank Scott, 25, a labourer, for impeding a tram conductor in the execution of his duty, was fined £5, or 14 days' gaol (by-law 26). James Fox, 52, a fireman, for being drunk and disorderly in Bay-street, was fined 20s., or in default seven days' gaol. John Allen was charged with stealing the sum of £14 15s. from the dwelling-place of Mr. William Davey, of Newcastle. It was stated that the witnesses for the case resided at Newcastle and the Magistrate remanded him to Newcastle for trial. John Cook, 15, a newsboy, was charged with unlawfully assaulting Ah Hing. Mr. Jones deposed that there was a crowd of boys constantly throwing stones at prosecutor, who was an inoffensive man, and had done no one any harm. Accused was ordered to pay a fine of £5, or go to gaol for two months with hard labour. Alfred Collyer, on remand, for assaulting Lavinia Hedger, was further remanded till Wednesday, bail being allowed in self in £40, and one surety of £40. Nellie Buckley, 20, and Ruby Royce, 19, for behaving in a riotous manner in Liverpool-street, were each fined 40s., levy and distress, or 14 days. The latter prisoner was further charged with using indecent language in Liverpool-street, and was fined £3, or one month gaol. John Egan, 13, and Thomas Byrnes, 13, were charged with having eight pigeons in their possession with intent to steal them. They were remanded till to-day, and were ordered to be kept locked up. Jane Crouch and Mary Kelly were each sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labour for vagrancy. Lena Moran and Mary Callaghan, both charged with vagrancy, were sentenced—the former to one month's imprisonment with hard labour, and the latter to six months' imprisonment with hard labour. Mary Ann Heames, 40, was sent to gaol for a period of 14 days with hard labour, for having stolen several articles, valued at about 4s. 6d., the property of Hannah Monaghan. Henry Payne, 31, charged with being a suspected person, found frequenting Wexford-street, with intent to commit a felony, was sent to gaol for one month with hard labour.

Mr. Benjamin Lee, D.S.M., disposed of the business in the Charge Division of the Water Police Court. John Carroll, 30, labourer, charged with travelling by the s.s. Rodondo from Brisbane to Sydney without having previously paid his fare, 30s., and with intent to avoid payment thereof, was fined 40s., with the alternative of one month's gaol. Alfred Moss, 24, vanman, pleaded not guilty to a charge of unlawfully assaulting John Beilid. It appears that prosecutor and defendant were in a hotel in Liverpool-street, when prosecutor made some offensive remarks, and defendant immediately picked up a glass and hit him with it on the head, inflicting a nasty wound. Defendant's story was that he picked up the glass and prosecutor ran against it. Moss was fined £2, levy and distress, or 21 days' gaol. Mr. Fisher, S.M., disposed of the business in the Summons Division. J. Tuelon and J. Daughty were each fined £5, with 5s. 6d. costs, levy and distress, or one month's gaol, for neglecting to have riding lights on their vessels whilst at anchor in Port Jackson.

Mr. J. O'Malley Clarke presided at the Newtown Police Court. Bernard Moss, George Lloyd, Henry Plum, W. Wiechew, C. Hamilton, for behaving in a riotous manner on the Parramatta-road, Petersham, were fined 20s., or seven days in gaol. John Evers, 23, James Murry, 17, and Henry Kelly, 17, designated as labourers, were charged with stealing a cart and set of harness, the property of H. W. Jelly, at Newtown. Case remanded to Friday. The same prisoners were further charged for breaking and entering the store of Ebenezer Vickery and Sons, at Alexandria, and stealing therefrom five bags chaff, one bag corn, 19 empty bags, the property of the said Vickery and Sons, and valued at £2 11s. 6d. The case was remanded; bail allowed in £80, or two sureties in £40. George Mason was fined £1 or seven days' gaol for furious riding. J. Mitchell was summoned by J. H. Beale for an assault, for which had to pay £1 fine, 5s. 10d. costs, £1 10s. professional fees, or 21 days. He was further mulcted in the sum of £1 costs and £1 1s. professional costs, or seven days' gaol, for using obscene language. Richard Smith, for maliciously damaging a window of one Terence Mahon, had to pay £3 10s. damage, 5s. fine, and 5s. 10d. costs, or go to gaol for two months.

Messrs. G. T. Hunt, J. Whitworth, and H. Byrnes, Js.P., disposed of the business at the Parramatta Police Court. Gordon Storey was fined £3 and 6s. 9d. costs, in default 14 days in gaol, for cruelly ill-treating a horse by working it in an unfit condition. Patrick Fitzpatrick was fined 2s. and 7s. 4d. costs, for assaulting Frederick Stewart on the evening of the 13th of June.

PROSECUTION OF THE HON. JOHN DAVIES.

THE CASE POSTPONED.

The fact that the case against the Hon. John Davies, C.M.G., M.L.C., formerly chairman of the Casual Labour Board, was to be heard at the Water Police Court yesterday morning caused a considerable number of people to assemble in and around that building. Precisely at 10 o'clock, the hour at which the business in both divisions of the court is commenced, Mr. Davies, who was accompanied by his solicitor, Mr. R. Burdett Smith, entered the Summons Division, both gentlemen taking seats at the table set apart for the use of the legal fraternity. Mr. A. M. Fisher, S.M., was the presiding magistrate. Sub-Inspector Hyam, who laid the information against Mr. Davies, was also present. The defendant was charged with embezzling warrants and orders for the payment of £26 17s. 3d, £33 3s. .d., and £52 3s. 1d.

It was originally arranged that the case should be placed at the bottom of the list. This was done, and in the ordinary course of business at the court the case "George H. Hyam, complainant, v. John Davies, defendant, embezzlement," would not have been reached until after 11 o'clock; but before any of the minor cases were called on

Mr. R. Burdett-Smith, who appeared on behalf of Mr. John Davies, said: Your Worship, in the case against Mr. Davies, in which he is charged with certain offences, I have to state that an arrangement has been made, by consent, that it should stand over for a few days.

Mr. Fisher: Has any particular date been specified?

Mr. Smith: I think this day week. Perhaps I may be permitted to say that Mr. Davies, who is here, is quite prepared to go on with the case; but it is for the convenience of counsel that I have to apply for the postponement. Mr. J. H. Want, Q.C., who has been instructed in this matter, has to appear in an important case in another court to-day, and it is therefore absolutely necessary that the case against Mr. Davies should be postponed, as Mr. Want cannot attend this court. I may also say that this postponement is entirely in opposition to Mr. Davies's wishes.

Mr. Fisher: Very well. The hearing of the case is adjourned for one week.

ASSESSMENT APPEALS.

In the Summons Division at the Water Police Court yesterday afternoon, before Mr. A. M. Fisher, S.M., a number of appeals against the assessments made by the Municipal Council of Manly were heard. Mr. W. C. T. Moore, assessment of £315, reduced to £300; H. Bradstock, original assessments on two properties reduced to £500 in one case and to £54 in the other; Mr. J. J. Dargan, reduced from £45 to £25; S. Gillon, assessment sustained. Mr. Wheeler had three assessments sustained and three reduced to £26, £39, and two of £26, the latter from £61 in each case. Mr. Stoney had two cases sustained and one reduced to £78 from the original amount. R. J. Griffiths, reduced from £60 to £40. Mrs. E. J. Olliver had two sustained and one reduced to £32. Mr. F. K. Olliver, one of £39 reduced to £32 10s., another reduced to £52. The next case was sustained, and the others, three in number, were each reduced to £26 from £36. There were three other cases by the same ratepayer which were reduced to £30, £60, and £90 respectively. Mrs. Spalding, assessment sustained. Mrs. Sergeant, first assessment reduced from £130 to £104, and the second reduced to £55. R. M. Pitt, assessment sustained. Mrs. J. Heydon, first case sustained, and the second reduced to £200. The third case was reduced from £37 10s. to £20. In the case of E. Sadrington, the amount (£10) was struck out altogether. Mrs. S. J. Smith, reduced from £35 to £30. In the cases of Mr. F. W. Lyne and Mr. E. Hine, the assessments were sustained; Thomas Moore, four cases, assessments sustained; R. M'Lean, two cases, one reduced from £52 to £39, and the other upheld; J. Williams and James Grant, assessments upheld in each case; B. Langs, reduced from £169 to £156; W. Nicholl, assessment upheld. A. Abel, reduced from £20 to £15. Frank Grimley, four cases, all sustained. H. M'Kinnon, assessment upheld. R. Phillips, three cases, all reduced from £61 to £52. D. Mitchell, assessment sustained. Joseph Webb, two cases were each reduced from £61 to £52, while the others were sustained. D. Fraser, assessment reduced to £36 from £50. In the other cases each one was reduced to £20. Mr. Kirkpatrick; assessment reduced from £350 to £300. Messrs. J. Phillips and R. Forrier; assessments upheld in each case. J. F. Warbeck; assessment sustained in the first case, and in the second reduced from £22 to £16. The Rev. R. Willis; reduced from £175 to £150. In three other appeal cases some discussion arose as to the date when letters were received by the town clerk regarding appeals. In the first case his Honor ruled that the letter had been received too late for the appeal to be taken against the assessment. In the second the council clerk was not certain when he received the letter, and the ratepayer was given the benefit of the doubt, and the case was proceeded with. The assessment was sustained. In the third case it was proved that the letter was received in time, but his Honor postponed the hearing of it till to-day, at noon.

MEETINGS.

STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the State Children's Relief Board was held at the depot, Paddington, yesterday afternoon. The following members were present:—The Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C., president; Mrs. Goodlet, Mrs. Garran, and Lady Manning. The boarding-out officer's report for the month was read, and the usual statistical tables submitted. It was stated that 23 children had been admitted since the previous meeting of the board, and 22 discharged to their relatives. There are at present under control 2195 children, viz., 1326 boys and 868 girls. Authority for the payment of accounts amounting to £4725 6s. 9d. was given. The two new buildings at Parramatta erected for cottage homes have been taken over from the contractor, and are now occupied by the children who have hitherto been placed in the old buildings at Pennant Hills. Applications from seven parents were considered, one of which was refused, and six granted. Collections amounting to £58 11s. have been received during the month, and authority was given to place under indenture 49 children, now 12 years of age, and the Board approved of 23 applications for State children, and refused six as being unsuitable.

SYDNEY MINISTERS' UNION.

The monthly meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms on Monday. There were 16 members present. The Rev. T. S. Forsaith was called to the chair. The secretary laid upon the table a letter from the official representative of the Evangelical Alliance, referring to future arrangements for concurrent services, and suggesting the desirability of forming a local branch of the Alliance. After some discussion, the Revs. R. S. Patterson, G. Sutherland, and R. Martin were appointed a committee to collect information and report to the next meeting of the union. Letters of resignation of membership were read from the Rev. D. Millar and the Rev. C. Stead, the former alleging as his reason for the step, his inability to attend regularly the meetings of the union; the latter on account of his removal from Sydney to Bathurst. On the motion of the Rev. T. B. Tress, it was resolved not to accept Mr. Millar's resignation, but to inform him that he would be welcome to attend the meetings when convenient. Mr. Stead's resignation was accepted, the secretary being instructed to urge him to use his influence in forming a ministers' union at Bathurst. The Revs. W. Coller, F. L. Dalrymple, and Rainford Bavin were proposed and elected members of the union. The Rev. T. B. Tress then read a paper on "Christ revealed in the Believer." An interesting discussion followed, in which all the members present took part, the chairman summing up. It was resolved that at the next meeting the report of the committee on the proposal to form a local branch of the Evangelical Alliance should take the place of a paper for discussion. Principal Fletcher was requested to announce at the next meeting the subject of a paper to be read by him at the meeting in August. The Rev. T. B. Tress referred to the next forthcoming annual conference, and said that the comparative failure of the last conference in respect to attendance was owing to the want of due notice and preparation, and it was agreed that he and the Rev. R. Bavin should meet and devise preliminary arrangements. The meeting was closed with praise and prayer.

SYDNEY CITY MISSION.

A tea and public meeting in connection with the Sydney City Mission took place at the Redfern Ragged School, Botany-street, last evening. About 400 persons attended the tea, and at the public meeting the hall was crowded. The Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C., was in the chair. After the meeting had been opened with prayer, the chairman said that it was two or three years since he had been in the hall on an occasion similar to the present one. He had always taken a deep interest in the work of the mission, and his desire of doing something towards that work had been gratified in various ways. In the position he occupied at the Benevolent Asylum he had frequently an opportunity of seeing the good work that the mission was doing. Dr. Renwick briefly alluded to the death of the Hon. John Sutherland, stating that in him they had lost a steadfast friend. Mr. J. M. Main then read the report of his last year's work, which was as follows:—Visits and calls, 3144; visits to the sick, 726; professed conversions, 67; meetings, 228; average attendance, 164; read and prayed with, 1620; temperance pledges, 226; tracts distributed, 2598; medical aid provided for, 92; bibles distributed, 96; poor families relieved, 368; £68 12s. 4d. was spent on these families; also 124 letters written for help for them from the Benevolent Asylum to butchers, grocers, and bakers, which was cheerfully accorded on his recommendation. Twenty-eight pairs of blankets and 42 parcels of clothing have been distributed during the year. He wished to publicly acknowledge his deep obligation to the committee of the Benevolent Asylum for their kindness in affording relief to so many poor families on his recommendation. He could bear testimony to the fact that but for the relief afforded, there were dozens of families in the district who would have had to go from door to door begging bread. There were 65 members in the Clothing Club, and the amount paid in to the club was £60 7s. 10d. Mr. Stephen, M.L.A., Mr. Schey, and the Rev. G. Campbell, honorary secretary to the mission, addressed the meeting, pointing out the benefit that the mission was, and the worthiness of the object that it had in hand. Musical selections were given by the choir, orchestra, and friends.

The ninth annual meeting of St. John's Darlinghurst Branch of the Church of England Temperance Society was held in St. John's Schoolroom last evening. The chair was taken by the Rev. A. W. Pain, B.A., pastor of the church. There was a fairly large attendance. The secretary's report said that the work done by the society had not been as satisfactory as could be wished, and but very few pledges had been taken. The finances, it was stated, were also at a very low ebb. Speeches relating to the work done by the temperance societies throughout the colony were given by the Revs. A. G. Stoddart, W. A. Charlton, and Mr. John Tozer. During the evening vocal and instrumental music was rendered by Mr. Churchill Otton, assisted by friends. The office-bearers for the ensuing year are:—President, Rev. A. W. Pain, B.A.; vice-presidents, the Rev. S. S. Tovey, B.A., Rev. Arthur Killworth, B.A., LL.B., and Mr. Justice Stephen; hon. treasurer, Miss Docker; hon. secretary, Mr. W. L. Docker; committee, Mrs. Lord, Mrs. Scroggie, Mrs. Batten, Mrs. Richardson, Miss Williams, Miss M. Jones, Messrs. F. R. Deas-Thompson, J. Hole, A. E. Harper, S. Merrick, Leon Benham, and J. Clark.

The School of Arts Debating Club held its weekly meeting on Monday evening, in the large hall of the institution; the committee of the School of Arts prohibiting the public from listening to the debate. The subject for the evening was "That the time has arrived when the colonies should elect their own Governors." The Premier, Mr. William Dobell, opened the debate. The opposition was opened by Mr. Powell. Debate was adjourned.

The Protection and Political Reform League held its fortnightly meeting at the Temperance Hall last evening; Mr. R. Scott Ross, the president of the league, was in the chair. Correspondence from various parts was reported to the meeting. The first business was that relating to the position of the National Club and its committee of 15. Mr. S. A. Byrne proposed and Mr. G. F. Garton seconded,—"That this league, being aware of the efforts of the National Club to establish itself as the supreme director and controller of the protection politics of this colony, cannot accept a subordinate or co-ordinate position in this connection, unless it is intended that all existing protection organisations shall have an equal voice in drawing up rules and appointing executive officers." The resolution was spoken to by Major East, C. O. Waldow, S. Redgate, C. O'Driscol, J. Mason, F. Christian, the president and secretary, and Mr. Bland (delegate from the Protection League, Leichhardt), and was carried unanimously. The next resolution was proposed and seconded by the same gentlemen,—"That a sub-committee, consisting of the officers of the league and such other members as may be willing to act, be appointed and empowered to communicate with the national protection committee relative to the above resolution." This resolution was also carried unanimously. The following names were then submitted and accepted to act with the officers:—Messrs. Byrne, Garton, O'Driscoll, Mason, and Nathan. The next business was a motion, authorising the secretary to write to the secretary of the Redfern Protection League, intimating that this league would use its best endeavours in assisting at any future election that might take place in that constituency. Before the meeting closed the members present expressed their sympathy with the family which had sustained such a heavy loss in the death of the late Hon. John Sutherland, whose valuable public services the league had always acknowledged.

CONTRACTORS' PAYMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I can bear out the statements made by the various bank managers in reference to the above. On several occasions I have had to advance money for a contractor to pay his men, while the contractor has had to wait the pleasure of the road superintendent. When I have advised the contractor to report the delay, the reply was, "Oh, no, it might be worse for me. I will wait." These are facts. Now that Mr. Smith's attention has been drawn to the matter, there may be no further cause for complaint, but certainly there has been in the past. The cause for complaint now in this part of the country is, the delay in calling for tenders for work, for the various sums voted for roads in and around this neighbourhood. While all the other roads about have been dealt with by tenders being called for, the road in our immediately locality are left to the very last. While writing I would also draw Mr. Smith's attention to the necessity of calling for tenders for a bridge over the Fairfield Creek in lieu of the one washed away by the floods of February last. The necessity for such has been represented to the Department by Messrs. Colls and O'Sullivan, I believe, as well as by a deputation last month, yet nothing has been done. Trusting you will give this a place in an early issue,

I am, &c., WILLIAM AFFLECK.

APPLIED ELECTRICAL SCIENCE.

A lecture was delivered to the members of the Royal Society of New South Wales at the Society's House in Elizabeth-street last evening by Professor Threlfall, M.A., the subject being "The present state of applied Electrical Science." The chair was occupied by the president of the society, Professor Liversidge, and there was a fairly large attendance of ladies and gentlemen.

Professor THRELFALL prefaced his lecture by stating that he did not pretend to deliver an interesting lecture, because when on his recent trip to Europe and America he had far too little time to look at things from an interesting point of view. He could not tell them for instance how many electric lights were supplied, how the people looked under them, and how much they paid for them, but he could tell them the means by which electric lighting was now carried out in America and Europe, and the means by which electric tramways were driven, and he would be able to give some account of a very interesting process introduced by Professor Thompson, and known as the process of electric welding. The places he visited for the purposes of electric information were London, where he was sorry to say electric lighting was at zero, and Berlin, where there was a more or less complete system of electric lighting under conditions which did not very much interest people here, as labour was very cheap in Berlin as compared with this country. There was a great deal of electric lighting done in Rome, which, however, he did not visit. It was an installation, which was quite interesting because carried out by a firm originally engineers, and who acquired their experience at the expense of the Romans. He supposed the city best worth visiting was Boston, where they not only had tramways both on the overhead and underground system, but they had two competing electric lighting systems all over the city. Boston was about the most interesting place from an electric point of view. Philadelphia was a place that was attracting some attention, because the Edison Company were putting up what it was expected would be the largest yet attempted. They were making preparations to supply 400 lamps, which was a very large number. He also spent two days at Mr. Edison's laboratory at Orange, where he had the opportunity of seeing a great many interesting things. He happened to visit several mining towns, and he noticed the electric light in the houses. It was characteristic of small towns, and should be very interesting to Australians. He believed there were many towns in the bush that had no system of light, for which this system would be better than gas. He had seen it at Pittsburg, which was a very interesting place. He had also visited Washington and Denver, which were also more or less interesting. He must also mention Honolulu, where electric lighting was in a most advanced stage. There they had the advantage of a continuous rainfall, and they utilised it to obtain water power to drive the system of lights that, he dared say, was very efficient. He did not see the lights, but he visited the station, and generally speaking, the arrangements made for using the water power. Honolulu was the only place, except Lucerne, where electricity was driven on a large scale by means of water power only. Electric lighting was a subject in which some interest was taken, and which everybody, whether holding shares in gas companies or not, would wish to see a success. There was no doubt that in a town an electric light company and a gas company could flourish equally side by side. There were two great rival systems of electric lighting—the first was known as the Faraday, and was the continuous current system. It was very expensive on account of the quantity of copper required in the wires. The second system was known as the alternate current transformer system, and in it advantage was taken of Faraday's fundamental discovery though Faraday was generally done out of it, and it was called the Goulard and Gibbs system. This system depended on making the pressure very great under which the power was transmitted and the current of electricity extremely small. The first system supplied its current at a pressure to be used in the lamps, but the second at a pressure too high to be used in the lamps, so that it had to be brought down by an apparatus called the converter. There was a third system in which the consumers were supposed to have storage cells charged during the day just as the mains were charged with water so that the supply could be drawn off when wanted. It was, no doubt, an excellent system, but just now he had no hesitation in saying that there was no storage system to compete with the direct current system, or the alternate current transformer system. [The lecturer here explained these two systems in detail by the aid of diagrams and models.] With regard to the question of tram cars and their motors, he might say that the business in America at least appeared to be entirely in the hands of the Thompson, Houston, and Sprague companies. The motor did not differ from the dynamo, which we owed to Dr. John Hopkinson. It would not do to have a weak field—strong magnets were required round the motors. The field was arranged to be so strong that there was very little shifting of the brushes. A new discovery was not to make the brushes out of copper, but out of carbon, which, though it had a pretty high resistance, was not gritty, and if properly treated was much better for the purpose than copper. There were two chief methods for getting power, and the first was that adopted by the Thompson-Houston people, which consisted in using dynamos putting more or less resistance into the circuit. The single drawback to it was the waste of power that took place. The Sprague people had a most ingenious system. It depended on having a field of the motor wires in sections. In one system the wires were attached overhead to telegraph poles. If we wanted to have cars in this city—and he hoped we would have them driven by electricity—we must make up our minds to have a wire down the middle of the streets. He had seen it, and it did not interfere with the beauty of the streets. The wires were also placed underground, but the system was not a success. The lecturer next explained in detail the Thompson-Houston electric process of welding, the Thompson-Houston lighting arrester, used for the protection of the electric wires, contributing also a very interesting experiment in regard to the latter by means of a complicated machine and two Leyden jars, and concluded his instructive lecture amidst general applause.

Mr. H. C. RUSSELL, Government Astronomer, moved a vote of thanks to Professor Threlfall for his highly interesting lecture. The lecturer had brought before them many abstruse points, and they should be grateful to him. (Applause.) It was quite evident that electricity had a definite limit, and that if we wanted electric lighting we must be prepared to pay for it. It did not appear to him likely that gas would be done away with on a large scale by the adoption of electric lighting.

Mr. C. W. DARLEY seconded the motion, which was carried by acclamation.

Dr. LEIBIUS said he would be pleased to hear something from the lecturer at another time about the treatment of sewerage by electricity.

Professor THRELFALL said it was a perfectly efficient system, but was purely a matter of cost. Webster said he could treat sewage at the rate of 14s. a million gallons, which would probably mean about 17s. or 18s. in Sydney.

TRADES MOVEMENTS.

The weekly meeting of the Federated Seamen's Union was held last night at the Maritime Hall, Sussex-street, Mr. Musto occupying the chair. A deputation from the Trades and Labour Council waited upon the members and set forth the advantages of affiliation with that council. It was agreed to defer the consideration of this business until next Monday night. It was decided that a deputation representing the Seamen's and the Stewards and Cooks' Unions should wait upon the Colonial Secretary at 11 o'clock to-day, to urge that seamen be included under the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act. Correspondence re affiliation was received from the Shearers' Union.

A meeting of the Stewards and Cooks Union was held last evening at the Maritime Hall, Sussex-street, Mr. Thompson being the chairman. Messrs. Talbot, Watson, and J. E. Keely, forming a deputation from the Trades and Labour Council, attended, and addressed the meeting at length, urging the desirability of the union becoming affiliated with the Trades and Labour Council. It was agreed that the consideration of the matter should be left over until next Monday night.

A meeting of the Operative Stonemasons' Society was held at the Trades Hall, Dixon-street, last evening under the presidency of Mr. A. Thompson, when a quantity of routine business was transacted. A letter was read from the kindred organisation in Adelaide, stating that trade in that city at present was very dull.

A special summons meeting of the Plasterers' Society was held at the Swan-with-Two-Necks Hotel, George and Park streets, last evening, when the chair was taken by Mr. R. W. Brown. Messrs. A. Stronach and C. M'Lean resigned their positions as trustees, and Messrs. T. Quinn and J. Byrnes were elected to the vacant offices. After considerable discussion a motion was carried to the effect that the society withdraw from the Building Trades Council and become affiliated with the Trades and Labour Council.

A meeting of the United Furniture Trades was held last evening at the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, Mr. H. M'Cartney being in the chair. The election of officers was proceeded with, and the following were appointed office-bearers for the ensuing year, viz.:—President, F. Kruger; vice-presidents, J. B. Mitchell and W. Jackall; secretary, E. W. Cutter; treasurer, A. P. Dixon. The half-yearly balance-sheet, showing the affairs of the society to be in a very satisfactory condition, was received and adopted.

The weekly meeting of the United Labourers' Society took place last evening at the Trades' Hall, Dixon-street, Mr. G. Boole being the chairman. Correspondence was received from the Registrar-General relative to the registration of societies. The Newcastle branch of the society forwarded a copy of their annual balance-sheet, which was of a gratifying character. It was decided to write to the society in Newcastle asking if they were registered, and if not, advising them to do so. The amount of £15 1s., due for calls on shares in the Trades' Hall Association building, was passed for payment.

WAUGH'S Baking Powder obtained the only first-class award of highest degree of merit. Waugh's Baking Powder is the best.—[ADVT.]

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

The weights for the principal handicaps to be decided during the spring campaign were declared yesterday, and appear in another part of this issue. The A. J. C. Metropolitan Stakes is headed by the Hon. J. White's great racehorse Abercorn with 9st. 7lb., and such an impost will be likely to tire him before two miles have been travelled. The Australian Peer, Arsenal, and Manton follow on pretty close terms, and on paper the four top weights have none the best of it with Cardigan at 9st. Melos appears to have been ill-used with 8st. 12lb., but Niagara is very well in, and among the others that read well at the imposts are Tradition, Cranbrook, West Lynne, and Sinecure.

The list for the Hawkesbury Grand Handicap has Cardigan in command with 9st. 7lb., with Niagara, Sedition, and Keith treading closely on his heels, and it appears to be necessary to look to the middle weights as being the most kindly treated, for Pet Girl, Charcoal, Golden Crown, Bernardo, and Stockwell have been handled with more consideration than the rest. The County Purse presents a very difficult puzzle, for, though the work begins with Cardigan at 9st. 9lb., and most of the other cracks have been handicapped up to him, so many can get to the end of a mile creditably that the winner must of necessity be particularly hard to find. However, at the weights, Wilberforce, Steel Arrow, Pet Girl, Charcoal, Golden Crown, Glen Elgin, and Bustier have certainly not been overburdened.

The mighty Carbine holds the post of honour for the great betting race of the season, the V. R. C. Melbourne Cup, and even with such a steadier as 10st. in the saddle he must, if aided by a little improvement on the score of age, be one of the hardest to beat. At even weights Abercorn reads better than Mentor, but the pair, as well as The Australian Peer, Maxim, and Manton, have received their full share. Cuirassier has to thank his private as well as his public reputation in some measure for having come in for 8st. 13lb., and among those that read well on paper are Cardigan, Tradition, Silver Prince, Rudolph, Corunna, Sinecure, Antaeus, and Singapore.

The weights for the Canterbury Park June Meeting also saw the light yesterday. Paddy has 9st. 10lb. in the Flying Handicap, and that should be sufficient to keep him in his box, while, on figures, the best in may be Wilberforce, Oxenham, Steeltrap, and Advice. All other things being equal, the most leniently treated in the Park Stakes probably are Lindsay, Arline, Delegate, and Dawn. La Valette, Unnamed, Timbrel, and Ethel read as well as anything else in the Coronation Handicap; and Elly O'Connor, Bellringer, Sardinia, and Oxenham have about the brightest prospects of those engaged in the Stewards' Mile.

The programme issued by the Moorefield Racing Club for their galloway and pony races on the 3rd proximo attracted 83 nominations, of which the Pony Handicap is responsible for 15, the Flying Handicap 24, Tom Thumb Handicap 16, Pony Selling Race 4, and Galloway Handicap 24.

The management of the Sydney Driving Park Club have decided to hold their next meeting on the 10th proximo instead of the 25th instant, as originally fixed.

Little John was yesterday withdrawn from the Hurdle Race in connection with the A. J. C. Winter Meeting.

The secretary of the Rosehill Racing Club writes stating that the third horse in the Granville Stakes on Saturday was Delegate, but that the number of Lady Alice had been hoisted in error. The mistake was discovered when the horses returned to scale, but a notification of it was not furnished to the press-room.

The Sydney Hunt Club have fixed upon the 10th prox. as the date for one of their popular meetings, and in this issue can be seen the bill of fare framed for the occasion. There are half a dozen items on the card, including flat and hurdle racing and steeplechasing; and the date of entry has been set down for July 1, when the following events will need attention:—Flying Handicap, of 60 sovs., ¾ mile; Hurdle Race, a handicap of 60 sovs., amateur (members of the Sydney Hunt Club) and professional riders, the latter to carry 7lb. extra, 2 miles; Handicap Selling Race, of 75 sovs., winner to be sold for one sov., 7 furlongs; Hunt Club Steeplechase, of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 15 sovs. from the prize, to be ridden by members of the Sydney Hunt Club, professionals or non-members 7lb. extra, 2½ miles; Hunt Club Handicap of 75 sovs., 1 mile; and Members' Handicap, a trophy value 20 sovs., for bona-fide hunters to be owned and ridden by members of the Sydney Hunt Club, 1½ miles. The weights are promised on the 8th proximo, and nominations accompanied by the entrance fee of one sov. (save in the Members' Handicap to which there is free entry), must be in the hands of the hon. secretary, Mr. Percy Driver, 20, Barrack-street, by 4 p.m. on the date named.

A large meeting of sporting men was convened at Nimmo's Family Hotel, Katoomba, on the evening of the 15th instant, for the purpose of forming a local turf club. Mr. F. C. Goyder presided. After some discussion as to the site for a racecourse, in which the rival claims of the Leura Oval and Mr. O'Regan's course of 1¼ miles, it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Nimmo, seconded by Mr. D. Thompson,—"That a racing institution, to be known as the Katoomba Jockey Club, be formed"—and a committee, consisting of Messrs. F. C. Goyder, H. Peckman, J. H. Mitchell, D. Thompson, and J. Nimmo, was appointed to inspect the sites offered for the course, and report upon them at an early date, when the owners of the property would submit the terms under which the land would be obtainable. About 60 acres would be required, and it was pointed out that the appointments would have to be first-class, so that visitors from the metropolis would be attracted to the meeting. The feeling of the meeting was evidently in favour of the formation of a joint stock company, who would purchase or lease a suitable site, and form a good track. The names of several well-known metropolitan sportsmen were mentioned as having taken considerable interest in the project, and, should it be carried out, arrangements will be made for holding a spring meeting.

English sporting files from May 11 to 17 inclusive are to hand, and contain the results of the leading events decided during the week. Prominent among the items is the race for the Kempton Park Jubilee Stakes of 3000 guineas, one mile, which was run on the opening day of the Kempton Park Spring meeting, and the results of which were duly announced by cable at the time. The valuable stake attracted 16 competitors, as under:—General Byrne's ch c Amphion, by Speculum or Rosebery—Suicide, 3 years, 7st. 1lb., 1; Lord Cholmondeley's br c Screech Owl, by Wisdom—Noisy, 3 years, 5st. 7lb., 2; Mr. J. O'Neill's ch h The Rejected, by King of Trumps—Accepted, 5 years, 8st. 3lb., 3; Goldseeker, by The Miser—Swallow, 9st. 1lb.; Lisbon, by Cœruleus—Cintra, 8st. 3lb.; Rêve d'Or, by Hampton—Queen of the Roses, 8st.; Orbit, by Bend Or; Fair Alice, 7st. 13lb.; Love in Idleness, by Mask—Lucetta, 7st. 13lb.; Bullion, by The Miser—Stella, 7st. 7lb. Martley, by Doncaster—Lady Margarette, 7st. 3lb.; Theophilus, by Arbitrator—Theodora, 7st. 4lb.; Arundel, by Standard—Catalonia, 6st. 12lb.; Link Boy, by Rotherill—Last Link, 6st. 10lb.; True Blue, by Cœruleus—Restorative, 6st. 7lb.; Powder Puff, by Mask—Decoration, 6st. 7lb., and William the Silent, by Robert the Devil—Fair Vestal, 5st. 8lb. Orbit was first favourite at 5 to 1; 11 to 2 was the price about Goldseeker and True Blue, 9 to 1 v. Love in Idleness, 10 to 1 v. The Rejected, 100 to 8 each v. Amphidon and Screech Owl, and 100 to 7 to 100 to 2 could be got about the others. Screech Owl was first away, and, attended by Amphion and The Rejected, showed the way till within 50 yards of home, when Amphion cut him down and won easily by three lengths, with The Rejected a similar distance off third, while the favourite finished seventh, the journey having been accomplished in 1 minute 46 1-5 seconds. Last year Minting covered the course in 1 minute 41 4-5 seconds. On the second day of the meeting the Royal Stakes, of 10,000 sovs., 1¼ mile, was decided, and only seven out of the 240 entrants took part in the race, viz., Duke of Portland's b c Ayrshire, by Hampton—Atalanta, 4 years, 10st. 1lb., 1; Lord Calthorpe's ch f Seabreeze, by Isonomy—St. Marguerite, 4 years, 9st. 12lb., 2; Duke of Portland's b c Melanion, by Hermit—Atalanta, 3 years, 8st., 3; The Baron, by Xenophon—Tantrum, 10st. 12lb.; Friar's Balsam, by Hermit—Flower of Dorset, 9s. 12lb.; Royal Star, by George Frederick—North Star, 8st. 4lb.; and Wishing Gate, by Balfe or Tibthorp—Bide-a-wee, 7st. 11lb. Friar's Balsam was a strong favourite at 5 to 4 on; Melanion was next in request at 100 to 30; Ayrshire's price was 6 to 1; 10 to 1 was to be had about Seabreeze, and from 25 to 50 to 1 was available about the others. Friar's Balsam and Melanion were first away, but soon gave place to Royal Star, who held command for two-thirds of the journey, when Wishing Gate took up the running. Friar's Balsam was beaten at the bend, and Wishing Gate showed the way to the distance, where Ayrshire took charge of affairs, and was quickly joined by Seabreeze. Passing the stand the race was reduced to a match between the pair, but the filly could not get on equal terms, and Ayrshire won cleverly by three parts of a length from Seabreeze, with Melanion a bad third, while the favourite came home sixth, and The Baron was last throughout. Time, 2 minutes 15 1-5 seconds.

SYDNEY HUNT CLUB.

The hounds were out last Saturday for a light run, the rendezvous being at Parramatta railway station. In consequence of the Rosehill races, a comparatively small number assembled at the meet, but the party was made up of good jumping horses and hunting men. A move was made to Parramatta Park at about 3 o'clock, where the throw off took place. The drag, which was laid by Mr. Campbell on John Brown, and Master Williamson on Valentine, ran across country to the Western-road; and after a check midway, terminated at Walton's Hotel, on the Western-road. The special features of the run was the excellent jumping of the horses right through the spin, and the splendid manner in which the hounds ran and kept together. The weather was all that could be desired for hunting, and everyone who took part in the run was well satisfied with the afternoon's sport. Those present included Mr. Terry (the Master) on Cymbal, Mr. F. K. Waldron on Cracker, Mr. Moffat on Fletcher, Mr. G. B. Lloyd on Cremorne, Mr. F. C. Weston on Tullenbah, Mr. R. Barton on Unknown, Mr. C. V. Lamb on Bésique, Mr. A. Forrest on Asmodeus, Mr. C. Perry on Banjo, Mr. C. S. Oakes on Bambini, Mr. J. Hicks on Jack's the Lad, Mr. J. Bowes on Little Wonder, Mr. Campbell on John Brown, Mr. P. Driver (the secretary) on Joe, Master Eric Terry on Zoe, Master Williamson on Valentine, Luckey (the huntsman) on Rocket, and Clarke (the whip) on Snake. A dingo hunt takes place next Saturday at Blacktown on the arrival of the half-past 1 train from Sydney, and members are requested to muster in force.

THE MELBOURNE BETTING MARKET.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

Carbine was inquired for in the betting at the Victorian Club to-night. A thousand to 40 was taken about his chance, and afterwards the best offer was 1000 to 50. The other horses selected by early speculators were Mentor, Maxim, and Manton; about each of these 1000 to 30 was wanted, while 1000 to 40 was the best offer. On the Grand National Hurdle Race and Steeplechase there was not much activity. For the Hurdle Race, St. Louis, Boston, Elfrida, Ayrshire, Lord Harry, Incident, and Nooroo have been backed in doubles, the favourite horse the Steeplechase being Eaglet, though Corytheus, Sir Joshua, Flashlight, and Chandler have also been selected. The prices of the double are 100 to 1 to 100 to 2, "anyway not gone."

RIFLE MATCH AT PICTON.

CAMDEN, MONDAY.

The Camden R. R. Club met the Picton riflemen on the latter's range on Saturday, with the following results:—Camden, 777 points; Picton, 725. The scoring at 400 and 500 yards was very good, but at 600 yards the shooting was not so well, owing to the strong wind blowing.

FOOTBALL.

The following matches were played on Saturday:—

Ardsley and Glebe Albion met on the ground of the former at Moore Park. The game, which was a very fast one, resulted in a draw, each side scoring 6 points. For the Ardsley the points were scored by Slee and C. Chandler, who each obtained a try. S. Gregory also made himself conspicuous by his runs. For the Albions, the scorers were Brennan and Kent, who obtained a try each.

Glenmore and North Shore Clifton met at Paddington, when the former, though much the lighter team, were victorious by 6 points to nil. For the winners, Mitchell, H. Eedy, Bassetti, Curran, and Humfress worked well, Eedy securing both tries. Cates, Mountford, and T. Byrnes showed prominently for the losers.

Surrey and Croydon-Oriel played the return match on Croydon Park. Surrey won by 7 points to nil. For the Surreys Williams got a try, and Copp kicked a goal from the field.

NEW ZEALAND NATIVE FOOTBALLERS V. ARFOMA CLUB.

A match was played on Monday afternoon on the Association Cricket Ground between the New Zealand Native Footballers and the Arfomas, the result being a remarkably easy win for the visitors by 27 points to 3. The sole score obtained by the Arfomas was a try credited to Hale, who made a strong rush along the eastern wing, charged the full back, and touched down. H. Hillyar was brought down rather heavily in a run, one of his ribs being broken by the fall. New Zealand won the toss, and defended the southern goal, the wind being across the ground. Otway kicked off, and Taare knocked the ball out at the New Zealand 25. W. Wynyard rushed a pass very neatly, and a kick along the ground sent the ball over the line. There was a rush for the touch, but the defenders kicked it into touch in goal. The kick out was well followed up, and Arthur Warbrick fending well took the ball inside the Arfoma 25. A free kick for a throw on was punted badly, and F. Warbrick marked at easy distance. G. Williams took the place, but the ball went wide. Madigan ran from a pass, and was forced out inside the Arfoma 25. Taare got possession from a pass at close range, and ran in, Fallick tackling inside, but too late to prevent the try. Williams took the kick, but missed the goal. Nehua received from another scrimmage, but H. Hillyar secured. Off-side play gave a free to New Zealand, and Williams dropped for goal, but without success. Stewart carried the ball through the pack at the half-way, but H. Hillyar ran it back. Nehua made a good run from the half-way, his weight carrying him along until H. Hillyer stopped him. Taare ran across while an appeal for in-touch was pending, and he looked dangerous until Hale dropped him. After a scrimmage in the New South Wales territory Williams picked up and passed to Taare, who got in at the corner, Fallick going down with him. Williams once more failed in his shot at goal. A well-intentioned run by H. Hillyar was stopped by a foothold, which brought him down heavily. Keogh received from a scrimmage, but before he could make up his mind Hale smothered his effort. Hale then kicked well along the western wing, and H. Hillyar evading Williams's clutch, gained a lot of ground. The ball went out at the 25, or the New South Wales men would have had a chance to score. W. Wynyard ran the ball back, and tried a short punt for a follow on, but Fallick blocked him, although his kick in turn was smothered. H. Hillyar kicked the ball across off a free, and Keogh returned. The same player secured from a throw in, and punted well back, doing the same off a free. Taare ran the ball across, but went down before he could pass. Several scrimmages followed in the Arfoma 25, and Taare tried to get in, but was recalled on the line for holding. A kick along the ground from a scrimmage sent the ball over the Arfoma 25, and Madigan was well on the ball, but it went dead to the fence. Maynard was well up when Joe Warbrick returned from the kick out, but Fallick got it away at the eastern wing. H. Hillyar, who had been playing a good game, was obliged to retire at this stage with a broken rib, the result of a previous fall, and F. Hill played in his place. A scrimmage was formed at the Arfoma 25, and Tairoa dribbled up to the line, but Fallick ran the ball back. A packed scrimmage was formed on the defenders' line, but they dribbled it away and Setton punted forward and into touch. A return by Fallick was kicked back by Madigan, all on side. Madigan followed on and secured for a run in, but was forced out at the 25. Williams secured near the line and passed to Tairoa, who touched down. Nehua took the kick but did not score, half-time being then called. When the game was resumed the New Zealanders kicked off and Fallick returned. Madigan ran the ball down the wing splendidly and got past Fallick at the 25. F. Walker, however, pulled him down, but as he fell W. Wynyard secured and ran in. Maynard was entrusted with the ball and scored goal. After the kick off and return Madigan tried a short kick from a mark, but the ball was rushed, and Hale securing, went in at a great pace, and although Joe Warbrick tackled him Hale got over and touched. Fallick took the kick, but did not score. After the kick-out Hale dribbled, and Joe Warbrick missed when he went down to block the dribble. Hale dribbled on, but a push sent him over, and Madigan kicked the ball to the fence dead. When it was kicked out Joe Warbrick had to defend again, but he ran well, and passed to W. Wynyard, who carried the ball out. A kick by F. Walker sent the ball over the line, and Madigan saved, the ball having struck the corner flag and gone into touch. Fitzgerald made a serviceable run, and Tairoa dribbled the ball back nearly the whole length of the ground. Otway was too far forward and was unable to block the rush, but Fallick dropped on the ball near the line. Keogh then picked up and secured the touch, Maynard kicking a difficult goal. Elphinstone made a weak pass, and the ball went out. Keogh made his first good run, and Hale brought the ball back from the line, but lost at the half-way. He secured again and got the ball to the 25, where a loose kick sent it over, and Alf. Warbrick kicked it to the fence, a dead ball. Fallick, Tairoa, and Madigan exchanged long shots, and Fitzgerald, after dribbling well picked, up, and got to the line before he was forced out. Arthur Wynyard ran near the centre and passed to Wynyard, who lost, but picked up again and passed to Taare, who touched down. Maynard took the kick, but did not score. Keogh passed to Madigan at the 25 after the kick-out. Madigan returned to him, and Keogh made another good run up to the line, where he was tackled. A pass from Williams gave the ball to W. Wynyard, who made a good run and got in. Maynard took the kick and scored goal. Time was called shortly afterwards, the scores being—New Zealanders 27, Arfoma 3.

LACROSSE.

The Redfern Lacrosse Club journeyed to Parramatta on Saturday last to try conclusions with the Mohicans of Granville, and an exciting game resulted in a draw, each side scoring one goal. For the Redfern, Noske's (captain), Matthew's, and L. Byrnes played best; while for the Mohicans, Lord (captain), Dawes, Tyler, and Beston showed excellent form.

PEDESTRIANISM.

We are informed that a new running ground is to be opened in a couple of months' time at Forest Lodge, near the tram terminus, under the title of the Lillie Bridge Electric Light Athletic Grounds. The site is occupied at present by Eager's Centennial running tracks. The new venture, when completed and fully equipped, will cost £10,000, and no efforts will be spared to make the grounds attractive to the public and to pedestrians.

Entries for the Carrington July Handicap close to-night at 8 o'clock.

TYPHOID.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The article you published some few days ago on this important subject by "Vive ut Vivas," does not appear to have attracted the attention which might have been expected to result from a thoughtful and well-considered letter upon a subject of such vital importance to us all at the present time. Whilst agreeing in the main with the writer, there are some points in his letter which in my opinion merit fuller consideration and discussion. It might almost be inferred from his second paragraph that "Vive ut Vivas" regarded the "faithfully built houses" and "rose scented drawing-rooms" as being more liable to outbreaks of typhoid than the filthy slums he so vividly depicts; but statistics prove beyond all question that the rate of mortality from these diseases is much higher in such slums than elsewhere, to say nothing of the lowered vitality and liability to other diseases of their inhabitants. Still the fact remains that outbreaks of typhoid do at times occur in the last places they would most naturally be expected, and I presume it is to these cases your correspondent refers. Sanitary science has made such progress during the last 10 years that nothing can now be easier than to put and maintain any premises in a condition to ensure the health of the inmates, so far as regards immunity from typhoid, &c., being originated on the premises, provided that sufficient facility is afforded for the rapid removal of all refuse from the immediate neighbourhood of the dwelling; but where no draining exists, this is only possible if sufficient land is attached to the dwelling to receive and purify the whole of the liquid refuse. Where such facilities exist, there is no excuse for typhoid or other preventible disease originating on the premises, nor for an isolated case, which might be imported from elsewhere, disseminating the specific poison of the disease to other inmates of the dwelling or to their neighbours. There are, however, especially in the low-lying portions of the suburbs of Sydney, thousands of houses where under existing conditions no amount of precaution on the part of the inmates can secure even for themselves immunity from this dread scourge. Small unventilated houses crowded together in low-lying situations more or less under water in times of heavy rain, possessing no facility for drainage, with mere apologies for back yards, upon which, thanks to municipal regulations—or want of regulations—all the slops and washing water has to be emptied. Closets stuck close under the back door of the dwelling and only emptied once a week—if so often—how can such places be kept in a sanitary condition? Is it to be wondered at that typhoid constantly exists in these localities in a more or less aggravated form; or, considering the minute size and strong vitality of fever germs and the numerous ways in which they can be disseminated, is it not rather matter for surprise that the havoc wrought by this disease is not tenfold greater than it actually is? Individual effort can do but little in such districts, and I maintain that municipal authorities are directly responsible for the sickness, death, and misery occasioned by the unsanitary conditions which obtain to such an extent in our suburbs. It is the imperative duty of all municipal authorities to provide for the efficient drainage of every property in their districts, and, by stringent building regulations, to prevent the erection of houses where no such provision has been made.

In addition to the causes of contamination of water mentioned by "Vive ut Vivas," there is one to which but little attention is usually given, but which, from cases which have come under my own observation, I am satisfied is a fertile source of much sickness. I mean the deposit in rainwater tanks. Those receiving the rainwater from the roofs receive also a large amount of dirt, birds' nests, an occasional dead bird, and where cats are numerous—even more objectionable matter; these tanks in the majority of cases are allowed to go for years without being cleaned out, and the mass of decomposing animal and vegetable matter accumulated at the bottom exercises a most pernicious influence upon the health of those who drink the water, more especially as owing to the water being unusually bright and clear, and coming from what is commonly regarded as an uncontaminated source, the water is drunk unfiltered.

Of course, all drinking water should be filtered, but unless the filter employed is capable of fulfilling its function of purifying the water as well as freeing it from suspended earth, filtration is but a mockery, a delusion, and a snare. If subjected to careful examination and tests it will be found that few filters fulfil this condition after even a few months' work.

Boiling the milk is in my opinion of but little use, the only way to ensure immunity from infection through the milk supply is to place all dairies under strict supervision; any disease germs in or about a dairy (where butter is made) will be collected in great numbers in the cream exposed in the pans, to reappear ultimately in the butter, boiling is hardly applicable in this case, yet the butter represents a large proportion of the milk we consume.

This letter has extended to a much greater length than I had intended, and there are yet many points in connection with the subject to which I should like to have referred had your space permitted. In conclusion, however, I will merely instance the lowering of the death-rate in Adelaide since the deep-drainage system has been completed, as showing the saving of life which has resulted there from an intelligent application of sanitary principles.

When I took charge of the sewers in 1883, the main sewers were for the most part completed, but the great majority of the house connections were made in 1884 and the beginning of 1885. The following table shows the total number of deaths and the number due to typhoid and diarrhœal diseases in the Adelaide Registration District from 1882 to 1886:—

	Total Deaths.	Typhoid.	Deaths from other Diarrhœal Diseases.
1882	1752	82	174
1883	1604	62	176
1884	1710	88	179
1885	1332	46	124
1886	1380	40	76

For the three years previous to the completion of the sewerage work, the average annual mortality from typhoid and diarrhœal diseases amounted to 247, which was reduced to 143 as soon as the system of house connection was established. This result would have been even more striking but for the fact that the Adelaide Registration District includes some of the suburbs which are not yet connected, and in which, consequently, the normal rate of mortality was unaltered. As these figures apply to a population of only about 120,000, and as during the five years instanced there was no outbreak of typhoid, &c., at all comparable in severity with that from which we have been suffering in these suburbs for the past 12 months, I conclude that at least 500 deaths occur here annually through the neglect or incompetence of those whose duty it is to provide the facilities for putting our dwellings into a proper sanitary condition. Of these deaths possibly one-third might have been avoided had each householder done his or her duty in maintaining the sanitary condition of their individual dwellings.

POSTS AND RAILS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Of what use or advantage in any way are the iron posts and railings which line the outer kerb of the pavement fronting the Town Hall and St. Andrew's Cathedral, and of what prospective service can they be to justify their being retained where they are for a single day? It is a small thing that they impede the traffic. Anyone with an eye passing along the roadway on the opposite side of the street will see that they do much worse than that—they impede and spoil the view both of the Cathedral and Town Hall, buildings which are sufficiently noble and beautiful to justify the removal of any obstruction that would hinder a full view of them. In a minor degree one might apply the same observations to the posts and rails which front the A. J. S. Bank in George-street. I am, &c.,

June 24. GEORGE WHITE.

It is estimated that 120 yards of fallen roof will have to be pierced before the spot where the Newcastle miners are supposed to be entombed will be reached, and that 30 yards of roof will have to be passed before the body of the miner Pettitt is recovered. Signals have been sounded, but no response was heard. It is feared that none of the men will be rescued alive.

We presume that the London telegram published yesterday on the subject of the departure of the Australian mails from Adelaide reports the result of the interview which was to be held on Thursday last between the Postmaster-General and the Agents-General of the colonies. As to the alteration of the day from Mondays to Thursdays, Mr. Raikes, whose eloquence is of a monotonous kind, repeats his wearisome iteration of non possumus. He promises, however, to do his best to secure a change to Wednesday, "after consulting with the Indian postal authorities and the commercial community." The Monday departures are not so great a source of inconvenience to South Australia as to the Eastern colonies, and Sir Arthur Blyth was able to assent at once to the Wednesday proposal, which would serve Adelaide as well as Thursday, and far better than Saturday. Wednesday would also suit the circumstances of Victoria, and Sir Graham Berry was therefore able to concur. Sir Saul Samuel, however, thought it expedient to telegraph to Sydney for instructions, for so far as we are concerned Thursday would be a better day. But, if the steamers left Adelaide on the afternoon or evening of Wednesday, letters written in Sydney on Monday would be in time for despatch, and probably no very great embarrassment would be incurred in arranging business to fit the circumstances. For Queensland, mails leaving Adelaide on Wednesday would involve about as much loss of time as the Monday mails, and it is not surprising, therefore, that Mr. Archer also resolved to consult his principals.

It is possible that the public generally may consider the importance attached to this matter in the Eastern colonies exaggerated. Men of business, however, understand that it is not so. To them time is money, and an arrangement which causes their letters to lie idle at Adelaide for some fifty-two hours, between the time of their arrival there on the Saturday until the mail steamer carries them away on the Monday, means a considerable pecuniary loss. When hundreds of thousands of pounds are remitted by mail, an avoidable charge of two days' interest is not a matter to be quietly accepted. But in other ways besides this a delay of a couple of days must be a cause of serious inconvenience in these times when business is conducted at high pressure. The Orient Company, it has been stated, would agree to an alteration of the day of departure from Adelaide. The P. and O. Company, however, is interested in so working the Australian mails as to make them fit in with the India and China services, and the Monday departure has been arranged partly for the accomplishment of that purpose. On the other hand, the mercantile and financial people in London would lose money and suffer inconvenience if the mail service were so arranged as to cause the delivery of the letters to them to take place on Saturdays, and they of course are as anxious as we are that no alteration in the arrangements should be made which would expose them to the risk or the certainty of losing money in this manner. There is reason to assume, therefore, that the persistent opposition of the Postmaster-General to the repeated applications from the colonies for a change is the result of pressure from these sources. He can have no personal interest in taking this attitude, but it is probable that he has a very lively sense of the influence of those whose interests are served by the present system, and that this has given him a tendency to under-estimate the importance of the interests on our side. Hence, as we are now informed, he makes the contingency of a change even to Wednesday dependent upon a consultation with the Indian postal authorities and the commercial community of London.

But whatever may be Mr. Raikes's estimate of the relative magnitude of the different parties concerned in this service, the Australian colonies have a right to say that as they pay nearly half the expense they cannot submit to have their legitimate interests set aside for the purpose of accommodating the interests of other people. In a joint affair of this description there must almost of necessity be a certain amount of compromise, but there is a distinction between justifiable compromise and a cool assumption that if Australian interests come into collision with those of the Indian postal authorities and the London mercantile community, Australian interests must necessarily go under. There are six working days in the week, and when it is seen that the choice of Monday as a departure day involves considerable inconvenience and loss for the Eastern colonies of Australia, it would be absurd to say "Let them bear the loss." The true course is to find some other day which would more or less fully serve the interests of all parties. It cannot be admitted that the convenience of the P. and O. Company should be the dominant consideration. Desirable as it may be for the company that its three services should dovetail into each other, that is not altogether a question of departure days, but to a certain extent one of steaming.

And finally the question presents itself in this aspect—Are not the Australian colonies, with their actually large and steadily growing population, trade, and correspondence, in a position to insist upon having a mail service arranged with a primary regard to their interests? They are able to pay for such a service, and they are entitled to have it. If the P. and O. Company cannot work such a service in conjunction with the India and China mails, perhaps some other company could manage to do the business. But it is not to be taken for granted that the company would lightly relinquish its hold upon the trade of Australia. The contract is not actually confirmed, but it is hardly to be supposed that after the expenditure which has been incurred, with the view of securing its effective execution, the whole business would be thrown over in preference to effecting a reasonable compromise in the matter of fixing the day of departure from Adelaide.

There are some curious features about the political crisis in South Australia. The Playford Ministry has been defeated in the Assembly on a direct motion of want of confidence by 26 votes to 23, and has resigned. There is nothing remarkable in the overthrow of a Ministry, for Governments in these colonies are seldom long-lived; but in this case the circumstances are peculiar. The Ministry, which had been in office about two years, met Parliament a fortnight ago with a programme set forth in the usual way in the Governor's Speech. There was some talk about an amendment on the Address-in-Reply, but when the time came the leader of the Opposition, Sir John Downer, had no amendment to move, and a resolution approving of the policy of the Government was carried without a division, and almost without discussion. But scarcely had the House declared its satisfaction with the Ministerial proposals when a mine was sprung by the Opposition. Sir John Downer resigned the leadership, and Dr. Cockburn, stepping into the position, gave notice of a direct motion of want of confidence, expressed in this simple language:—"That this House is dissatisfied with the present Government." This motion placed the Opposition in a singular position. It had practically approved of the Ministerial policy by allowing the Address-in-Reply to go without objection, and yet it was invited by its new leader to say that it was not satisfied with the Government. The result has already been stated.

What is the meaning of this apparently inexplicable proceeding? The explanation seems to be, that when the time arrived for Sir John Downer to take action he did not feel sure of success, and therefore shrank from the responsibility of moving an amendment on the Address. When Dr. Cockburn took command, noses were counted with encouraging results, and the attack was delivered without further hesitation. It is easy to see through this party manœuvring, but when we come to consider what are the grounds upon which the Ministry has been turned out of office considerable difficulty is experienced. The Playford Ministry has done good work. It has managed to deal with legislation which the previous Government was unable to cope with, and it has accomplished the most difficult of all tasks, the reduction of the public expenditure. "They undertook," we are told, "to place the finances on a sound footing, and have achieved such success that last year they had a very large surplus, and this year, in spite of one of the most disastrous seasons ever known, they will be able to close without a deficit; and this too, they have accomplished in the face of an additional demand upon the Exchequer within the two years at the rate of about £80,000 per annum for interest on fresh loans." Our Governments have got into trouble by reason of extravagant expenditure, leading to a heavy deficit, but the experience of our neighbours seems to show that a Ministry may be highly successful in its management of the finances, and yet unable to keep its position. Possibly the severe economy practised by Mr. Playford has contributed to his downfall. Ministers are always ready to preach economy, but they are not so ready to carry their precepts into effect. Their hesitation is quite natural, for although the House may demand retrenchment as with one voice, when the shoe pinches members are likely enough to turn upon those who have to do the cutting down. Mr. Playford and his colleagues have retrenched, as they were instructed to do, and it is not at all improbable that they are now paying the penalty for too faithfully discharging their trust.

Of course, there is an indictment. Indeed it is a very sweeping one, but the speeches of the leader of the Opposition and his supporters scarcely sustain it. In closing his address Dr. Cockburn declared that the Ministry had infringed the privileges of the House, and disregarded the legitimately expressed views of the majority of the members. He further charged them with impairing the efficiency of the Civil Service and degrading the positions of individual members connected with it, and he went on to say that "they have been guilty of gross maladministration of the Crown Lands Department; they, although so-called protectionists, and sailing under the protectionist flag, have hampered the development of the industries of the colony; they have failed to originate any measures for the advancement of the country; they have treated the affairs of South Australia as the affairs of a bankrupt estate in liquidation rather than as the affairs of a young and vigorous country fraught with the destinies of a great nation." The Ministry was described as an incubus, and was accused of bringing about a "reign of terror" in the colony. In fact there were in Dr. Cockburn's peroration of 30 or 40 lines a sufficient number of charges, provided that they were well founded, to overwhelm twenty Ministries. But though the accusations look very serious on paper, there is not much reality about them when they come to be examined; they were stated to the House with much vehemence, but scarcely any evidence was brought forward in support of them. The sin which the leader of the Opposition seemed to regard as the most inexcusable of all was the disregard by the Ministry of the "legitimately-expressed views of the majority of the members of the House." The reference here is to the refusal of the Government to convene an extra session of Parliament to consider the proposal to grant seed wheat to the farmers. The Government did not approve of granting assistance of this kind to the farmers, and would have nothing to do with the proposal in any shape or form. If an extra session had been convened it is probable that the farmers would have got their wheat, although some members who signed the memorial asking the Government to convene Parliament for the consideration of the question say that they would have voted against the grant. The action of the Government in this matter was a great disappointment to the farmers, and it displeased, of course, the representatives of the agricultural constituencies. There can be no doubt that this question has had something to do with the hostile vote, but, at the same time, the personal element appears to be largely responsible for the crisis. The Ministry has not been turned out upon any question of policy. It is the administration that is complained of, and there is probably no instance in politics in which the conduct of affairs by the "Ins" has been approved of by the "Outs."

Altogether, the position in South Australia is anything but satisfactory. For one thing, it is declared, as will be seen from the telegram of our correspondent in another column, that the country is with the Ministry. If this is so, its ejectment from office is a wrong to the community, and a wrong that cannot be righted, at least not at present. Under the circumstances, Mr. Playford was unable to advise a dissolution of Parliament; and even if the country is favourable on the whole to the late Ministry, Dr. Cockburn and those who take office with him may be able to secure their seats. But though the new Government may meet with no difficulty in the constituencies, it will not occupy a very enviable position in the Assembly. Taking the division list on the motion of want of confidence, it can only count on a majority of three, and its existence must therefore be a precarious one from the start. It looks as though South Australia, after enjoying a period of repose, were about to enter upon a season of political turmoil.

A telegram we published yesterday conveys the information that the treaty decided on by the Berlin Conference provides for the reinstatement of Malietoa as King. This is an important thing for the islands, more important than appears upon the surface. It will be wondered that Germany should consent to this condition. The reason for it, however, is not so far to find. Of the two Germany preferred Malietoa to Mataafa, for Mataafa, able, intelligent, and popular as he is, is believed to be more or less under French influence, owing to his adherence to the French Mission Church in the islands. Germany would not tolerate anything French, and if the truth were known it is probable, as our Special Commissioner to Samoa pointed out a few months ago, that the persistent attempts on the part of Germany to bring Mataafa to his knees were influenced by European motives. However that may be, the solution arrived at is the best that could have occurred for the islands. It will satisfy the natives, and it will relieve the minds of many foreigners, who, much as they trusted Mataafa, were afraid also of the advance of French influence. But Germany has yielded all her old points; and it says much for the spirit in which the delegates of the three nations approached their work that such a satisfactory settlement of one portion of the difficulty should be arranged. Nothing that Germany has done in the South Seas was so indefensible as the deportation of Malietoa. It was unnecessary, it was cruel, it was without precedent. In the eyes of Prince Bismarck it had no doubt the appearance of a robust colonial policy, but it was such a policy as was calculated to ruin the reputation of Germany as a colonising power. Malietoa will find on his return his chiefs and the majority of the people loyal to him; and under the new form of government he should be able to preserve in peace his little kingdom, particularly since it is probable the land claims—a fertile source of foreign disaffection—will be at last settled. Now that Germany has come to see what is a reasonable policy to pursue, it is to be hoped that she will stick to it. She can be a capital friend and neighbour when she likes.

The democratic-minded may take comfort in the fact that the laws are "for dukes and earls and a' that," as well as for ordinary folk. Chief Justice Coleridge, our cables informed us yesterday, has issued an order compelling a magistrate to hear the charge of assault set forth against the Duke of Cambridge. It seems that the Duke struck a reporter of the New York Sun at a function where the crowd were pressing upon the Princess of Wales, and the reporter endeavoured to take out a summons against his Royal Highness. No magistrate, however, would issue one, and the reporter appealed to the Chief Justice with the result recorded. We are getting used to hearing of young lords being in the dock; we had an example of that the other day in the case of Lord Dudley, Lord Lurgan, and Lord Henry Paulet, who were brought up on a charge of being frequenters of a gambling club; but we have not seen before this the spectacle of Royalty at a bar of that kind. History makes a good deal of a certain Chief Justice Gascoigne, who had the pluck to administer punishment to riotous Prince Hal of Monmouth, and we have dramatic visions of Charles at Whitehall, and Louis under the condemnation of the Convention, but they are now far away. It will be an event for the future Froudes and Greens and Freemans to record that a Duke of Royal blood and the Commander-in-Chief of the British army was brought before a Bow-street Court, in the words of Captain Swift, like "a common colonial criminal." The village Hampdens are many in these pushing days, and there are few that would do as the countryman did who, when a certain noble Earl struck him—brought his envious brother also, an hour after, that he might be struck by the hand of the quality as well. Fiction or not, the day when such things were even possible is over, and "the divinity that doth hedge a king," or any of the Royal family, is becoming the anvil of a democratic, and many will say an "enlightened," iconoclasm. If his Royal Highness broke the law, he no doubt will share the feelings of his relative the Prince of Wales, who said, "We are all Socialists at heart," and be glad of the opportunity to pay the penalty of the law.

We regret to learn that, owing to severe indisposition, Mrs. Fairfax will be unable to lay the foundation-stone of the Royal Naval House, and therefore Lady Carrington has very kindly consented to act for her.

After the 11 questions on the business paper of the Legislative Assembly for to-day, Government matters will take precedence over those standing in the name of private members. It is expected that the Premier will move a resolution expressing regret at the death of Mr. John Sutherland, and of condolence with his relatives. Mr. M'Millan will move the suspension of so much as is necessary of the Standing Orders, with a view to passing the Temporary Supply Bill through all its stages in one day. The first order of the day is the consideration in committee of the expediency of bringing in a bill to provide for the formation of Post Office-street. The second order of the day is the further consideration in committee of the Crown Lands Bill, beyond which it is not likely the House will proceed.

Mr. Brunker, Minister for Lands, sat as a Court of Appeal under the Crown Lands Act of 1884, in the Engineering Association Rooms, O'Connell-street, yesterday. The cases dealt with numbered 50, and they were almost exclusively of a formal character.

The case against the Hon. John Davies, C.M.G., M.L.C., which was to have been heard at the Water Police Court yesterday, has been postponed until Monday next, owing to the inability of Mr. J. H. Want, Q.C., who has been retained for the defence, to be present, that gentleman being engaged in a case at the higher court. The information against Mr. Davies was laid by Sub-inspector Hyam on the 14th instant. In it there are three specific charges of embezzlement of certain valuable securities, to wit, warrants and orders for the payment of £26 17s. 3d., £33 5s. 2d., and £52 3s. 1d.

The Premier has forwarded to the Colonial Secretary of Queensland the report of Mr. B. Lee, the magistrate who tried the case of the sisters Lynch at the Water Police Court, with regard to the decision in the matter. The report is not accompanied by any minute or document from Sir Henry Parkes.

Mr. Fehon, Railway Commissioner, has received from his colleagues, Messrs. Eddy and Oliver, a telegram intimating that they have reached Cobar from Brewarrina. They left Nyngan at daybreak yesterday, and reached Cobar early in the afternoon.

The annual commemoration of St. John's College (within the University) took place yesterday afternoon. Cardinal Moran, the Visitor of the College, presided, and delivered an address. There was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen.

The first case on the list for No. 1 Jury Court yesterday was that of Want versus Moss and wife, which may be termed a second edition of the now well-known dispute in regard to the plaintiff's claim to uninterrupted use and occupation of the Theatre Royal O. P. Box. A former action, brought mainly to establish the legal right of the plaintiff to the box in question, was, on appeal, decided by the Full Court in his favour, and the present action is to recover damages for the obstruction offered by Miss Lazar, before her marriage with the male defendant, to the plaintiff's occupation of the box. The case was not concluded when the Court adjourned. In the No. 2 Jury Court, the jury in the action by the Oatley's Estate Company versus Myles M'Rae, to recover damages for breach of a building covenant, returned a verdict for the plaintiffs, with damages £745, in addition to the £5 paid into court by the defendant. In the next part-heard case, that of Harris v. Bowman, in which plaintiff sued for money lent and interest, the jury returned a verdict in favour of the defendant. The action Meyer v. Cowper was then proceeded with. The action is one brought by the plaintiff, Oscar Meyer, against Charles Cowper, sheriff, to recover compensation for certain misconduct of which plaintiff alleged that the defendant's bailiff had been guilty while in possession of the plaintiff's premises at Balmain under a writ of fi. fa. The case was not concluded when the Court adjourned. Mr. Justice Foster sat in Chambers in the morning, but all the cases of interest were postponed.

His Honor the Chief Justice sat as Judge Commissary in the Vice-Admiralty Court yesterday to hear the cross actions between the owners of the steamships Eurimbla and Kurrara, arising out of a collision while the vessels named were entering the Heads on the evening of the 8th of May last. The taking of evidence lasted all day, and had not concluded when the Court adjourned.

An important Masonic ceremonial took place yesterday evening at the New Masonic Hall, when his Excellency the Governor was formally installed as Master of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales. The ceremony of installation was performed by P.G.W. Dr. Wm. Sedgwick, in the presence of about 300 brethren, and at the conclusion of the ceremony Lord Carrington delivered a brief address, a full report of which will be found elsewhere.

At the invitation of the directors of the New South Wales Poudrette and Ammonia Manufacturing Company a large and representative number of gentlemen assembled at the company's works, Rickety-street, North Botany, yesterday afternoon, to witness the company's patent process in operation for the conversion of nightsoil into manure without nuisance. A cart of soil, thoroughly deodorised, was operated upon, and Mr. W. A. Dixon explained the nature of the process. Scarcely any bad odour could be smelled in the building, and the company insist that the soil be deodorised before it is brought to the works. The process is M'Ivor's patent, and altogether the sum of about £5000 has been spent in erecting the machinery and in other expenses. An adjournment was made to a large marquee, where Mr. E. W. Foxall, chairman of the directors, explained the objects that the company had in view. Mr. Graham, Mayor of Marrickville, after alluding to the difficulties which the municipalities had experienced in getting rid of the nightsoil, and the positive waste in allowing it to be carried to sea, when it ought to be fertilising the land, proposed the toast of "Success to the Poudrette and Ammonia Manufacturing Company," which was enthusiastically drunk. Messrs. J. P. Howe, M.L.A., W. Crispin, J. Coward, J. J. Macfadyn, J. R. Dacey, Mayors of Redfern, Darlington, North Botany, Botany, and Alexandria respectively, D. Davis, and S. Burdekin, M.L.A., also addressed the gathering.

The Minister for Works has arranged that the offices of the Public Works Department shall be closed from 1 p.m. on Thursday, the funeral day of the late Hon. John Sutherland, to enable the officials to show a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased.

The friends of Rev. S. Wilkinson will regret to learn that in the beginning of last week he had a rather serious accident. When returning from a visit to a sick family and descending the steep wooden steps at the south end of the Ashfield railway station, he missed his footing and fell headlong upon the platform. Though severely bruised and sprained, he happily escaped extreme injury.

The prizes won at the School Children's Exhibition, Parramatta, were handed over to the successful competitors on Saturday night by Mr. R. H. De Bow, President of the School of Arts. A "Bruce" auction was also held. The gross receipts of the effort amount to about £250, and, as the expenses have been kept down, over £200 will be available for the fund to pay off a portion of the debt on the School of Arts. In the exhibition was a comic pen-and-ink sketch by a Granville Public school boy, the title being "The Boy who thought it easy to say Boo to a Goose."

It will be seen by our obituary notices that Dr. Patrick M'Donagh, one of the best known medical men in Sydney, died at his residence, Macquarie-street, yesterday. He was born in county Fermanagh, Ireland, on November 13, 1826, and after being admitted into the ranks of the medical protitioners be settled for a time at Cape Town, and afterwards proceeded to Melbourne. After a short residence in that city Dr. M'Donagh came on to Sydney, where he has resided for very many years. He was long connected with the Sydney Hospital, and was surgeon to the Volunteer Artillery forces of the colony. The doctor took a warm interest in educational and charitable matters, and in the time of Archbishop Vaughan he had an active part in the measures that were taken for the building of St. Mary's Cathedral.

"OBSERVER" writes with reference to the Water and Sewerage Board that he had occasion to visit their offices yesterday and was put to some expense and much inconvenience thereby, because of the arrangement of having a place, which is used by the whole community, in such an out-of-the-way district. He is surprised to learn on the best authority that most centrally-situated premises, pre-eminently suitable, and at a most moderate rental, had been offered to and refused by the board.

MR. MATTHEW BURNETT, at the invitation of many of the temperance people of Sydney, has consented to conduct a mission in this city and suburbs.

THE following is the report of the Sydney Hospital for the week ended June 22, 1889:—Admitted, 42 males, 19 females; discharged, 45 males, 12 females; died, 3 males, 1 female; remaining, 158 males, 95 females. Casualties treated but not admitted, 721.

THE following is the report for the week ended June 22 of the number of pauper patients under treatment in the metropolitan hospitals at the Government expense:—Coast Hospital—Admissions, 19 males, 6 females; discharges, 12 males, 11 females; deaths, 1 male; number remaining, 135 males, 78 females. Sydney Hospital—Admissions, 17 males, 8 females; discharges, 17 males, 5 females; number remaining, 63 males, 53 females. THE MINISTERIAL CRISIS IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

RESIGNATION OF THE PLAYFORD ADMINISTRATION.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, MONDAY.

The Playford Government held a Cabinet meeting this morning, and decided to resign in consequence of the adverse vote in the Assembly on Saturday morning. The Premier, at 11.20 a.m., attended at Government House, and handed in the resignation of his Administration. This was accepted by Lord Kintore, who, acting upon the advice of Mr. Playford, subsequently sent for Dr. Cockburn, who at once undertook the task of forming a new Administration. He promised to report progress to-morrow morning. Dr. Cockburn anticipates that he will have no great difficulty in getting a team together, and it is probable he will be able to announce the result to the House tomorrow. It is very likely he will ask for an adjournment until Thursday, by which date he hopes to have formed a Government. Before announcing the names they will be submitted to a meeting of his party. The Playford Government have received numerous expressions by telegrams from various parts, regretting their defeat, and promising support in the event of an appeal to the country.

THE QUEENSLAND MAIL SERVICE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BRISBANE, MONDAY.

The Postmaster-General has received a telegram from the Agent-General intimating that the Imperial Post Office authorities have notified that the fourpenny rate for letters by the all-sea route via Torres Straits to Queensland will come into operation on the 1st of August. This Government established a fourpenny rate for homeward letters over eight years ago, but the home Government has hitherto refused to establish a similar outward rate, on the ground of the arrangements with France and Italy for the overland transit of mails. The Imperial Office also propose to include twopenny post cards via Torres Straits.

A cablegram has also been received from Mr. Archer in reference to the proposal of Mr. Raikes to make Wednesday the day of departure for the mails from Adelaide. The matter is now under consideration by the Postmaster-General. If Wednesday is fixed it will cause some inconvenience here, as the mails will have to be despatched on Friday evening, there being no Southern mail train on Saturday night.

AN ENCOUNTER WITH NATIVES.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

THURSDAY ISLAND, MONDAY.

A Frenchman named Louie, and an European partner, who arrived from the Kaitow River on Saturday, report having had a severe engagement with the Tabooras or Throat Cutters, on the evening of the sixth or seventh instant. A native woman, a resident of the locality, when out gathering fruit, discovered the Tabooras to be in the neighbourhood. She returned hastily to the European camp in great terror. The party, consisting of Louie, his partner, a native missionary, and a native chief, prepared their firearms. They withdrew from their habitations and planted themselves behind the trees. They sent the woman out again as a decoy. This had the desired effect, bringing the Tabooras within range just before dark. When the enemy were within close quarters, Louie's party opened fire with terrible effect. They report having killed nearly 50, but probably the number is considerably exaggerated. They captured two alive, who will be brought here in the cutter Mary. The Taboores are the same tribe of wandering natives, who, about three months ago cut off Martin's head. Martin was a partner of Louie's.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

SPEECH BY THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JUNE 24.

The Emperor Francis Joseph, in addressing the Austro-Hungarian Delegations, assured the deputies that the foreign policy of the Empire was unchanged. The continued increase in the warlike forces elsewhere compelled Austria to perfect her means of defence. The European situation remained uncertain. Austria was in complete unison with the allies, and it was hoped that peace would be preserved. The Emperor regretted the abdication of King Milan; but he expressed the hope that the prudence and patriotism of the Servians would be the means of averting serious danger. He rejoiced in the steady progress which was being made in Bulgaria.

THE TURF SCANDAL.

A JOCKEYS' RING.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JUNE 23.

In connection with the arbitration in the turf dispute between Sir George Chetwynd and the Earl of Durham, Major Egerton asserts that he suggested that an inquiry should be held into Fullerton's running. He further declares that a ring of jockeys was formed, of which there were seven members, and four of these jockeys are still riding.

Fullerton was one of Sir George Chetwynd's horses, a br h. by Fouchet—Caroline. He won the City and Suburban Handicap at the Epsom Spring meeting last year, the Stockbridge Cup (June, 1888), and the Bunbury Plate of the Newmarket July meeting. Under the ownership of Lord Dudley, he won the July Cup at the same meeting, and the Victoria Cup of the Kempton Park meeting last July.

THE COLLISION OFF WILLIAMSTOWN.

THE SINKING OF THE CAPE VERDE.

A SENSATIONAL AFFAIR.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The Cape Verde's cargo consisted of about 3700 tons, mostly general merchandise, but including, besides ammunition, 1100 quarter-casks of gunpowder. The captain of the Cape Verde reached deck just before the collision, and said he felt sick as he saw the Iolanthe bearing direct for the magazine and he recollected the quantity of explosives on board. She sheered off just before the vessels struck. Sparks from the concussion flew in showers; if the Iolanthe had struck the magazine there must have been a terrible explosion. The Iolanthe is a ship of 1593 tons, Captain Stanton, from Liverpool. Her cargo, merchandise, hull, and spars suffered considerably. She was in charge of Pilot Gafford at the time. She dropped anchor immediately after the collision.

The deck of the sunken vessel, Cape Verde, broke this afternoon, when the main hatch was washed away, and some cargo, including bottled beer, barrels, shell fuses, and gunpowder, was washed afloat. The Iolanthe has removed to an anchorage near the Port Melbourne pier. She is badly damaged in both bows, but temporary repairs have been effected, stopping the leakage. The officers disclaim all responsibility, as the vessel was in charge of Pilot T. Gafford. The Merchant Shipping Underwriters' Association held a meeting to-day with reference to the Cape Verde. The cargo was insured in the offices represented for £15,000. It was agreed that a diver be sent to ascertain the condition of the vessel. When that has been done action will be taken with a view of recovering as much of the cargo as possible. Captain Mitchell thinks the damage done to the Cape Verde is exaggerated. He believes that large holes are made in her sides, but that the port-quarter is not cut away, as stated by the chief officer. An inquiry will shortly be held by the Marine Board. The pilot had only recently recovered after several months' illness, resuming duty a week or two ago. The wind to-day shifted to the south, bringing up nearly as heavy sea as during the recent heavy gale.

The Iolanthe left Liverpool on March 30, carrying a full cargo of railway iron and general merchandise. On June 10, in long. 1·07 E., lat. 40· S., a heavy gale was encountered and a fearful sea was shipped, carrying away the forward skids, and damaging the boats. Nothing else noteworthy occurred till the collision, in which the upper and lower foretopsail yards were carried away. The jibboom was snapped off near the cap. The port anchor, with about 60 fathoms of cable, disappeared. The vessel to-day was towed to the inner anchorage, and will be berthed at the Railway Pier.

The only explanation of the collision is that the lights of the Cape Verde and the Falls of Foyers, which were lying almost parallel with their heads to the wind, showed as one as the Iolanthe approached, and when the mistake was discovered it was too late to avert the calamity.

One lip was torn away, and she had received bruises and injury to the right hip, and also general concussion. When the train reached Spottiswood the door of a first-class carriage was wide open. At the same time the Government were anxious to give every possible advantage to the farmers without seriously injuring any other class.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, MONDAY.

The high prices ruling for sugar have led the planters to start crushing this month earlier than they would have done under ordinary circumstances. At Windermere, Bundaberg, a start was made last week, and other planters are making preparations to get a part of their crops in, and on to the high market, while the present prices rule in the Southern markets. No drop can be expected here, but it may be fairly considered that the top price has been reached.

Mr. Wragge, in his forecast to-night, says:—New South Wales: Chiefly fine in the northern, central, and western districts; still showery and unsettled in the south-east and along the coast south from Smoky Cape. Sleet and some snow is probable on the southern mountains. Winds, chiefly between S.W. and S., blowing fresh in nasty squalls on Gabo, where the sea will be rough. Victoria still squally and showery, especially in the southern districts, with sleet on mountains. The conditions, however, are improving and becoming more settled. Sea rough on Bass's Straits.

THE COLLIERY DISASTER.

THE MINERS STILL ENTOMBED.

THE RELIEF PARTY AT WORK.

MEETING OF MINERS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

The timbering of the crosscut was completed about 10 o'clock this morning. Since then operations have been carried out in connection with the removal of portion of the face of the fall. Altogether about 100 yards of timbering of the roof have been done since Saturday morning. What are called chocks have been built on each side of the crosscut. These chocks are constructed on the same principle as a pigstye, composed of very strong blocks of timber, in some cases flattened, and in others squared. The pieces of timber range from 18in. square down to 6in. square. Some of the chocks themselves occupy 8ft. square of ground, and others 3ft. square. This system of supporting a mine roof is considered by experts to have no equal. The chocks are from 2 to 5 yards apart. The relief party are now engaged in removing the face of the fall. It is understood that they will cut a kind of tunnel through the fallen rock and coal, and as they proceed will introduce chocks to carry the superincumbent weight. The material that is taken out of the fallen roof will be packed between the chocks already built, and will in that way contribute to the permanency of the roof of the crosscut. It is estimated that the miners will have to cut in at least 30 yards of the fallen roof before they can reach the spot where Herbert Pettit was last seen. It is also believed to be in contemplation to pierce the fallen mass a further distance of 80 yards, that being the spot where it is supposed some of the entombed miners are. It is probable that Murphy's heading will be driven into, with the object of reaching the entombed miners. Messrs. W. Turnbull, Alexander Ross, and Thomas Croudace, managers of the A. A. Company's Newcastle Collieries and the Lambton Colliery respectively, all concur in the opinion that there is not much likelihood of any one of the entombed men being found alive. One of the gentlemen mentioned thinks, nevertheless, that there is a bare possibility of the roof having fallen in such a way that some rocks getting below others have acted as supports to portions of the roof, thus leaving sufficient space for some of the imprisoned men to move about. An authoritative report is current that it is hoped the body of Herbert Pettit will be reached within the next 24 hours, but it is doubted by some of those who have been in the mine whether this hope will be realised. The creep—a miner's expression for indicating the precise nature of the fall that has taken place—continued up till between 4 and 6 o'clock this morning, at which time the peculiar noises which accompany such collapses were much less distinct than they had been.

Explorations have been made with the view of ascertaining whether it is possible to make a detour to either the right or the left of the crosscut to reach the vicinity where the miners are entombed, but without success. A proposal was also made to cut a drive from the Glebe workings of the Newcastle Company through the barrier that separates that company's mine from the western workings of the A. A. Company, but this proposal has been rejected as impracticable. A very rigid regulation against unauthorised miners going into the pit leading to the scene of the disaster has been in force. Mr. James Thompson, president of Miners' Association; Mr. James Curley, the miners' secretary, and Mr. William Hunter, the district treasurer, went to the mine on Saturday as a deputation, but the manager refused to allow them to go down. A meeting of the Borehole Lodge miners took place at Hamilton this morning, at which Mr. Curley, Mr. Edwd. Stobbs (secretary of the Borehole Lodge), and Mr. Wm. Roe were appointed a deputation to interview Mr. W. Turnbull, the manager of the A. A. Co. The deputation arrived between 11 and 12 o'clock. The object of their visit having been communicated to Mr. Turnbull, who has since the disaster remained night and day almost continuously underground superintending the relief operations, he sent up word that they might go down. The deputation spent four hours in the mine.

The adjourned meeting of miners was held at Hamilton at half-past 4, and the deputation gave in a report of what had transpired in the mine. Mr. Stobbs informed the meeting that Mr. Turnbull desired that work in the sea pit be commenced as early as possible, with a view to keeping the trade of the Sydney Gas Company. The old pit might be commenced whenever the miners chose. The Hamilton pit would remain idle: no men would be employed there other than those engaged in the recovery of the bodies. Mr. Curley then submitted a report of what the deputation had done. His report was in these terms:—The deputation, a little after 11 o'clock, descended the mine, and proceeded along the main engine road, up to the new pit crosscut, up to where the rescue party were at work. They noticed several 9ft. trees, set on the main road (64 in number), as well as several chocks built of well-seasoned timber, planked, and well packed, 33 in number. There was evidence of a tremendous crash having taken place. The place where the rescue party were at work was apparently quiet. Mr. Turnbull, the manager, stated that he was quite prepared to listen to any feasible suggestion for the release of the men entombed. Some discussion took place as to the barrier between the Newcastle Company's property and the cross-cut boundary heading of the A. A. Company's Hamilton pit. It was considered that owing to the distance to be driven 3½ chains, it would be futile to attempt anything in that direction. The deputation having expressed a wish to go to other parts of the works, Mr. Dixon, Inspector of Collieries, volunteered to take two of the deputation to any part of the available workings. Messrs. Curley, Stobbs, and Dixon then came back to number 5 road at the end of the main engine brow, and then travelled the new engine road on the old number 3 horse road. They explored the heading on either side and gave alarm sounds as they proceeded, but failed to elicit any reply. They travelled number 3 horse road on to Hodson's heading in the direction of the old galley horse roads, but could not get more than a distance of 100 yards on account of the terribly disturbed state of the roof, which was rending and falling at the time down the bords and across the headings. They then returned to the number three horse road end, and endeavoured to penetrate down Hodson's heading towards the main engine now in the Hamilton pit; but found that they could only advance about 40 yards, owing to the heading being blocked. While there the continued disturbance overhead was repeatedly noticed. They then came back to what is known as the long heading, this being the heading the seven survivors escaped from. They penetrated this heading about six bords along till they came to a large fall, which they did not go over owing to the rock overhead at the time renting and working, and being in a generally disturbed state. They travelled these bords both on the backs and face, and gave alarm sounds, but saw no one, nor was there any response. They lingered awhile, in hopes of being able to penetrate the old galley horse road, but found the disturbance in the rock was on the increase. They then returned to the main road. It was expected, Mr. Curley added, that under favourable circumstances, the locality where some of the bodies were supposed to be, would be reached in the course of 24 hours. There were about 18 men now employed in the mine, independent of the timber leaders. Some of the 18 men were patrollers along the main road to insure safety. He did not think he could add anything more at present with reference to that great calamity. If any one had any suggestion to make that would hasten the rescue of the unfortunate men entombed he would gladly undertake to convey it to Mr. Turnbull. Now some attention should be bestowed upon the families of the unfortunate men entombed. (Hear, hear.) He had no doubt the miners' committee would do all they could in that respect. Then he had no doubt the outside public were anxious to assist in every possible way in so laudable a work. Mr. Buchanan, Mayor of Newcastle, had that morning mentioned the matter to him, and had offered to assist, and he had no doubt they would receive the co-operation and assistance of the public. One of the first things they should do was, he thought, to appoint a sub-committee to inquire into the circumstances of those depending upon the men entombed in the mine. It was resolved to accept the offer of co-operation by the mayor, and Messrs. Andrews, Curren, and George Jones, with the mayor, were appointed a sub-committee to inquire into the circumstances of the bereaved.

Some conversation took place as to the desirableness of organizing search parties in addition to those already at work in the mine, and reference was made by some of those who had visited the mine to the exceedingly risky nature of the work of the search parties. One portion of the mine was, it was stated, still "on the work," and it was not safe for any man to go in that direction. Eventually it was resolved that the meeting was in favour of Mr. Turnbull continuing the search, and that the exploring parties be organised by him, provided he reduced the period of labour of those men from eight to 6 hours. This reduction was urged on the ground that the work of the search parties was necessarily extremely fatiguing. It was mentioned by a member of the deputation that Mr. Turnbull had promised to make the desired reduction. The question of the resumption of work by the miners was also considered by the meeting, and a resolution was passed in favour of work in both the sea pit and the old pit, No. 2 being started on Monday next.

CASUALTIES.

Yesterday morning a child named Ruby Latham M'Dowell, aged 18 months, daughter of a widow named Elizabeth M'Dowell, residing at No. 3, Park-terrace, South Head-road, Woollahra, died from the effects of scalds. On the previous morning the little one pulled down a dipper of boiling water, which poured over her shoulders and neck, inflicting severe scalds. The injuries were dressed at the St. Vincent's Hospital, but proved fatal. A report has been sent to the Coroner.

A blacksmith named James Comber, aged 26 years, residing at No. 4, Little Hay-street, Haymarket, was following his occupation yesterday when a piece of redhot steel flew into his eye. He was admitted to the hospital for treatment, and it is feared that he will lose the injured organ.

A commercial traveller named William Knight, aged 31 years, residing at No. 6, Junction-street, Forest Lodge, was thrown from a horse in Elizabeth-street, Redfern, yesterday. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition and admitted, suffering from a lacerated and incised wound over his left brow.

Yesterday a milkman named Thomas Darragh, aged 30 years, residing at Bondi, was driving his cart along Barrack-hill, when he was thrown out and received a fracture of the right kneecap. He was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

A fire occurred early yesterday morning in a hotel situate in Bellvue-street, Surry Hills. About 3.30 a.m. the metropolitan station received a call from the Standard Brewery Brigade, informing them of the outbreak. A company of men with an engine was at once sent out, and assisted the Brewery Brigade to put the flames out. The damage done to the place was chiefly in a storeroom under the stairs containing a small quantity of spirits. The stairs and back parlour, with contents, were severely damaged by heat, while the rest of the house of nine rooms and bar with contents, was damaged by smoke. The house was occupied by John King, and owned by Mr. P. Sherlock, of Toxteth Park. The contents were insured in the Commercial Union for £370. The origin of the fire is at present unknown, but inquiries are being made.

COUNTRY NEWS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

ALBURY, MONDAY.

Some time ago, Mr. M'Kinney, one of the engineers employed by the Royal Commissioners on Water Conservation, visited various points of the Murray River to determine the volume and discharge of the river in regard to a point near Bungoowannah, fixed on as a site for the proposed weir. As the Murray at that time was comparatively low, he has now paid another visit for the purpose of checking former observations, and noting the altered condition in flood time. His present observations are understood to fully bear out and confirm his previously formed opinion that Bungoowannah is in every way the best available site for the proposed weir.

The work of surveying in connection with the proposed system of irrigation is proceeding as rapidly as the inclemency of the weather will allow, under the supervision of Mr. Granter, C.E.

RAID ON UNLICENSED VENDORS OF TOBACCO.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

WOLLONGONG, MONDAY.

The police have been making a raid on unlicensed vendors of tobacco. Taking out licenses for tobacco selling appears to have been entirely neglected, and to-day 10 publicans and 12 storekeepers were proceeded against. Counsel for the defendants contended that the information for a breach of this law should have been laid by an officer of the Customs, or a police officer holding special authority from the Colonial Treasurer. The police contended they were justified in the course adopted. The bench pointed out that if the charges were upset on a technical objection, it would entail further loss and expense on the defendants, as the police would be certain to apply for special authority. Under these conditions, counsel withdrew the objection, and the cases were heard. The defendant in each case pleaded guilty, and was fined in sums ranging from 25s. to five guineas. Several pleaded in mitigation of the fine that they were not aware that a license was necessary, while others had allowed their licenses to lapse, and had not renewed them.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE SILBON-STIRK TROUPE.

The farewell nights in Sydney of the entertaining Silbon-Stirk Combination Troupe are announced. Last evening a new programme was presented. In anticipation of many good things in store, a large audience assembled in the Exhibition Building, and it is only justice to the artists concerned to say that the performance from commencement to finish was thoroughly appreciated. Of the new features introduced, the opening one, a skating act, both clever and amusing, and in which the "Jumbo policeman" makes his appearance, will prove popular. Messrs. Moulton and Dashway augmented their performance upon the horizontal bar. If possible their feats were even more daring than those previously given. The turns, and leaps, and evolutions were so gracefully executed that the real difficulty of them was glossed over as it were, but the audience displayed their appreciation by frequent applause. An extraordinary feat was essayed by Mr. Moulton when he jumped from one bar to a second 20ft. away, and turned a somersault in mid-air. The Silbons and the Dales gave an effective exhibition under the limelight of Roman statuary, historic tableaux, and Olympian games, and at other periods during the entertainment the Dales appeared in a humorous pantomimic act, while the Silbon quartette repeated their wonderful aerial trapeze performance. The Stirks elaborated their cycling act, making it the most brilliant item in a well-arranged programme. As an illustration of the daring of these performers, it may be said that Mr. Charles Stirk rode upon a unicycle carrying a lady upon his shoulders. In addition to the events enumerated, the Girards appeared as the "Trois Diables," Miss Tillie Sallinger contributed with great success several songs, and Mr. W. Warner was to the fore in characteristic specialities. It was a notable feature of last night's entertainment, as it has been of all the preceding entertainments, that the artists appeared in new costumes. Lord and Lady Carrington and suite will witness the performance on Friday.

THE ALHAMBRA.

Last evening a new programme was presented at the Alhambra to a crowded house. The first part—minstrelsy—was exceedingly well rendered. Miss Florence Schuler sang "Pretty Pond Lilies," in good voice, and had to repeat a portion in answer to demonstrative calls. Miss Amy Blackie sang "Pretty Janette" very sweetly, and Miss Annie Lewis made her reappearance in the pretty ballad "When mother puts the little ones to sleep." She was well received. The ballad, "The Lighthouse by the Sea," was rendered by Mr. E. J. Flavelle. Messrs. C. Fening, Alf James, and Alf Moynhan, Sam Keenan, W. Cottier, and W. Perman were entrusted with the funny part of the entertainment, and it is needless to say that they kept the audience in roars of laughter. The Perfhans gave their slab clog dance, and Dave Marion and Miss Minnie made their first appearance at the hall in their specialities, and Miss Roberts, in conjunction with Mr. J. Collins, rendered a patriotic duet, "Hav'nt we stood by the Flag?" The performance concluded with the sketch, "He's dead, Who?"

SAVAGE CLUB CORROBOREE.

The members of the Savage Club held their monthly corroboree at the German Concordia Rooms last evening. There was a large gathering, under the presidency of Mr. Hyam Hains, and about 90 couples engaged in the dancing. Songs were contributed by Miss Leefson, Mrs. Isaacs, and Messrs. Van Praag and Alexander, and other friends. Mr. J. Phillips acted as M.C., and dancing was continued till an early hour.

UNITED GRAND LODGE OF N. S. W.

INSTALLATION OF LORD CARRINGTON.

An important Masonic ceremonial took place yesterday evening at the New Masonic Hall, when his Excellency the Governor was installed for the second time as Master of the United Grand Lodge of N. S. W. The ceremony was conducted in the large hall, and was attended by about 300 Masons, most of whom were members of the Grand Lodge. The ceremony of installation was performed in the usual manner by R.S.W. Dr. Wm. G. Sedgwick, and the following Grand Lodge officers for the ensuing year were invested:—R.W. Deputy Grand Master, C. F. Stokes; R.W. Senior Grand Warden, J. C. Remington; R.W. Junior Grand Warden, T. F. De Courcy Browne; V.W. Grand Chaplain, Lord Bishop of Bathurst; V.W. Grand Chaplain, Rev. W. S. Frackelton, B.D; V.W. Grand Treasurer, John Starkey; V.W. Grand Registrar, Donnelly Fisher; V.W. President of the Board of General Purposes, W. H. Tulloh; V.W. President of the Board of Benevolence, Thomas E. Spencer; V.W. Grand Inspector of Workings, H. S. Thompson; V.W. Grand Architect, E. Buchanan; W. Senior Grand Deacon, John Liggins; W. Senior Grand Deacon, Enos Dyer; W. Junior Grand Deacon, J. W. Evans; W. Grand Director of Ceremonies, J. P. Humphries; W. Deputy Grand Director of Ceremonies, Dugald Dobie; W. Grand Sword-bearer, J. M. Ellercamp; W. Grand Standard-bearer, H. N. Podmore; W. Grand Director of Music, G. Rivers Allpress; W. Grand Organist, A. Gehde; W. Grand Bard, W. H. Ore; W. Grand Pursuivant, C. J. Christie; W. Deputy Grand Pursuivant, Moss S. Brown; W. Grand Steward, Thos. Alphen; W. Grand Steward, W. J. M'Leod; W. Grand Steward, W. Cornish; W. Grand Steward, A. P. Bedford; W. Grand Steward, W. H. Lacey; W. Grand Steward, T. K. Steames; W. Grand Tyler, W. H. Carrick.

The ceremonial being completed, Lord CARRINGTON delivered the following speech:—

Worshipful Brethren,—The Masonic year has closed, and it has been a very successful and happy one. I must first thank the Brethren for the great honour they have paid me in again electing me as their Grand Master. I take it as a very great compliment, a very great privilege, and a very great trust. I hope the Brethren will excuse my shortcomings, as I know I cannot devote the time which the position requires, and I feel that I could not carry out the duties except for the support of the pro-Grand Master and the officers of the Grand Lodge. I have great pleasure in announcing that I have learnt from a letter which I have received from Chief Justice Way, our brethren in South Australia are about to elect as their Grand Master Lord Kintore, and I hope as many of our grand officers as can roll up on that occasion will be present at his installation. I feel that I must also refer to the terrible calamity which has happened at the Borehole pit, Newcastle, and I cannot help recalling the splendid hospitality with which I was received during my recent visit to that place. (Applause.) I am not aware yet whether the miners have been rescued or not from the bowels of the earth, but of one thing I am sure, that these unfortunate brethren have our deepest sympathy, and I am certain that if relief is required for the widows or orphans, the masons of the colony will not be behindhand in their contributions. (Applause.) The reports issued from time to time by the executive committee, and subsequently by the board of general purposes, have placed the brethren in full possession of the events of the year. The recognition claimed from all sister grand lodges will, there is little doubt, be ultimately accorded by all. England and Scotland promptly granted it with fraternal enthusiasm. We now await nomination of their representatives. Ireland still delays decision. Our esteemed Pro-Grand Master, M.W. Bro. Tarrant, will no doubt bring news from these three grand lodges on his return to Sydney next month. British Columbia and Quebec have intimated that recognition is sure to be granted at the earliest communications of their grand lodges. For many others it may be explained that, especially in America, communications are, as a rule, held only once a year, and so temporary delay in reply is not to be wondered at. Seven other grand lodges have accorded full and fraternal recognition, and asked us to recommend brethren to represent them in our grand lodge, which, in accordance with resolutions already approved of by you, is being done by the outgoing mail; and I have issued the united grand lodge commissions to the five brethren nominated to represent us at foreign grand lodges. The details are as follows:—South Australia: Commission issued, R.W. Bro. A. M. Simpson; representative recommended, M.W. Bro. H. J. Tarrant. Manitoba: Commission issued, R.W. Bro. D. H. M'Millan; representative recommended, R.W. Bro. W. H. Tulloh. Denmark: Commission issued, R.W. Bro. J. P. Aastrup; representative recommended, R.W. Bro. J. C. Remington. Netherlands: Commission issued, R.W. Bro. Bicmbergen; representative recommended, Wor. Bro. J. P. Humphries. New Brunswick: Commission issued, name awaited; representative recommended, Wor. Bro. Charles de Boos. Utah: Commission issued, R. W. Bro. W. N. Shilling; representative recommended, Wor. Bro. H. B. Howe. Iowa: Commission issued, name awaited; representative recommended, M. W. Bro. James Hunt. The commissions from New Brunswick and Iowa have arrived, and I have to-night the pleasure of issuing them to Bros. De Boos and Hunt. The United Grand Lodge of Victoria having applied for and been at once granted full and fraternal recognition, a commission has been issued for R. W. Bro. Charles Kitz our representative in Melbourne, and R. W. Bro. Arthur Henry has been nominated as their representative here. The Board of Benevolence.—Reports acquaint you with the extent to which the distinguishing feature of our order—charity—has been manifested; but I must also record with pleasure that in November last we joined in a movement which we may hope will prove an undoubted success, for the establishment of a "Masonic Orphanage for Boys." And although not exactly an act of this grand lodge, I must mention the satisfaction I felt in laying the foundation-stone of the Masonic Cottage Hospital at Camden, to be erected by the munificence of the late district grand lodge in this colony under the English Constitution, and to be open to all Freemasons. The union of the craft in this colony has not only been endorsed by the fact that every lodge is now under our rule, but its good effects have been felt in the amalgamation in some places of lodges heretofore working in rivalry. This was a recommendation of the committee on precedence, and will, no doubt, result to the benefit of the craft at large. Four new lodges have been established, viz.:—Arcadia, No. 177, meeting at Sydney; Willyama, No. 178, meeting at Broken Hill; Temperance, No. 179, meeting at Sydney; Earl Carnarvon, No. 180, meeting at Granville. Warrants for these lodges are issued this evening. Two illustrious brethren have been removed from us by death during the year now closed. On the 21st August, just five days after the formation of our grand lodge had been officially accomplished by the meeting held in the University Great Hall, M.W. Bro. James Squire Farnell passed away. I am able to state, on the authority of our esteemed Bro. Grand Master, that he took the extremest interest in the progress of the union, and watched every step taken up to its consummation. His distinguished services to Freemasonry should never be forgotten in this colony, and you have done well by resolving to commemorate them by a tablet in the grand lodge room. The other brother to whom I desire to pay "a last tribute of respect" is the late M.W. Bro. John Williams. Not actually with us in our early efforts, he was no sooner convinced, by the action of the Grand Lodge of England, that our establishment had been constitutional and regular, than he signified his intention of throwing in his lot with us, and had intended being present to do so officially at our annual communication on 12th instant. But that very morning, death snatched him away, and left us only the memory of his past fidelity and long service to the craft. I rejoice to learn that a notice of motion has been given for a proper memorial of these also in our grand lodge room.

MILITARY.

On Saturday afternoon last the Cadet Artillery assembled in Moore Park for the purpose of instructing recruits. A large muster turned out, and some good work was performed. 23 rounds of "blank" being fired. A number of manœuvres peculiar to their drill were gone through very creditably under the command of their officer, Lieutenant Woodward, and in the presence of Major Strong, the Officer Commanding Cadet Corps of the colony. A number of tubes failed to go off during practice, some being of no use and others too damp for the purpose, otherwise things would have passed off more satisfactorily: but notwithstanding, the firing on the whole was very creditable to the corps. After about two hours' practice, the boys returned to Victoria Barracks, where they were dismissed.

ROBBERIES AT COFFEE PALACES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—We wish to warn visitors staying at the Sydney hotels and coffee palaces to take special care of their clothes and other articles they may leave in their bedrooms. On Friday night last we stayed at one of the coffee palaces in this city. The next morning at 8 o'clock we left our rooms securely locked. After an absence of three or four hours we revisited our rooms, and were surprised to find a thief had visited them and abstracted several articles of apparel and other goods. It appears the thief takes a room late at night, watches lodgers to their rooms, and waits until they leave the next morning. Then he visits the rooms and takes any portable article he can lay his hands upon, and quietly leaves the premises. How the thief could obtain admission to our rooms is a mystery we cannot solve, unless he carries skeleton keys for that purpose.

We have been informed that other establishments have been visited, and this notice may prevent a loss of property to visitors and the public generally.

We are, &c., JAS. HUXTABLE.
H. M. TURNER.

A NEW SONG.

"Save a Kiss for Mamma" is the title of a new song. In the case of papa, however, it would be well to save some of Walker's Whisky.—[ADVT.]

Correspondence:—A letter from the Works Department, stating that the tender of Williams and Co. had been recommended for acceptance in regard to stoneware sewers in Philip-street and other streets, and asking the council to pay in the sum of £2697 19s. 6d. Received. Also, another letter from the Works Department, stating that in regard to the request of the council that branch sewers be laid from manhole in Chelsea-street to Dowling-street, thence along Dowling-street to southern boundary of Mr. Furness's property, and from Stanley-street eastward along Cleveland-street for about 100 yards, Mr. Smail had reported in regard to the first sewer, it would be cheaper for the council to lay a pipe from Mr. Furness's property across some private land adjoining the manhole in Little Cleveland-street a distance of 150 feet. The second sewer is unnecessary. Received. From the Fire Brigade Board, stating that the matter of the fire protection of Redfern was under consideration. Received. From the Railway Commissioners, stating that they could not accede to the request that the lamp near Eveleigh be kept alight all night. Received. From the City Council, stating that the question of the payment of a moiety of the cost of forming and ballasting Dowling-street was under consideration. Received. From J. R. Hill, stating that £50 might be devoted to Boronia and Marriott streets. Alderman Williamson moved,—"That the amount be only accepted as applying to Boronia-street." Seconded by Alderman Coyle. Carried. The finance committee's report was dealt with, and accounts to the amount of £455 19s. 7d. were passed for payment. Miscellaneous: Alderman Williamson moved that the co-operation of the other councils of the district be asked to wait upon the Colonial Secretary with a view of urging the resumption of land in Regent-street, owned by Hudson Brothers, as a site for a public market. Seconded by Alderman Coyle. Carried. Moved by Alderman Smith,—"That the Railway Commissioners be asked to erect a gateway in Wilson-street, opposite Shepherd-street." Seconded by Alderman Clarke. Carried. By Alderman Clarke,—"That Eveleigh-street, from where left off to Wells-street, a distance of about 3½ chains, be re-ballasted, at a probable cost of £10 per chain." Seconded by Alderman Smith. Carried. By Alderman Beveridge,—"That about 100ft. of kerbing and guttering (18in.) be laid in Phillip-street, from George-street to Pitt-street, at a probable cost of 7s. 10d. per yard." Seconded by Aldrman Coyle. Carried. By Alderman Lander,—"That Edward-street, from Vine-street westward for a distance of about 5 chains, be re-ballasted, at a probable cost of £16 per chain." Seconded by Alderman Smith. Carried. By Alderman Butterfield,—"That the footpaths in Telopea-street and Baptist-street, in front of Mr. Stewart's property, a distance of about 212ft., be covered with arred ashes, at a probable cost of 1s. 3d. per yard." Seconded by Alderman Lee. Carried.

ROCKDALE.

A meeting of the Rockdale Council was held at the Town-hall on Thursday, the 20th instant. There were present—the Mayor (W. G. Judd), Aldermen Cook, Smyth, Caruthers, Green, Price, Jones, and Godfrey. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Correspondence: From the secretary to the Gas Company, enclosing an agreement in duplicate for signature of the Mayor and seal of the council, for substitution for the one submitted at the last meeting of the council, that having been inadvertently sent instead of the one now submitted. The Mayor was authorised to sign and affix the corporate seal thereto. From the Secretary of the I. O. G. T., Excelsior Lodge, No. 570, thanking the council for allowing them the use of the hall for a concert on the 24th instant at a reduced price. Received. From the Registrar Transit Commissioner stating that in view of the circumstances stated in the Council Clerk's letter, the Commissioners have decided to grant a license to Mr. Flood to ply an additional omnibus to Arncliffe. From the Council Clerk, Hurstville, asking permission to dispose of a quantity of timber from off a bridge in the Harrow-road. A reply was directed to be sent that the council are willing to the disposal of the timber, but credit for half the amount to be given to Rockdale. From a number of ratepayers in Lanff-street, asking the council to form that street. The matter was left in the hands of the Arncliffe aldermen to be dealt with. From Mr. H. W. M'Kern, enclosing a letter from the Secretary for Railways, stating that it is not desirable to make any additional entrance at Arncliffe as asked for. It was resolved to ask Mr. Wheeler, M.L.A., to urge this matter, all correspondence to be handed to him. From Mr. F. Ruff, calling attention to the disgraceful state of a drain or pond at the crossing at the Rockdale railway station. A letter was directed to be sent to the Works Department, calling attention to the dangerous crossing, and that the council is prepared to construct the crossing in a proper manner if the Department will grant £50. From Mr. Charles Bull, solicitor, on behalf of Mr. Thos. Saywell, calling attention to an alleged nuisance existing in Bay-street, at the premises of Messrs. Francis and Co., and asking the council to take some action in the matter. The matter was referred to the inspector with a request that he makes a visit to the premises without any further notice. Accounts amounting to £161, were passed for payment. Motions: By Alderman Cooke, and carried,—"That a stone culvert be constructed in Bay-street, opposite Spring's Garden at a cost not to exceed £20. By the Mayor and carried,—"That a call of the whole council be granted for the purpose of rescinding—so far as Arncliffe ward is concerned a resolution passed on the 9th May last, on the motion of Alderman Smyth, to the effect that no monies be voted for new contracts on works exceeding £20 at any one meeting for a period of six months, with a view to the council considering the desirability of accepting the offer made by Messrs. Saber and Co. to give £200 towards improvements of Godfrey-street and part of Spring-street." The council then rose.

VICTORIA.

A special meeting of the above council was held on the 17th instant. Present: Aldermen W. Waterhouse (Mayor), Smith, Munro, S. Blue, Charlton, and John Blue. The following correspondence was dealt with:—From James Carnegie, applying for permission to erect an awning in Walker-street. Permission granted. From the Water Supply and Sewerage Board, referring to the free use of water from hydrants for flushing gutters, and stating that additional hydrants would be fixed. It was decided to ask permission to use the hydrants now existing in the meantime. From J. Halstead, asking the council to permit a carriage entrance to be made to his property in Bayview-street. Application granted. From Clarke and M'Intyre, requesting formation of lane at the back of their property. Referred to the improvement committee. The following motion was dealt with: By Alderman Charlton,—"That a footpath be formed on the west side of Walker-street southwards, about 160ft. in length, at an estimated cost of £5, provided £2 10s. is subscribed by the mover." Seconded by Alderman Munro, and carried. The council accepted the tender of J Duncan for erecting a wall in Bayview-street under the following schedule of prices:—1. Footings, 4s. 3d. per yard. 2. Rubblework, 4s. 1d. per yard. 3. Parapet, 4s. 5d. per yard. 4. Coping, 8s. 9d. per yard. 5. Steps, 9s. 6d. each 6. Flagging, 5s. 3d. per square yard.

PROTECTIONISTS AND AUSTRALIAN NATIONALISM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Under cover of a few sentences in criticism of the anxiety of the freetraders with respect to the number of their candidates for Central Cumberland, a Mr. Jones takes the opportunity to endeavour to throw a bone of contention within the ranks of the Protectionist party, because Messrs. Buchanan and Traill took a certain course at a recent meeting. This Mr. Jones appears to be at once an Imperialist and a protectionist, and, doubtless, claims the right as an Imperialist to express his views in that faith apart from his protectionist proclivities; but he is not prepared to accord the same right to other people, who, being protectionists, are anti-Imperialists. A man can consistently be a freetrader and an Imperialist, or a freetrader and an Australian nationalist. And if he can reconcile the policy which deliberately shuts the door against British manufactures with the theory that we are as much Britons as the people of Manchester, he can also consistently be either a protectionist and an Imperialist, or a protectionist and a nationalist. The two matters are wholly distinct. Protection or free trade are economic doctrines, dealing with diverse methods of forming the condition of a nation, and a man could consistently be either a rabid Tory or a far advanced democratic Republican, and hold either one view or the other on the question of protecting or not protecting local manufacturers. Such being the case, it is a piece of audacity on the part of any so-called protectionist to challenge the right of any other protectionist to hold whatsoever political opinions he chooses on other than protectionist subjects. As well might the protectionist party take exception to the opinions of such men as Messrs. Dalley and Heydon, who have believed that Australians were born to lay down their lives to keep the Russians out of Afghanistan, as that any protectionist should presume to dictate to Messrs. Traill and Buchanan what opinions they shall hold on the question of Australian nationality.

Perhaps Mr. Jones will remember that the men who stonewalled the Australian National Naval Defences Bill were mainly freetraders. I am, &c.,

POST OFFICE-STREET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent Mr. B. C. Boake is, I think, scarcely correct in saying that "the principle involved in this proposed resumption embodies one of the most interesting questions of the day, viz., the right of private ownership in land." The bill which the Postmaster-General is this evening to ask a Committee of the Whole to affirm the expediency of bringing in, is not a bill to establish, to affirm, or extend any principle—general or particular—but a bill the distinguishing and unprincipled characteristic of which is to enable the Government to seize upon the property of a few private persons and use part of it for a public purpose and part for selling at a profit to pay for the other part which is required for that public purpose! This does not in any sense touch the question of land nationalisation. It embodies simply "confiscation," in lieu of taxation. It would be different if the Government were to ask the committee to affirm the expediency of bringing in a bill to enact that in future all public improvements should be paid for in a similar way. The important questions raised by Mr. Boake do not affect this case, because the object of the Postmaster-General is not to adopt or to vary a general principle, but to deal specially with the landed interests of a few citizens in a manner (and to their disadvantage) different from the way in which other members of the community are dealt with by the Government. At the close of his letter he says:—"The argument raised by 'Semper Æquitas,' that the principle is opposed to English law, is not of much consequence if the law is bad, and if in the light of day and advanced thought the Parliament see fit to establish a precedent that shall virtually annul it. Justice is not the creation of the Crown, but of a far higher authority." It may be admitted that "law" is not always "justice," and it is true that justice does not always whirl "in equal measure." But I think it will be generally allowed that it would not be just to pass an Act to deal arbitrarily with the interests of a few proprietors in a manner entirely different from the general law and policy of this colony, and in a manner repugnant to the law of England. The statement of Mr Boake that the argument that "the principle is opposed to English law is not of much consequence if the law is bad" is in this case weak. In my opinion, the English law in regard to this matter is good. It is well laid down by Mr. Serjeant Stephen in his new "Commentaries on the Laws of England." That learned commentator says,—"Even for the general good of the whole community, no unnecessary violation of the rights of property is in any instance allowed by our law." The bill which the Postmaster-General desires the committee to authorise him to bring in embodies a clear and distinct violation of the rights of private property. But, as I have already pointed out, this particular property is held under English law, as distinct from colonial law. When the waste lands of the Crown were handed over to the Government of this colony in the terms of the Constitution Act, grants made prior to the date of that Act were specially protected, and as long as we remain an integral portion of the British Empire, they will no doubt receive the protection of the Crown. We are not yet aliens. In conclusion, permit me to quote a remarkable sentence uttered on Thursday evening last in our Legislative Council by one of our most distinguished lawyers—the Hon. Julian Salomons. Speaking in reference to the action taken in the case of the girls named Lynch, he said:—"If the method advocated by the hon. member—the resisting of the arrest of those girls—had been acted upon it would have been not only illegal, but would have been the first step in a course of rebellion. While this colony remained a British colony, Imperial Acts would be as paramount as they were before responsible government was established. The Government of this colony could not disregard an Imperial Act." Our Constitution Act is an Imperial Act, and it specially withholds from the Parliament of this colony any dealings contrary to British law with regard to any lands granted by the Crown prior to the passing of that Act. British law and British justice and common honesty are opposed to the course which the Postmaster-General is about to ask a committee of the whole in our Legislative Assembly to authorise.

GENERAL POST OFFICE CLOCK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—So many different paragraphs have lately appeared in your and other papers with reference to the above that, in justice to myself, as the contractor, I must deny ever making the assertion that the tower is not strong enough to carry the bells. The tower is undoubtedly strong enough to carry double the number. The reason I have applied to the Government asking permission to allow me to use tubular bells in place of large heavy bells (with the understanding that the difference in cost should be deducted from my contract) is not as an experiment, but as an improvement on the old style of heavy, clumsy, bells. The tubes are much approved and adopted for their far-penetrating pleasing and musical sounds, and far more suited for such a purpose than five such large-sized bells, which latter, when rung in such close proximity, the sound of one will spoil the vibration of others, &c., &c.; and conscientiously considering the very limited space provided for machinery, power, and weights required to lift such heavy hammers 1116 times in 24 hours for chiming and striking the hours, beside three weights for moving hands, clock, and fire alarm, it necessitates that a powerful man be constantly in attendance and winding, whereas with tubular bells, two hours once a week would be sufficient, saving both labour and friction. Both on my application and tender it is clearly expressed that the clock should be made with all the latest improvements, and that no money should be paid till the work is completed and gives satisfaction. In addition, the Government hold £500 as security. The Hon. the Secretary for Works, however, decided to have bells, such to be cast in England, and approved by an authority on such matters there. The movements, dials, and gear have been ready for fixing in the tower for 12 months past, and immediately that the bells arrive and are fixed in position, all other works will be completed within two months. All these heavy bells have to be hoisted outside the tower, and brought inside through the aperture for one of the dials, after which the floors above will have to be removed to permit of the bells being raised and fixed in position, and this before any part whatever of the clock, works, &c., could be fixed.

Thanking you in anticipation for the insertion hereof in your valuable paper, I am, &c.,

PROHIBITION IN AMERICA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The rejection by the voters of Pennsylvania of the Prohibitory Amendment referred to in your issue of Saturday last, in no way proves either that prohibition is a failure, or that the prohibitory sentiment is not steadily growing in the United States. It may be true that the attempt to incorporate the prohibitory principle in the Constitution of Pennsylvania was defeated by a large majority, just as a similar effort in Massachusetts was defeated a few weeks ago; but in both cases there are reasons which, though they do not appear on the surface, largely account for the results which have been made known. In Massachusetts, for instance, a vote was taken in May last, on the question of Constitutional Prohibition, and defeated by a considerable majority. The defeat, however, was brought about not so much by the strength of the drink interests as by the deliberate action of thousands of temperance voters. In Massachusetts an effective local option law came into operation on the first of May, and this law provides for the entire closing of all saloons by the local vote. It also provides for the payment of an annual license fee equal to £200, with only one saloon to each 1000 inhabitants in those places where the local vote is not effective. Under these circumstances it is not surprising that a great number, even of temperance voters who believe in local option, should have decided to give the new law a fair trial before proceeding further. In regard to Pennsylvania, similar considerations have probably influenced the voting. It must be remembered that a very stringent law came into force in June, 1888. This law gives large powers to the licensing courts; it provides that the holder of a license shall be a citizen of the United States; that he has no interest in any other licensed house; and that he shall pay an annual fee in cities of 500 dollars. In addition to that the applicant for a license must present a certificate signed by "twelve reputable, qualified voters of the ward or township, attesting to the truthfulness of the applicant's statements." The applicant has also to give as "bondsmen two reputable freeholders," each owning real estate worth at least 2000 dollars over and above all encumbrances, and no manufacturer of liquor can have any interest in a saloon or be a saloon-keeper's bondsman. As a proof of the value of this law it may be mentioned that the number of licenses in Pennsylvania has been reduced from 14,704 in 1887 to 7728 in 1889, a total reduction of 6976, or nearly one-half, the reduction being as follows:—In Philadelphia, 4426; in Allegheny County, 1660; and in all other counties, 800. Crime also shows a corresponding falling off. The commitments to the Philadelphia County Prison, from June 1st, 1887, to March 1st, 1888 (nine months), under the old law were 21,603; from June 1st, 1888, to March 1st, 1889 (nine months), under the Brook law, 13,727; a decrease of 7,876. Commitments for intoxication during the same periods were 13,398 for the first nine months, and 6889 for the latter nine months.

It would of course be more satisfactory to temperance workers to be uniformly successful, but considering the tremendous influence behind the drink traffic that can hardly be expected. Such repulses, however, as those in Canada referred to by you, instead of damping their ardour will only fire them with fresh enthusiasm, and make them more than ever determined to rid the world of the greatest curse of modern times.

PAYMENT OF MEMBERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Kindly allow me a little space in your journal for one more letter in reply to "Taxpayer," and I promise not to trouble you again on the above subject. Though another correspondent has entered the lists also I shall confine myself to the first, as one answer will do both. "Taxpayer" resembles the squid which by ejecting its inky matter hopes to baffle its foe and effect a safe retreat because of its inability of defence. I think if this correspondent had seen your recent leader, in which you traversed more fully the argument I had used confirming all I had advanced, he would have held his peace. A nice honest marker "Taxpayer" would be to place at the butts, when a man makes a "bull's eye" to signal "wide," and this he does when he tells your readers I am away from the mark and tries to choke me with a stale proverb because he is unable to answer a "hard" argument. When the former Parliament passed the Payment of Members Bill it was rejected by the Upper House on this principal ground—"That the constituencies had not sufficiently signified their approval of the measure"—and there was some reason in the objection then, but in the recent contest this question was very freely discussed, very prominently brought before the electorates, and has met with a very general approval, the division list showing that both freetraders and protectionists are its friends and opponents; but the majority in favour of the bill is too significant to ignore. Now it was this fact—the country's approval—that made Mr. J. P. Abbott defend his support of the measure, characterised by "Taxpayer" in soft Latin as suggestio falsi. My "hard argument" was this: That if payment of members was never before the country for the electors to declare for or against, neither were local government, amended Land Bill, or water conservation; and yet the House is successfully dealing with one of these measures, and hopes to undertake the others. Now, according to the "soft" reasoning of "Taxpayer," Parliament ought not to deal with these questions, because free trade and protection were the only paramount policies that led to the choice of representatives; and yet another eminent authority declares it was more "Popery than fiscal," and a very successful falsehood it proved in many instances for freetraders. If "Taxpayer" is alarmed at the amount of expenditure (about £40,000) per annum, if this bill is passed, let me comfort him by assuring him that had a former Parliament been elected under this provision of payment no Casual Labour Board would have been allowed to waste £250,000. The profound wisdom of "Taxpayer's" concluding advice to me in his proverbial philosophy I repay thus:—"He that is first in his own cause seemeth just, but his neighbour cometh and searcheth him."

THE DRINK BILL OF NEW SOUTH WALES FOR 1888.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The Rev. F. B. Boyce must not think I accept his statement that the drink bill for last year was £4,177,168, because I did not dispute its accuracy in my letter in last Wednesday's Herald. As a matter of fact, the rev. gentleman makes the bill much larger than it should be. For instance, he puts down 3s. per gallon for 9,290,687 gallons of colonial beer. This is 1s. per gallon too much. If he corrects his figures he will find that the money spent for colonial beer was nearly half a million below his estimate. His prices for imported beer, wines, and spirits, are also a great deal too high. Mr. Boyce has set down the drink bill for 1888 at about a million and a half too much. Your correspondent is sceptical about my statement that there is not that intimate connection between drink and crime, drink and pauperism, and drink and insanity, which judges and others speak of. I did not quote the statistics in support of my statement because I feared to trespass too much on your space, but I will be glad to furnish Mr. Boyce with English Parliamentary returns, which will convince him that where drunkenness has been increasing crime has been decreasing, that where drunkenness is lowest pauperism is highest, and that insanity prevails to a greater extent in places where the people are admitted to be of sober habits than in places where intemperance is very general. When Mr. Boyce examines these statistics he will I am sure have the candour to admit that they should carry more weight than the ad captandum utterances of Judges and magistrates so often brought under our notice by total abstainers. At the same time it cannot be denied that intemperance has produced criminals, paupers, and lunatics; but the real point is the proportion which criminals, paupers, and lunatics, whose crime pauperism or insanity can be traced to drunkenness, bear to the total number of paupers, criminals, and lunatics in the country. Your correspondent directs my attention to the number of convictions for drunkenness in New South Wales in 1888. I find the number was 14,991, but Mr. Boyce puts the number down at 24,150, and then adds, "What a mass of misery and hopelessness and wrong must lie behind these figures." Are these figures as to drunkenness the only ones "behind which lie a mass of misery and hopelessness and wrong?" In 1851 the number of illegitimate births in Sydney was 257, last year it was 1047. In the former year the percentage of illegitimate births was 4·78, in the latter it had risen to 7·64, or one in every 13 of the total births registered. How many men who do not drink to excess have been concerned in the misery of the mothers of these illegitimates, and what proportion do their vices bear in number, or in magnitude to the vice of drunkenness? Further, how is it teetotallers, who pretend to be so anxious to improve the condition of the people, do not carry on a crusade against immorality as vigorously as they do against drink? Immorality is certainly increasing, while drunkenness is decreasing.

Mr. Boyce again refers to Dr. Fitzgerald's words as to the use of alcohol, and has evidently persuaded himself that the doctor only admits it as medicine. I happen to know that Dr. Fitzgerald approves of alcohol being used in moderation, and that he has no sympathy with teetotalism. Total abstainers cannot get the testimony of any medical men of eminence in support of their opinion that intoxicants used in moderation are hurtful. The statements concerning the physical effects of alcohol have very seldom been the result of any systematic experiments conducted with skill and care; but there are some exceptions, and I shall refer to an important one. Dr. E. A. Parkes some years ago undertook an examination of the effects of alcohol upon healthy men, and communicated the results to the Royal Society of London. Various interesting questions were determined, but that which concerns us most is the general fact that no symptoms of injury of any kind were detected unless the quantity of alcohol taken had exceeded 4oz. of proof spirits in a day, or unless the whole of this was taken at once. Now, 4oz. a day is 9 gallons a year; and the result of the investigation, as might indeed be expected, confirms the common experience of mankind. In strictly sober consumption 10 gallons a year is a common quantity, and 12 gallons about the natural average. Dr. Parkes found also that when the quantity was doubled, distinct symptoms of injury were discovered, and this again is in accordance with experience. Dr. Parkes's experiments were made in the true spirit of scientific inquiry, and he was careful to claim no more for their results than was strictly proved. They were tried on only a few individuals, and for short periods. The immediate physiological effects of alcohol on ordinary human beings were clearly ascertained, and the fact is demonstrated that, whether beneficial or not, alcohol taken in moderation is innocuous.

Mr. Boyce thinks our annual drink bill too large; but how is he going to do away with it? He would prohibit the manufacture or importation of intoxicants altogether. I do not think our people are prepared, even at the bidding of well-meaning teetotallers, to destroy their vineyards and hopfields, pull down the distilleries and breweries, and shut up all the hotels. We may deplore the fact that there are amongst us a class of persons addicted to the excessive use of alcohol, and philanthropists will do what they can by moral precept and example to induce them to abandon their vicious habit. But to ask an entire community to forego their material interests, and submit themselves to a common bondage, in order that the drunkards may be controlled, is asking a little too much, and is almost as reasonable as to ask the whole population to consent to go to gaol for life as the only effective mode of abolishing theft. YET ANOTHER WRECK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In the hope of once more attracting attention to provision being made through the North and South Pacific Islands shoals and reefs for shipwrecked sailors and passengers, for their sustenance and escape, the last wreck reported, viz., American barque Brazos, is herein alluded to. Captain J. M. Banks, marine surveyor, of this city, and your correspondent were many years ago successful in enlisting the sympathies of some of our Sydney merchants in "Poor Jack's" interests, by a subscription for the Elizabeth Reef lifeboat. It was constructed after plans of Captain Banks's, and placed in the lagoon of said reef, with charts, provisions and directions. Now, although it has not been availed of so far, that is no reason why other and further means should not be undertaken for rescue work, &c. If I omitted America amongst the nations likely to assist in such a humane work as now indicated, apologies are at once made, knowing well that the great Republic is never behind others in philanthropy of every description where relief to human suffering requires practical assistance and support.

LAND LAW REFORM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In the undue prominence that is given to the discussion of free trade and protection the general public are apt to underestimate the importance of land legislation. As in the former case, so in the latter, I do not attach much importance to examples drawn from various countries, whose circumstances, even in those most similar, are bound to differ sufficiently to prevent the deductions having any conclusive weight; and, I submit, that if these questions are not to be settled until they are finally dealt with by these examples, that we have a wearisome time ahead of us. But these illustrations are popular, and should not be without some weight. To demonstrate in this manner the enormous effect that a moderately good land system may have, as compared with an acknowledged bad one, take the case of the Channel Islands and Ireland. "The soil of Ireland is for the most part fit for cultivation, while much of it is singularly fertile." ("Globe Encyclopedia"). Nearly 16 out of 21 million acres are under cultivation. It has 2200 miles of coast. Probably it has more fertile land per unit of area than Jersey and Guernsey, the southern part of the latter being rocky and sterile. And yet, if Ireland were as densely populated as those two islands it would carry a population of over 40 million. Arnold attributes the prosperity of these islands to the mere fact of their having this moderate quota of good land law, namely, that there is no entail or primogeniture, and that there is a very cheap and convenient system of transferring land by registration, which accounts alone for land there being worth two or three times as much as it is in England. And though I may not be justified in thinking that Ireland under a similar law would carry eight times its present population, it will probably be conceded that a great proportion of the disparity is due to the cause referred to. So much for the effect of a slight modicum of land law reform. What may we not expect under a really good system? Is anyone hardy enough to aver that our present land laws are even moderately satisfactory? Whether the occupiers or the rest of the general public be considered, it must be abundantly evident that there exists ample cause for the gravest dissatisfaction. The squatters complain that they have no security of tenure on the Crown lands they occupy, that they practically are prohibited from improving their leaseholds, and, a fortiori, their annual leases; that, under the stimulus of class warfare, they have paid too dearly for their freeholds, disjointed as they are by the intervention of small selectors' holdings; and that, consequently, it is impossible to carry on their industry profitably. The selectors, on the other hand, complain as bitterly that the best half of the runs is held by the squatter, and that what little good land is not already alienated in the resumed areas is included in reserves made in the squatter's interest. The patient public ought to complain—but the shoe does not yet pinch—that their estate is being sold for a mere nothing, a great percentage of the price being eaten up in the process of getting rid of it; nor is there even the weakest foundation for the flattering belief that they are settling a sturdy yeomanry on the soil, for notwithstanding the cessation of so-called auction sales, the average size of holdings continues to increase, being now about 800 acres each, and when the time arrives for selling out the large selections taken up under the Act of 1884 it will probably reach 1000 acres. We are parting with our land wholesale, below its market value, with the view of building up this "sturdy yeomanry," and, spite of the most apparent failure, we stick to our false principles. Every year statistics prove this, but for 30 years we have not only rigidly adhered to the worst principles, but, in some respects, have grossly intensified them by legislation. What is the use of selling the land at £1 an acre deferred payments at 4 per cent. interest, when the land can be sold for 25s. cash, with a view to settling people on the land, when it does nothing of the sort? Is it not offering a heavy premium to land traffic and the aggregation of large estates? I will conclude this by urging the public to give this subject the deep consideration it merits, as one fraught with perhaps more importance to the future of this country than any other likely to come under their consideration. I am, &c.,

IS PROTECTION MAKING HEADWAY?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A by-election is a fair way of gauging any change in public opinion. An analysis of the voting at the Central Cumberland election in January this year and on last Saturday may be of use to show how within the short space of six months the free-trade enthusiasm has subsided, and how steadily the policy of protection has made an advance all along the lines. In making the subjoined list I have taken the highest free trade and the highest protectionist vote at each polling place for January last, and have given the freetraders credit for the votes polled on Saturday for Messrs. Brodie and Taylor, in addition to those recorded for Mr. Dale. Minto is a fresh polling place this time. It will be seen that free trade has lost ground everywhere, with the exception of Windsor-road, where it has increased its majority by nine, and at the Reservoir, where the protectionist majority has been reduced by 70, which is accounted for by the withdrawal of the men from the works there. Doubtless the freetraders will have a dozen "unanswerable syllogisms" at hand, as they always have for every awkward fact, and an endless series of excuses as fast as these are answered. The advocates of protection can bide their time. Acquirit vires eundo, and when the hour comes the reaction against free trade will be tremendous and permanent. Until then the supporters of our national policy have every reason to know that protection is making headway. Magna est veritas et prævalebit.

DEPOSIT BANKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—One of the most remarkable developments of commercial life in Sydney during the last few years has been the establishment of such a large number of joint stock institutions professing to do a general finance business, as their respective names go a good way to indicate. Land, mortgage, guarantee, loan, discount, real estate, investment, finance, banking, exchange, &c.—such are the words appearing in their cumbrous appellations, and they show the varied character of the operations undertaken. Little exception, however, could be taken to these corporations if they traded on their own capital only; but almost all of them take money on deposit at rates very much exceeding those given by the bank of issue. They are at liberty to do as they like with their own capital, but when it comes to taking the money of the public on deposit, it is the duty of the Government to see that the interests of the public are adequately protected by the financial strength of such banks of deposit. The fact, however, of such large rates being offered to induce deposits is in itself a sign of weakness or of risk, which is just the same, for if the banks of issue can get sufficient money on deposit at 5 per cent. for 12 months, to accommodate the bona-fide commerce and trade of the country, it stands to reason that the operations which borrow at a rate allowing of a much higher per centage to lenders, and a good profit to the financial go-between, must be of a particularly hazardous character. It is plain that the banks of issue, with their more moderate rates of interest, would not be passed by such borrower were the latter able to furnish the ordinary adequate prospect of security.

The recent financial doings in Melbourne proved that the resources of many of these finance corporations get locked up in unsaleable lands and overvalued property, and thus ceased to be available to repay depositors. It is a rule in banking that money deposited should not be lent out, except on securities capable of prompt and full realisation; and if this rule is departed from, and money gets locked up, difficulties must arise sooner or later, and then a tremendous loss is incurred by the sacrifice of securities for what they will fetch. It may be argued that the capital of these finance companies stands between depositors and loss, but, though a great nominal capital is paraded in advertisements, the main point is, what is the amount of capital paid up, and has the institution advanced on its own shares? As has been said, finance companies can do as they like with their own funds, but they ought to be forbidden by law from inviting deposits, seeing the rates they offer prove the speculative character of their operations.

The only offer (says a New Zealand exchange) received by the Postmaster-General in response to the notice of January 23 last, calling for tenders for a fortnightly and four-weekly alternative direct mail service between New Zealand and Plymouth, was made by the New Zealand Shipping Company, Limited, who, it is reported, have offered to undertake either a monthly or fortnightly service. We understand the New Zealand Shipping Company have made satisfactory arrangements with the owners of other steamers engaged in the New Zealand trade to assist in carrying out the mail contract should their offer be accepted.

THE MAIL STEAMERS.

The R.M.S. Arcadia is appointed to leave Melbourne at daylight on Friday (28th), and may be expected to arrive in Sydney about 8 a.m. on Sunday (30th). A tender will leave the Circular Quay, No. 3 Jetty, as soon as the vessel enters the Heads.

The Hohenzollern (N. G. Lloyd's line) arrived at the Semaphore at 1 p.m. yesterday. She is bound to Bremen.

THE CRUISE OF H.M.S. OPAL.—REPORTED OUTRAGES.

Since the arrival of the Opal (says Le Colon of June 18) sinister rumours have been current in Noumea to the effect that fresh murders had been committed at the New Hebrides. We believe, however, it is necessary to look upon these rumours with great circumspection. We simply say that the story which has been the most widely spread is that the Isle d'Ambryn has been the scene of these sad events; that M. Lebel, a colonist well-known in Noumea, was dead, and Le Sieur Fumaroli had been poisoned by the natives. The assassination of M. Rossi is also spoken of.

CRUISE OF H.M.S. LIZARD.

H.M.S. Lizard arrived here at midnight. She left Sydney April 25, arrived Noumea May 1, left May 3, arrived at Tanna May 5, left same date, arrived at Erromanga next day; proceeded for Havannah Harbour, arrived there May 7, and left on the 9th, and called at Mallicolo, Sah Lun Bay, Morton Bay, Malo Pass, Segond Channel, Vanna Levu in Banks' Group, Ureparapara Island, Valua, Pentecost; also called at Suva and Noumea taking departure from New Caledonia on the 19th current. Fine weather was met with the first part of the passage, thence strong westerly winds and heavy sea. Le Colon, of June 18, states that the English gunboat Lizard, Captain F. D. Pelly, arrived on the previous day at Noumea. The Lizard left Port Havannah on June 2, for Suva, in Fiji, where she arrived on June 5. A man named Weaver, supposed to be inculpated in the murder of Captain Greenless, on board the Colonist together with the witnesses in the affair, had embarked upon the gunboat. The Lizard remained at Suva until June 13. Weaver was placed in the hands of the judicial authorities, but the case has been adjourned until August 1, to permit the accused to produce documents from Australia, testifying that he had been attacked with cerebral disease.

THE WRECK OF THE BRAZOS.

A telegram was received from Captain Edgett yesterday by Messrs. Buzacott and Armstrong, in which it was mentioned that the barque Brazos was still standing on the reef with her decks out of water, and her masts and spars, sails, and rigging in good order. When he (the captain) left her half the cargo could be recovered without serious difficulty, and with appliances the ship herself, he thought, might be got off. Mrs. Edgett's numerous Sydney friends will gladly learn that the recent severe experience that lady has come through (the nine days in an open boat) has not, it is thought, seriously impaired her health.

THE FOUNDERING OF THE MAGGIE SCOTT.

The usual weekly meeting of the New South Wales Marine Board was held yesterday at the offices of the board, Captain Hixson presiding. The board's decision in the case of the foundering of the ketch Maggie Scott off Kiama on the 14th current was given. The president said that the abandonment of the vessel by the crew was justifiable, and there was no evidence to warrant a charge of default against the master of the vessel. It may be remembered that the three seamen constituting the crew were picked up by the barque Veritas, of Melbourne, bound from Java to Sydney, and were brought on to this port. The president of the board yesterday took occasion to make a presentation of binocular glasses to Captain Crichton in recognition of the praiseworthy conduct displayed by him in rescuing the men. The glasses bore an inscription giving the brief particulars of the occurrence. Captain Crichton thanked the board also expressing the pleasure it gave him to be of some service to his fellow seamen who were in the dire straits he found the crew of the Maggie Scott in off Kiama.

FAST TRIP OF THE RINGAROOMA.

The Ringarooma, hence to Wellington, arrived on Friday evening last. The run across was done in 4 days 1 hour and 40 minutes—equal to a speed per hour of 12·5 knots. It is but lately that the Ringarooma has resumed running in the intercolonial trade, and those who may have supposed her to have fallen behind the times will be pleased to hear that the well-known steamer is able still to do her 1239 miles at an average of 306 miles per day.

Pecheur, Mr. and Mrs. Garnier and child, Mr. and Mrs. Lucas and child, Mr. and Mrs. D. Margulles, Mr. and Mrs. Venturi, Mrs. Grelot and child, Mrs. M. Dubois, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. LADIES' HATS IN THEATRES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—"Spectator's" letter gives expression to a very wide-spread grievance, for without being unchivalrous the stern sex may justly complain against the towering headgear affected by their fair sisters. Even Moses, the meekest of men, would have felt ruffled had he gone to a theatre and been obliged to dodge about, first one side then the other, in order to obtain a fleeting glimpse of the players on the stage. It has always been to me more or less of a mystery why ladies occupying seats in the dress circle should uncover, while those seated in the stalls retain their extravagant headgear, to the great inconvenience and irritation of those placed behind. The remedy is simple, and, if strictly enforced, would very speedily remove this nuisance. Let the theatrical authorities politely but firmly insist upon the ladies in the stalls removing their hats. I feel sure that the gentler sex will quickly see the reasonableness of the request, and the theatre proprietors will receive the hearty thanks and cordial support of those who occasionally occupy a seat like myself

CLEANING ALLOWANCES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Referring to your article this morning re cleaning allowance, which was deducted by the last Minister for Education, I am at loss to understand how it could affect the teachers, except to their benefit, as they have either legally or illegally passed the charge on to the parents. I have several children attending the Glebe Superior Public School, and am invariably called upon to contribute 3d. each per quarter for the purpose, and this is not voluntary, but under pain of punishment to the children if the payment is not made. I should like to know if this is just to poor people. Personally I am both willing and able to pay, but many others are not. I am, &c.,

FLOODS AND THE RECENT RAIN STORM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It may be worth while to recall, in connection with my notes on the recent rain storm and the opinion therein expressed as to the probable consequences of such a rain storm over the watershed of the Hawkesbury or the Hunter, some of the facts (now apparently forgotten) brought to light by the Royal Commission which was appointed in 1870 to make a "full and diligent inquiry" into the floods in the Hunter Valley. It will be seen that in contemplating the consequences of an increase in the flood-waters of a comparatively moderate amount, they felt called upon to point out "that it would probably leave West Maitland in ruins," and that without the bursting of any reservoir save that in the clouds. After a most careful examination of all the available facts, the commission in their report say—"During the whole of the month of March, 1870, the Hunter was bank high, and if the rainfall for the month, 17in., had been evenly distributed, the daily rate would have been about half an inch but according to the returns of rainfall, it appears that from the 14th to the 18th the average daily rate was about 1in., and this caused the great flood which culminated at Maitland on the 20th, and which rose to 31ft. 3in. In the following month, the highest flood of recent years took place, and the water rose at Maitland, at 1 a.m. of April 26, to 34ft. 4in.; and the commission reported, 'We are inclined to think that during the height of this flood the water came down upon Maitland faster than during any flood since the settlement of the country.' At the same time, we know that a rainfall of 2in. a day for five or six days would almost double the quantity." "Such a rainfall may occur, and we feel bound to point out what would probably be the effect." "Such a rainfall might raise the water at Maitland to the level of the flood of 1820—that is 6ft. higher than the flood of April, 1870." "With such an increased elevation the quantity which breaks over the banks at Graham's would be enormously increased and instead of passing round through the back country, would break into the town, and being joined there by the main body of the water, would sweep High-street from one end to the other, and probably leave the town in ruins." In 1870 there were but two rain-gauges in the Hunter watershed, and it is very satisfactory now to find that the calculations based on the rainfall indicated by these two gauges is substantially borne out by recent experience. Now we have 20 rain-gauges in the same district, and we find that a rainfall which averaged a little more than 1in. per day for four days, the total being 5·01, made in 1889 a flood of 33ft. 6in.; in March, 1870, the total rain in four days was 5·08, and the flood 31ft. 3in.; and in April, the same year, with a greater rainfall, 5·98, there was a flood of 34ft. 4in. Rain, therefore, as heavy as that which fell about Sydney in the recent storm would, upon the watershed of the Hunter, produce five times as much water as they had in the recent flood. I am not prepared to say how high such a flood would rise, but it is quite certain that it would rise very much higher than any flood contemplated by the floods commission, and what they deemed possible appears in the quotations above. Observations at Sydney Observatory, since it began in 1858, show no rainfall as heavy as that of May last; but in 1860 we had 16·81 in four days, and previous to 1858 the records at South Head show two instances of 20in. of rain within 24 hours, and in one case 21in. rain fell at Illawarra in three days. So that it is quite evident that such tropical rain storms must be considered as by no means impossible on this part of the coast. When the report of the 1870 Floods Commission appeared, many persons thought that too gloomy a picture had been made, and that practically it is impossible for the water to rise to such a level as the commission mentioned. The opinion of the commissioners is, I think, worthy of more consideration than the statements of non-professional men, and while they contemplated the possibility of 10 or 12 inches of rain in five or six days, we are obliged from actual experience to admit that 25in. might fall in four days. The commission advised that in the event of a flood rising 2ft. above that of April, 1874, and showing no signs of immediate abatement, that "it will be time for the inhabitants to seek safety upon higher ground," but how this was to be done they did not indicate. Perhaps the story of the old blacks is not so improbable as some have supposed. They said they had seen the waters gradually rise and surround kangaroos and other animals on the highest land in West Maitland, and still rise until every animal on it was swept away and drowned. I am, &c.,

According to M. Max de Nansouty, if Paris had possessed la Tour Eiffel in 1870 the issue of the great siege might have been different. "The optical telegraph, whose functions, combined with secret correspondence, have attained remarkable perfection, would have established permanent communication between Paris, Rouen, and the provinces. Nothing could have stopped or interrupted these signals, which would have contributed to unite all the armies organised in the provinces against the investing forces."

MONDAY EVENING.

In the stock and Share Market to-day business was quiet. Assets Realization were dearer, quotations of others being without change. The following sales were reported at 1 o'clock:—Assets Realization, 4s. 1d.; Mortgage Guarantee, 6s. 3d., 6s. 6d.; Anglo-Australian Investment, 5 paid, 7. The quotation of sale of Australian Gaslight on Saturday at 14⅞ should have been 14⅝. The closing quotations were:—

Public loan conversion schemes appear to be in the air of Europe. The very successful negotiation of Mr. Goschen's scheme has suggested thoughts of a similar movement with respect to the French Rentes on a gigantic scale, to effect a similar saving in interest of £2,000,000 per annum. The Paris correspondent of the Economist writes:—

"The rumours of an immediate optional conversion of French 4½ per cents. continue, but a different plan is now said to be under consideration. Instead of a simple exchange for 3½ per cents, which would be open to the objection of a creat on of a type of Rente that does not exist, the Government is said to propose to offer 3¼ of 3 per cent. Rente for each unity of 4½. The fundholder would receive 135f. in 3 per cent. capital, having a present market value of 109f. 60c. at the price of 87f. 70c., or about 3f. 30c. more than the value of the 4½ per cents. The saving in the annual charge for interest would amount to 50 millions of francs."

In the Import markets to-day, there were very general reports that trade was quiet; and during the coming week, the last of the half-year, very little is expected to be done. The flour market is steady; stocks are ample, and the large addition to supplies of wheat by the shipment ex Hermione, tends to keep down the value. More than 4s. 4d. to 4s. 6d. cannot be quoted for good milling parcels. There is some demand for tea under 12d. per lb., but no business of consequence has transpired. Best Queensland sugars have been sold up to £38 per ton, the market remaining as firm as ever. Some information has been supplied to us by the Government Statist, giving a view of consumption from a different set of statistics from those quoted yesterday. They show the actual quantity of sugar refined in the colony, the net imports not passing through the refineries, with the necessary addition or subtraction to be made owing to the quantity of stocks passed over from year to year. The following is the table compiled on this basis:—

Year.	Refined.	Net imports not passing through refinery.	Increase or decrease of bonded stocks.	Net consumption.
	cwt.	cwt.	cwt.	cwt.
1883 ...	468,000	205,614	*17,415	691,030
1884 ...	370,000	423,147	7,350	785,797
1885 ...	384,000	369,783	*9,936	763,719
1886 ...	510,000	316,934	1,541	825,393
1887 ...	537,000	341,812	*4,778	883,590
1888 ...	550,149	295,759	*6,806	852,714

In the fourth column the figures preceded by an asterisk are to be added to the quantity refined and imported to arrive at the consumption. Those without the asterisk are to be deducted.

It will be seen that substantially the figures go to confirm our conclusions that from 43,000 to 44,000 tons may be regarded as the probable consumption for the increased population of the year 1888-9.

The sugar position is naturally engaging the attention of financial authorities in Europe as well as in Australia. From our files to hand by this mail we learn that the price of German beet 88 per cent. was quoted on May 8 at 21s. That represents a rise of about 51 per cent. since the beginning of the year, when the price was a fraction under 14s. Our last cablegram informed us that on Saturday the price was 26s., having gone up beyond the price of Java sugar, which was quoted at 25s. 3d. Usually Java sugar is about 1s. to 1s. 6d. above the price of beet. The fact that it is the supply of cane sugar which has decreased, and not that of beet, and yet that the cane is selling at a lower, when it ordinarily brings a higher price, indicates that speculative holders of beet have controlled the market against consumers. According to Mr. Czarnikow, the sugar industry is "getting into the hands of a beet-root monopoly." In Magdeburg one clique had taken off the market 60,000 to 70,000 tons to strengthen the statistical position, which, for the leading countries of the world, showed a total of 942,000 tons only, as against 1,273,000 tons in 1888, and 1,379,000 tons in 1887. These figures are on estimates of Mr. Licht, the well-known authority. But behind these figures it is known that in Germany invisible supplies were held back so as to obtain a rise. The sugar and the copper movements of the past few years have shown that the speculative spirit on the Continent is very strong, and is doubtless stimulated by the legislation of the countries concerned. But in any case there has been a considerable reduction of the world's stocks since the corresponding period of 1888, and to a still larger extent since the like period of 1887. Still, however, there is a visible supply of 960,000 tons, which is amply sufficient for the world's requirements until supplemented by new sugar. Last year about 4,900,000 tons of sugar, including 2,400,000 tons of beet and 2,500,000 tons of cane, together with 120,000 tons taken from old stock, sufficed for the requirements of Europe and America. For the coming year Mr. Licht, according to his May estimate, as cabled, expects 2,735,000 tons of beet, being an increase of 10,000 tons on the April estimate. The estimate of cane-production, allowing for a decline in the yield in Cuba and Java, amounts to 2,311,000 tons, giving together about 5,045,000 tons of beet and cane, or about 50,000 tons less than the consumption on the previous year's basis, and which quantity would of course have to be supplied from stocks. But not improbably the consumption of sugar will be checked by the great rise in prices. Sugar not being an absolute necessary of life, any attempt by speculators to control the market on an unnaturally high basis will be met by a check. The Bounty duties caused excessive over-production and unduly low prices, but the other extreme is now apparent, and we are not surprised to learn that the quantity of land put under beet in Europe has been largely increased. Last year, indeed, the area was increased, but the crop was reduced by wet weather. This year the area sown has been increased still further in Germany, the whole European increase being estimated by Mr. Licht at 10 per cent. If the crop last year was reduced by 300,000 tons by wet weather, and there is an increase of 10 per cent. on the larger area, it follows that with an ordinary harvest, free from the loss of last year, there ought to be an increase of 600,000 tons in next year's beet-production. Increased sowing of 10 per cent., induced by a rise of beet to 21s., would probably be still further increased with the further hardening tendency of the market to 26s. Besides, other countries are entering more largely on the production of sugar. Messrs. Spreckels intend to erect large sugar refineries on the American coast, in addition to one at California, in the expectation of refining 50,000 to 60,000 tons of sugar a year. A New Orleans paper speaks of a great revival of the sugar industry in Florida. On this head we may quote the following from the New Orleans Times Democrat:—

"The results achieved by the St. Cloud Sugar Factory at Kissimmee this season have been almost startling. It is stated that the factory named has manufactured a crop of 1,500,000lb. of sugar from 8800 tons of cane-employing mills. This means a yield of over 170lb. of dry sugar per ton, a result only exceeded by three of the 1000 sugar factories in Louisiana in the last crop made. This is a pretty good showing for the commencement of the sugar industry in a State that started it 100 years behind Louisiana. There is no telling what the extension of the Florida sugar interest may be now that dredging machinery is reclaiming the rich sugar lands of that State. Texas claims to have 400,000 acres of fine sugar lands in the lower part of the Brazos Valley, and is rapidly developing the industry in that region, where a central factory is claimed to have made last year a larger crop than that manufactured from any single estate in Louisiana. The capacity of Florida for sugar-production is yet unknown, though it may equal that of Louisiana."

There seems no reason to doubt that the enlarged production will very soon again bring down prices more nearly to the level of those ruling for several years past. Respecting the possibilities of cheap production, Mr. C. Czarnikow writes:—"Both in the East and West Indies, with the newest appliances, sugar equal to No. 15 Dutch standard (selling to-day, May 7, at over 23s. per cwt.) can be produced and laid down in London at 14s. per cwt., or 1½d. per lb." The natural laws of production will soon assert themselves, and the prices will drop. As the prices fall in Europe it may be expected that they will come down in the colonies. In other grocery goods the day's trade generally was quiet. A line of currants for export was sold at 2d. A correspondent of the Produce Markets Review, writing about the dried-fruit market from Zante on May 1, reports:—

"Our last report was of the 10th ultimo; considerable business has since resulted. Vostizza Gulf: What little remained has been shipped off. Patras: Only a small quantity remains: mostly of inferior quality. Fine Provincials: Large purchases, mostly of Filiatra and Kyparissia, have been made, principally for English, Australian, and Canadian account, equal to about 10s. 6d. to 11s. 6d. f.o.b., and the stocks of good to fine quality are much reduced. Good Pyrgos is also getting very scarce. Average Provincials: Several thousand tons have changed hands for shipment to France at from 9s. 6d. to 10s f.o.b., and at about these prices further large quantities will be taken. Island Crops: Quotations are mostly nominal, holders preferring to hold or ship for their account rather than give way. Some average Cephalonia is reported to have changed hands at about 11s. 6d. f.o.b. barrels, and a limited quantity of finest Zante has just been shipped partly for the States, equal to about 14s. f.o.b. We repeat that much lower Coast Provincial will only be fit for local distillation. Weather has been and continues very unsettled; hail has fallen at times, doing injury in some districts, and snow appeared on the Morea mountains on the 27th ultimo."

Business in liquids was very quiet, the sales transpiring being of the most unimportant character. Seventy-nine cases of champagne, with all faults, are advertised for sale to-morrow (Tuesday) morning. The advance in galvanised iron in the English market has had very little perceptible influence on the local demand, though the range of prices cannot be quoted as greater than from £18 10s. to £19. Woolpacks are quoted as firm at 1s. 11d. since the stock has become concentrated in fewer hands. Cement to land was sold at 16s. Messrs. Warner, Blodgett, and Co., writing from Manila on the 20th May, state that 865 bales of hemp had been shipped for Australia. They report on the market as follows:—

"Hemp.—After the departure of the mail values declined to 15.50dol., when some small sales were made. With dull news from England the market further weakened, and finally, when bears pressed 2000 bales for sale, prices touched 14.37½dol. to 14.50dol. per picul. At the close we quote 14.50dol. per picul nominal for current, with 5 per cent. red, say at Exchange 3s. 5¼d., equal to £43 11s. 6d. per ton f. o. b., but at this figure not over 1000 bales could be obtained. Receipts since 1st January have been:—At Manila, 209,630 bales; at Cebu, 35,771 bales: total, 245,401 bales."

Concerning Australian coals at Manila, Messrs. Warner, Blodgett, and Co., write on the 20th May:—

"Arrivals from Newcastle, New South Wales, have been the Patrician with 1740 tons, G. W. Wolff 2416 tons, and Tanjore 1422 tons, all which were sold to arrive some time ago. We quote Australian at 5.62½dol. per ton, market dull."

Messrs. Harris and Ackman advertise for sale by auction to-morrow (Tuesday) morning, groceries, beer, cigars, &c.

At the auction wool sales to-day there was very brisk competition for the fleece composing the small catalogues, at very full prices. The following reports have been supplied:—

Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report:—At our auction sale held to-day (Monday) we submitted a catalogue of 135 bales, chiefly parcels of scoured, with a varied assortment of small lots and oddments. Competition throughout was of a most spirited order, and buyers were evidently desirous of operating extensively on the basis of lately improved values. Among the principal lines sold were—Greasy: RS, 4 bales from Queensland at 7½d. Scoured: Towrang, 11 bales at 16½d.; D, 9 1st pieces at 11d; WJM, 5 to 12½d.; MM in diamond, 4 bales to 15d.; MO'M Bros, 13 bales to 18d.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, report:—At our fortnightly sale to-day we brought forward a small catalogue of some 40 bales, all of which changed hands under excellent competition. The market ruled firmer, in sympathy with the upward tendency of prices recently reported from London; and having regard to the small-sized miscellaneous character of the offerings values realised were in all instances highly satisfactory. Greasy realised up to 9½d. per lb., no scoured wool being included in the catalogue. The following are among the principal sales effected, viz.:—Greasy, GS, 6 at 8½d.; E in diamond over MLY, 14 hoggets at 8d.

The Union Mortgage and Agency Company of Australia, Limited, report that to-day they received a cable from London advising us "that the wool sales continue with attendance as previously reported, and there is a good demand for all descriptions at full rates; spirited competition for superior wools."

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

An order for 50 tons of sugar has been received from New Zealand. The market continues very firm, but without a further advance. Of the Taiyuan's shipment 150 tons fine whites and 50 tons yellows were placed. Millers are making inquiry for wheat in good parcels, receipts from the country having greatly fallen off. Feed grains are unaltered.

Investment stocks are without much change. Melbourne Tramway and Omnibus were dealt in at full rates. M'Cracken's Brewery sold higher. Silverton Tramway and Colonial Investment are lower. Quotations for Tramway and Omnibus are 58s. 6d. to 58s. 3d.

PRODUCE MARKET.—MONDAY.

This morning at the Darling Harbour auction sales there was a fair attendance of the trade. The forage market consisted of 29 trucks, 15 being of hay, 6 of straw, and 8 of chaff. For all descriptions the demand was again weak. Faulty lines were extremely difficult of sale. There was a moderate inquiry for wood. At the wharfs fairly large supplies were received from the Northern rivers, Southern ports, and the neighbouring colonies, Victoria and Tasmania being the principal contributors. Business opened quietly. Onions were very firm. Maize easier.

At Darling Harbour sales the following prices were realised:—

Wood.—Fairly large market. Billet quoted 8s to 10s per ton; bundle, 7s to 11s 6d; foot, 8s 3d to 13s 9d; bakers', 8s to 10s 6d.

Hay.—The supplies received were larger than at previous sales. Oaten, in bundles, was purchased at 7s 1d to 7s 7d per cwt. for the best lots; other sorts, 4s 11d to 6s 3d; lucerne, in truss, from Richmond, 4s 10d; in bales, green, from Tamworth, 3s 6d to 5s 8d per cwt.; brown, 4s 5d; wheaten, in bundles, 7s; oaten and wheaten, in bundles, 7s 2d to 8s 7d.

Straw.—Small consignments. Buyers operated steadily. Clean and bright wheaten, in bundles, 5s 7d per cwt.; other kinds ranged from 3s 4d to 4s.

Chaff.—Stocks to hand were principally of medium qualities. Oaten, in bags, 5s 6d to 6s 10d per cwt.; wheaten, 7s 9d; straw, 3s 10d to 4s 10d.

At the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Wheat.—There is very little doing in this line. Milling lines quoted 4s to 4s 6d per bushel; chickfeed, 3s 4d to 3s 6d.

Flour.—Australian roller, £12 10s to £13 5s per ton; stone, £11 10s to £12; New Zealand roller, £10 15s to £11s 10s; stone, £9 15s to £10 10s.

Maize.—Since Saturday 7342 bags were added to stocks from the various Northern rivers. Good sound lines, 3s to 3s 1d per bushel.

Oats.—A New Zealand shipment yesterday of 509 bags. Feeding sorts, 3s to 3s 2d. per bushel; seed, 3s 4d.

Bran.—Unaltered, 1s 1d to 1s 1½d per bushel.

Pollard.—Quiet, 1s 1½d to 1s 2d per bushel.

Hay.—Small arrivals from the Hunter River this morning. Supplies on hand are largely of average qualities. Prime well-saved lucerne parcels, £5 to £6 per ton; other sorts, £3 5s to £4 10s.

Chaff.—This market was steady. Good lots are scarce. New Zealand, £6 10s per ton; Adelaide, £7 to £7 15s; Tasmanian, £6 to £6 15s; Victorian straw, £5 to £5 10s; oaten, £5 15s to £7.

Onions.—About 307 bags from Victoria last night. Firm at £23 per ton.

Potatoes.—Consignments arrived freely from Tasmania on Saturday and yesterday. Quoted £5 5s per ton; some holders, to £5 10s; New Zealand, £4 10s.

Butter.—Unaltered at 1s to 1s 1d. per lb. for Illawarra dairy sorts; factory-made, 1s 3d to 1s 4d.

Cheese.—2318 from southern ports yesterday. Colonial descriptions still range from 4d to 8d per lb.; New Zealand, 6d to 8½d.

Bacon.—Hand-cured Southern steady but quiet, 7d to 8½d per lb.; machine-cured, 6d to 7d; roll bacon, 8½d to 9d; New Zealand, 10d.

Lard.—Beet, in bladders, unaltered, 5½d to 6d per lb.; bulk, 3d to 5d.

Poultry.—In fair demand at per pair: Fowls, 3s 3d to 4s 6d; ducks, 3s 6d to 5s; geese, 5s to 7s; turkeys, 6s to 12s.

FAT STOCK SALES.

At the Homebush fat stock sales yesterday 1280 head of cattle were yarded. This supply, which embraced all qualities, was greatly in excess of the requirements, consequently prices were marked by a reduction of 15s per head. Best beef quoted at 20s 6d per 100lb. The best lot of bullocks averaged £8 per head; other sorts from £5 9s 8d. Cows ranged from £3 13s to £5 1s 8d. 8306 sheep were penned. Owing to most buyers being amply stocked by previous consignments, the demand was languid, but the market was unaltered. The best lot of merino wethers sold to 12s 11d per head; other descriptions from 7s 4d; crossbreds to 13s 10d; lambs realised 7s to 8s 9d. The following sales are reported: By Messrs. Brunker and Wolfe.—For J. Hill, 34 bullocks at £5 12s, 16 cows (inferior) £3 15s. By Messrs. William Inglis and Son.—69 bullocks (S. M'Minn), £5 19s to £7; 69 cows (B. Buffiere), £3 18s to £4 10s. The following telegram has been received by the Mines Department from the Mining Registrar at Hillgrove:—"Result of crushing at Baker's Creek mine for the past fortnight, 1344oz. from 107 tons of quartz."

In the manager's report of the Bonang Gold Mine, published in Saturday's issue it was stated that 509oz. of retorted gold had been obtained from 100 tons of stone. This was evidently a clerical error, as the message sent through the Telegraph Office conveyed the information precisely as given in the published report. The manager's report that reached Sydney yesterday clearly showed that a mistake had been made by some of the officials at the mine, as it stated that the amount of retorted gold obtained from the 100 tons of stone was 209oz. only.

A telegram from Orange states that Gold Hill, Burnt Yards, has crushed 34 tons of ore for a yield of 110oz., besides a large quantity of pyrites.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The market opened firm for silver shares. Central Broken Hill were again in request, and realised a good advance. Broken Hill Junction and New North sold higher, but eased again to about the opening rates. Broken Hill Proprietory, Block 10, British, and South quitted at a shade lower prices. Round Hill are firm at late quotations. In gold mines, Star of the East are in better favour, and placed at rising prices. Black Horse, Limited, and Working Miners' changed hands at quotations. MOUNT M'DONALD, MONDAY.

The Caledonian Mining Company are still crushing and raising stone. The Mount M'Donald Mining Company are waiting to erect their machinery, which is bogged on the road.

BROKEN HILL, MONDAY.

At the Central mine native silver has been found in the winze sunk from the 200ft. level, 185ft. north of the main shaft. At a depth of 45ft. a winze was sunk on galena, and yesterday passed into oxidised ore, carrying native silver. The winze from the same level, 250ft. north of the main shaft, is now down 3ft. below the 300ft. level. Crosscutting has been started in a westerly direction, but no change has yet taken place. The bulk of dressed ore at the South mine is expected to average 100oz. of silver to the ton. Captain Piper has prepared plans for sinking a new main shaft 170ft. east of the present main, shaft, which will strike the lode at the present level of the main shaft in 50ft. less vertical depth, or at 200ft. from the surface. On account of the uncertain underlie it will continue in the lode for an indefinite distance. The hoisting machinery at the present shaft can be utilised without removing. The manager at the Mount Darling mine states that he has struck a lode of kaolin 8ft. wide. At the Round Hill mine the main shaft is now 351ft. deep. A crosscut east has been started, and is expected to cut the lode in a 100ft. The main shaft has been planned to cut the lode at a depth of 550ft. The underlie of the lode down to the 200ft. level is very regular, and can be calculated on to a nicety.

PARKES, MONDAY.

A rush has taken place about 16 miles north of Parkes, alluvial gold having been discovered by Cameron and party. The sinking is 18 to 25 feet. It is reported that 6dwt. has been obtained from half a load. The prospects are 6gr. to the dish. The exact locality is near Bachelor's rush, Parkes and Tomingley road. It is reported that three claims are on gold. W. Hasslhurst finished a crushing on Saturday from three different shafts on this claim, Buchanan line, the result being a cake of retorted gold, weighing 754oz. 2dwt. of the value of £2750. The stone from the three shafts averaged over 4oz. per ton. At the head of the shallow lead, about a mile and a half from town, a large body of gold-bearing stuff has been discovered, and a number of claims have traced it along the line. The new crushing mill will have a large quantity of stone waiting it. The Dayspring Company have a big paddock at grass now.

TEMORA, MONDAY.

A reef from 10in. to 12in. in thickness has been cut in the Mother Shipton claim. The stone is remarkably rich, and similar to previous finds by the former owners. The depth of the workings is about 108ft., some distance below the place where the large specimens purchased and sent by the New South Wales Government to the Indian Exhibition were obtained. The late discovery is of much import, for specimens of similar quartz previously obtained have given big returns. The diorite walls of the shaft and the appearance of the quartz are similar to those seen where the large deposits were found. Gold permeates the quartz, and large returns are expected.

SILVERTON, MONDAY.

The shares in the Lily Silver-mining Company, situated near Thackaringa are being rapidly taken up. Already over 250 have been applied for. A sample of ore, brought last week, assayed 83oz. of silver, and 43½ per cent of lead per ton.

ORANGE, MONDAY.

Gold Hill, Burnt Yards, has crushed 34 tons of ore for a yield of 110oz., independent of a large quantity of pyrites.

THE TRAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Complaints having been made in the proper quarter without avail, possibly ventilating the grievance in your valuable columns may have the desired effect. That to which I refer is the absence of a light in the early morning trams. We who must needs go to work early might surely have this small trifle granted us. We get our papers before we start in the morning, and many of us cannot get an opportunity to read until the evening. The tram by which I travel is that which leaves Waverley at seven minutes past 6; and should this concession be made, it will be appreciated by a full tram. I am, &c., GEORGE BROWN.

The rainfall of April has been abundant, and distributed very evenly over the colony; only a small part about Cooma, Bombala, and Bega has had a dry month. Of the 771 stations reporting, only 14 had less than 1in. of rain, 424 had from 1in. to 4in., 272 had from 4in. to 6in.; of the remainder only nine had over 9in. of rain, and these as usual are in the Northern coast district. About the middle of the month the tributaries of the Darling began to rise, and at Bourke the Darling rose 6ft. The Murrumbidgee was also affected, a slight rise taking place in the upper parts.

OPENING OF M. PASTEUR'S LETTERS TO MM. GERMONT AND LOIR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The gravity of the charge made in Europe by Messrs. Germont and Loir relative to the opening of their letters in the office of the Colonial Secretary as stated in your cablegram of Saturday impels me to ask the favour of the publication of the subjoined extract from Hansard, of my statement on a motion of adjournment on April 17, in the Legislative Council. This publication is the more desirable as the importance of the incident to the good name of the colony was, I think, at that time hardly realised, and, therefore, an extremely scant report appeared in the press.

"Mr. Creed: Hon. members will remember that in moving my resolution on Thursday last with regard to the letters of MM. Germont and Loir, I stated that those gentlemen had an impression that their letters might have been opened for improper purposes, and that they had certain evidence in their possession which, in my opinion, justified their holding that belief. At that time this evidence had been shown to me in confidence, but I did not think myself at liberty to make it known to the House. These gentlemen were prepared to bring the matter before any board of inquiry which might have been appointed, and they thought that it would be premature to disclose the evidence until such inquiry took place. I have here the letters with regard to which so much discussion has taken place. They were handed to me by Dr. Loir at my request. He has given me permission to lay them before you, Mr. President, and the House. I think hon. members, when they hear the whole of the facts, will agree with me that these gentlemen had fair cause for thinking that sufficient explanation has not been given as to the reasons why their letters were opened and detained. The particular letter about the detention of which so much discussion has taken place in the press and elsewhere is the one which is stated by the one side to have been detained for 11 days and by the other for eight days. It was received by these gentlemen from the Colonial Secretary's Office, where it had been opened, without its envelope. I will hand the letter to you, sir, and you will see that in one of the corners there are various pin-marks, as though the letter had been pinned to a large sheet of paper. There are also a number of figures apparently, as far as one can judge, a record number of the Colonial Secretary's Office. This number, as I read it, is 'C.S. 88-7948;' the letter also has on it a little travelling pencil-mark, which, if one chose to think so, might have been made by a man who, in studying the matter, allowed his pencil to wander over the paper. Having regard to these circumstances, I think these gentlemen were not unjustified in thinking that possibly use may have been made of the letter, and that it may have been read. I will hand the letter to you, sir, for your inspection.

"The President: I cannot, without the authority of the House, accept any responsibility with regard to the document.

"Mr. Creed: Then I will hand the letter to the Attorney-General.

"Mr. Simpson: I do not want to see it.

"Mr. Creed: It was intended to bring these letters before the committee, or before any commission of inquiry that might have been appointed; but failing that, I think it would be wrong that the documents should not be brought before the House. The President, to whom I have shown the letters, says that he cannot accept any responsibility with regard to the letters; and the Attorney-General says that he is not sufficiently interested to look at them. Two other letters, which have become matter of controversy, were delivered from the Colonial Secretary's Office to MM. Germont and Loir. One letter from M. Pasteur, directed to Dr. Germont and Dr. Loir, bears a pencil endorsement, 'Government. Sent to Colonial Secretary's Office.' The other letter is from M. Pasteur to M. Loir, and bears a similar endorsement. Both letters were addressed to the Sydney Post Office. I will show these second letters to the President.

"The President: The same remark which I made with regard to the other letters applies to these.

"Mr. Creed: Six other letters, the envelopes of which I produce, not from M. Pasteur, were sent out from France to these gentlemen about the same time. These letters were not sent to the Colonial Secretary's Office, but were delivered at the Post Office. The excuse given to these gentlemen, that their address was not known at the Post Office, is hardly feasible in view of the circumstance that these other letters were delivered to them from there, some of which bear a post-mark only one day different. The other document which MM. Germont and Loir handed to me is a cablegram, which bears, in Sir Henry Parkes' handwriting, the words 'Mislaid. H.P. 23/8/88.' I have no other object in bring this matter before the House than that hon. members may be in possession of the facts upon which these gentlemen have founded their impression that there is considerable doubt as to why and how their letters were opened; and I want to justify myself for urging that it is advisable that these gentlemen should not be allowed to leave the country with such an impression on their minds, without some attempt being made to remove it."

Had the inquiry that I advocated been instituted they would have given additional evidence from their personal knowledge, but, except before a commission, both they and myself did not consider it advisable to make it public. It was thought best to confine my statement in the Legislative Council solely to the documents then produced.

In view of the strong circumstantial evidence which your readers will see MM. Germont and Loir can submit to the French and English Governments, it is to be hoped, for the credit of the colony, that Sir Henry Parkes will think twice before he, as is publicly reported, confines his defence of the conduct of this Government in this much-to-be-regretted affair, if communicated with by the Colonial Office, to a bold assertion that the statement of these gentlemen is "absolutely false." I am, &c., JNO. M. CREED.
